Section 106: In taking an action that could affect safety, Under Secretary shall solicit and give great weight to views of NTSB.

Conference substitute

The Conferees instruct that in taking actions that could affect safety, the timely views of the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) will be taken into consideration by the Under Secretary. The conferees wished to emphasize that the views of the NTSB should be provided in a sufficiently and timely manner so those views could be fully considered by the Under Secretary.

12. BIOLOGICAL AND CHEMICAL WEAPONS

The TSOB may review and ratify or disapprove regulations issued by the Under Secretary; facilitate the coordination of intelligence, security and law enforcement activities affecting transportation; and, perform other duties including making recommendations to the Under Secretary for use in combating threats to the integrity of the nation's transportation system.

14. RULEMAKING

Senate bill

No Rules required by DOJ for its own employees; cockpit requirements issuable without APA.

House bill

Section 101: Under Secretary can issue security rules immediately without notice and comment, DOT or OMB review, and without a cost-benefit analysis but subject to disapproval by the TSOB.

Conference substitute

House provision.

15. INSPECTOR GENERAL

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Section 101: TSA is subject to the Inspector General Act.

16. CROSS CHECKING DATA BASES

Senate bill

Section 103(a): DOT, acting through ASOC, shall try to develop a common data base with other agencies and share information about people.

Section 211: DOT, as part of the ASCC, shall conduct a 90-day review of upgrades to the distribution of people on the "watch list" of Federal law enforcement agencies.

Upgrades shall be deployed in 6 months.

A report shall be filed in 18 months.

House bill

Section 106: To the extent that the Under Secretary determines appropriate, the Under Secretary shall (1) establish procedures requiring airlines to use information from government agencies to identify people who may be a threat to civil aviation and (2) require more thorough background checks that include a review of other agency data bases.

REV_00205513

A report is required in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have instructed the Secretary to work with the TSOB to develop a data base that will allow the cross checking of the people on "watch lists" of various Federal law enforcement agencies to identify individuals that may pose a risk to security in an effort to identify potential risks to civil aviation. Passenger lists should be used in conjunction with this data base to help target those individuals that pose a threat, and allow appropriate action to be taken.

17. TERRORISM REPORT

Senate bill

Section 103(b): Require reports on all terrorism. Reports to be shared with DOT.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires the intelligence community to ensure that reports on terrorism are shared with the DOT.

18. STRATEGIC PLANNING

Senate bill

Section 103(c): Require intelligence agencies to establish units for strategic planning on terrorism.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires intelligence agencies to establish units for strategic planning on terrorism.

19. COCKPIT SECURITY

Senate bill

Section 104: FAA shall issue a rule, without notice and comment, permitting only authorized persons to have access to the cockpit, requiring strengthening the door by installing locks and making them rigid, requiring the door to remain locked during flight except when the pilot needs to get out, and taking away the flight attendants key.

Special rules shall be issued for aircraft that do not have a door.

House bill

Section 106: To the extent the Under Secretary considers appropriate, the Under Secretary shall, after consultation with FAA, implement methods to restrict the opening of the cockpit door during flight and fortify those doors.

A report is required in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Funds are authorized to help airlines pay for this.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report prohibits access to the flight deck of passenger aircraft by anyone other than the flight crew. Flight deck doors must be strengthened and remain locked while aircraft is in flight. Video cameras may be provided to alert pilots to cabin activity in the event of a security breech occurring during the flight.

These provisions apply to aircraft required to have a door between the flight deck and cabin. The Conferees also seek the redesign of cockpits to ensure the doors are secured at all times during flight. Redesign can encompass new flight deck materials, double doors to the cockpit as are used in Israel, and lavatories within the flight deck so that flight crew do not leave the flight deck. Once bathroom facilities are provided for the flight crew of passenger aircraft, the cockpit door no longer will need to be opened during flight.

The Conferees instruct the Under Secretary to take into consideration the threat to aviation and national security when developing means to secure the flight deck on commuter aircraft. Any new burdens should be appropriate for the risk.

20. AIR MARSHALS

Senate bill

Section 105: Attorney General prescribes guidelines for training and deployment of sky marshals. DOT administers the program in accordance with these guidelines:

(1) Marshals may be placed on every flight but must be placed on every flight that DOT determines to be high risk.

(2) Marshals must be deployed in 30 days.

(3) Marshals must be given a seat even if that means bumping a passenger.

(4) DOT shall work with ICAO and foreign governments to address security concerns on foreign airlines.

(5) DOT may use personnel from other agencies, including the military, as air marshals.

Section 105: Waives age requirements for retired police, military and out-of-work pilots to work as air marshals, if they meet the background and fitness qualifications.

Report required in 18 months.

House bill

Section 105: Under Secretary deploys air marshals, provides for their background checks, trains them, and requires U.S. airlines to provide seats for them at no cost.

Preference for hiring laid off airline pilots as marshals.

Marshals must be placed on selected flights.

Marshals must be given a seat even if that means bumping a passenger.

DOT shall work with foreign governments to address security concerns on international flights from the U.S.

Until the Under Secretary has all the air marshals needed, personnel from other agencies may be used, with the other agency's concurrence, as air marshals on a non- reimbursable basis.

Airlines must provide seats, on a space-available basis, to off-duty marshals flying home.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires that appropriately trained, supervised and equipped Federal Air Marshals (FAMs) may be deployed on every scheduled passenger flight, and must be placed on every "high risk" flight, which may include nonstop longhaul flights, or any other flight deemed appropriate, even if the flight is fully booked. For applicants who otherwise meet the background and fitness requirements, age restrictions may be waived to allow retired law enforcement officers, retired members of the armed forces, and members of commercial airline crews who have been furloughed from their positions. Personnel from other agencies may be deployed, with the agency's concurrence, as FAMs until an adequate number of FAMs are in place. Additionally, agreements may be entered into allowing trained law enforcement personnel from other agencies to travel with firearms in order to assist FAMs.

The Conferees instruct the Under Secretary to follow air carrier passenger reservations and cancellation practices to the extent practicable. The Under Secretary should work cooperatively with air carriers to develop guidelines concerning reservations and cancellation for the transportation of Federal Air Marshals.

21. SCREENING

Senate bill

Section 108: Attorney General, in consultation with DOT, shall provide for screening of all passengers, property, mail, and cargo that will be carried aboard an aircraft.

Federal employees shall do screening.

Airport and airline employees shall be screened in the same way, except alternative methods may be used for security personnel.

Attorney General shall use screening technology approved by FAA.

Law enforcement personnel shall be deployed at each screening location.

At the 100 largest airports, additional police may be ordered.

Section 105(f): Report from DOT and DOJ required within 120 days on effectiveness of security screening.

Section 106: DOJ and DOT may permit operational flexibility to tailor screening needs for seasonal variations, aircraft types, and special needs of small airports.

Section 108: Attorney General may require non-hub or smaller airports to use State or local law enforcement if the screening will be equivalent to that at larger airports, the training meets Federal standards, the airport is reimbursed by funds made available by this Act, and the airport is consulted.

House bill

Section 102: Federal government is responsible for screening passengers and property on passenger aircraft that originate in the U.S.. Silent on whether screeners are to be Federal employees or private contractors. Under Secretary shall deputize screeners to enforce Federal laws, but not to arrest people. Screeners must have common uniforms. Must be supervised by uniformed Federal employees.

Section 107: Under Secretary should consider certificating screeners and use TIP or similar technologies to measure their performance and revoke their certification if their performance is inadequate.

Section 104: Airport required to deploy law enforcement or military personnel at each screening location. Law enforcement can be either Federal or local.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires the Federal government to hire, train and deploy Federal screeners, Federal managers, Federal security personnel and Federal law enforcement within 1 year. The participants in this Federal security workforce will not be able to strike or engage in work stoppages, and can be fired at the discretion of the Secretary if they are not able to adequately perform their duties.

The Conferees recognize that, in order to ensure that Federal screeners are able to provide the best security possible, the Secretary must be given wide latitude to determine the terms of employment of screeners. The Conference Committee expects that, in fixing the terms and conditions of employment the Secretary shall establish benefits and conditions of employment. The Conference Committee also recognizes that, in order to hire and retain screeners, the Secretary should also ensure that screeners have access to Federal health, life insurance, and retirement benefits, as well as workers' compensation benefits. The Committee believes that screening personnel must also be given whistleblower protections so that screeners may report security conditions without fear of reprisal.

The Conference Report requires the DOT to assume existing screening company contracts as soon as possible, but no later than 90 days after enactment of this legislation. The contracts for existing screeners can be extended for up to 6 months, and the DOT would have the option to extend contracts for no longer than 3 months, if necessary, to continue screening. DOT may also authorize additional Federal law enforcement, National Guard, and other personnel immediately to address the aviation security needs of the country.

The Conferees direct the Secretary to provide a report after one year from the date of enactment certifying deployment of the Federal screeners. Two years after certification airports can opt out of the Federalization of the screener level of the Federal workforce if the Secretary determines that these facilities would continue to provide an equal or higher level of security. Companies will be barred from providing screening if they violate federal standards, are found to allow repeated failures of the system, or prove to be a security risk. The DOT will also establish a Pilot Program for 5 airports, one from each category type, to apply for the use of private contract screeners.

Within 1 year after the date of enactment of the Act, the conferees expect the Transportation Security Administration to submit a report to the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and the House of Representatives Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure on the screening requirements applicable to passengers boarding, and property being carried aboard, aircraft with 60 seats or less used in scheduled passenger service with recommendations for any necessary changes in those requirements.

22. CITIZENSHIP OF SECURITY FIRMS

Senate bill

No provision.

REV_00205517

Section 123(e): Similar sense of Congress.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs that U.S. companies should be used to provide screening if they are available.

23. TRAINING OF PILOTS AND FLIGHT ATTENDANTS

Senate bill

Section 105(f): Report from DOT and DOJ required within 6 months on crew training.

Section 107: DOT shall develop a mandatory airline training program for crews dealing with a hijacking. Training shall be developed in coordination with law enforcement experts.

House bill

Section 106: Under Secretary should consider updating training for dealing with hijacking that includes ways for dealing with suicidal hijackers. Report six months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that detailed guidance shall be developed for a mandatory air carrier training program to assist flight crews and attendants in hijack situations. The training curriculum will be developed in consultation with Federal law enforcement agencies with expertise in dealing with these types of threat conditions.

24. HOW FLIGHT ATTENDANTS NOTIFY PILOTS OF A HIJACKING

Senate bill

Section 107: FAA shall revise procedures by which flight attendants notify pilots and implement new measures as soon as practicable.

House bill

Section 106: The Under Secretary should consider requiring the installation of switches in the cabin so that the flight attendants can discreetly notify the pilots.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs the Under Secretary to consider the installation of a switch to be located in the cabin for flight attendants to notify pilots in the event of a hijacking without the knowledge of passengers. or other devices

25. PROVISION OF PERSONNEL FROM OTHER AGENCIES

Senate bill

Section 105: Amends section 106(m) to allow other agencies to provide personnel to FAA.

House bill

Section 102(d): Same provision, worded differently.

Conference substitute

The Conferees call upon other agencies to provide personnel that has received the proper training for use by the FAA as Federal air marshals (FAMs) in an effort to support and supplement ~~that~~ the FAM workforce in its early stages.

26. AIRPORT PERIMETER ACCESS SECURITY

Senate bill

REV_00205518

Section 106: DOT may order deployment of law enforcement personnel as needed to bolster airport security by entering into an agreement with another agency to deploy Federal law enforcement at airports.

Section 106(b): FAA shall provide technical support and financial assistance to small airports to help defray security costs.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have given the Secretary the ability to work with the airports to address potential threats at individual facilities by ordering the deployment of Federal law enforcement authorities to improve airport perimeter and access security in an effort to counter potential criminal activities. Such actions also can include providing increased security at air traffic control facilities. Additionally, the FAA Administrator will develop a plan to provide technical support to enable small- and medium-sized airports to enhance their security operations, and shall include using network digital video surveillance systems.

27. INDIVIDUALS WITH ACCESS TO SECURE AREAS OF THE AIRPORT

Senate bill

See item 21

Section 106(a): DOT, in consultation with ASOC, shall consider whether such individuals should be screened.

Section 106(d): Amend 44903(g)(2) to delete 1/31/01 deadline and beef up language on access control requirements.

Consider deployment of biometric technologies.

Establish pilot programs at 20 airports to test new technologies.

DOT shall require airlines and airports to develop security awareness programs for employees.

Section 211: Within 6 months, DOT shall recommend to airports commercially available ways to prevent access to secure areas. As part of this, DOT shall review effectiveness of biometric and other systems, focus on eliminating piggy-backing, and include a 12-month deployment strategy for currently available technology at Category X airports. Not later than 18 months, DOT shall conduct a review of reductions in unauthorized access.

House bill

Section 106: The Under Secretary shall consider imposing standards for the screening or inspection of vehicles that have access to secure areas and provide for the use of technology to verify the identity of those vehicles entering a secure area. Report after 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that all individuals, goods, property, vehicles, and other equipment seeking access to secure areas must be screened and inspected before entry. The Conference Committee instructs that prescribed requirements should provide at least the same level of protection as the screening of passengers and baggage. The Conferees, however, recognize that these requirements may make allowances for tools and equipment necessary to perform duties in secure areas. The Secretary will examine the physical configuration of individual airports, and consider the views of the TSOB to consider implementing standards to protect the integrity of secure areas.

28. BAN ON PARKING OF VEHICLES WITHIN 300 FEET OF TERMINAL

Senate bill

Section 106(b): FAA, in consultation with local law enforcement, shall reexamine the need for 300 feet restriction.

House bill

Section 121: Removes this parking ban if the airport, in consultation with local law enforcement, certifies to DOT, after doing a threat assessment, that safeguards are in place to protect public safety.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that all airports must consult with local law enforcement and inform DOT that proper safeguards are in place to ensure that parked vehicles are not a security risk. Each airport must submit views regarding its assessment of the needs of their facility.

29. CHECKED BAGGAGE

Senate bill

See item 9

Section 201(b)(1): Requirement for all baggage to be screened within 9 months.

FAA must establish within 60 days confidential goals for scanning a specific percentage of checked bags within 6 months and annual goals thereafter eventually scanning 100%.

Section 201(c) - page 85FAA shall require airlines to upgrade the bag match system. Shall establish goals within 60 days to accomplish this including interim measures to match a higher percentage of bags until bomb detectors are used to scan 100% of bags.

Confidential report to Congress in 1 year.

House bill

See item 9

Section 106: All checked baggage must be screened by December 31, 2003. All existing explosive detection equipment must be used to the maximum extent possible.

Additional explosive detection equipment must be installed as soon as possible.

In the interim, airlines must implement a bag match program.

A system must be in place as soon as possible to screen cargo transported in passenger aircraft.

Section 123(d): Sense of Congress that all checked baggage should be screened by any available means.

Conference substitute

The Conferees feel strongly that all baggage to be placed on passenger flights must be screened. Existing technology, including EDS, should be used and upgraded in an effort to ensure that all checked baggage goes through such a system. Any baggage that does not go through EDS will be required to go through some form of manual or other comparable screening system. An alternate system of screening cargo should also be established, and periodic reports issued to provide an understanding of the progress made on these efforts.

REV_00205520

30. COMPUTER ASSISTED PASSENGER PROFILING SYSTEM (CAPPS)

Senate bill

Section 201(d): FAA shall make all passengers subject to CAPPS even if they don't check bags so that their carry-ons and person will be subject to additional security measures. Report within 3 months.

Section 211: DOT, as part of the ASCC, shall conduct a 90-day review of upgrades to CAPPS and to the distribution of people on the "watch list" of Federal law enforcement agencies. Upgrades shall be deployed in 6 months. A report shall be filed in 18 months.

House bill

Section 106(9): The Under Secretary should consider providing the enhanced use of CAPPS to more effectively screen passengers and carry-on baggage. Report in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that an enhanced and upgraded use of the Computer Assisted Passenger Pre-Screening System (CAPPS) must be considered to more effectively screen passengers and baggage. The Conferees also recognize that adjustments may need to made ~~for~~ to reflect circumstances in some areas of the U.S., including State with unique transportation needs.

31. DEPUTIZING FOR ENFORCEMENT OF FEDERAL SECURITY LAWS

Senate bill

Section 108(b): Requires Attorney General to deputize State and local law enforcement to regulate screening at non-hubs.

Includes list of qualifications screeners must meet such as education and language requirements. Training plans must be developed within 60 days. Requires 40 hours of classroom training and 60 hours of on the job training. Current lists of dual use items (seemingly harmless items that could be used as a weapon) shall be part of the training. Section 104 - page 16

House bill

Under Secretary may set minimum pay for screeners. Preference shall be given to veterans in the hiring of screeners and laid ~~for~~ off airline workers. Final rule for certification of screening companies changed from May 31, 2001 to 6 months after date of enactment. In the meantime, within 30 days of enactment, the standards in the proposed rule, such as education and language requirements, shall be in effect. All screeners must be in approved uniforms.

Conference substitute

A blend of the House and Senate provisions.

REV_00205521

33. CITIZENSHIP OF SCREENERS

House bill

Section 102: Federal supervisor can order the dismissal of any screener.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report provides the Under Secretary the authority to employ, terminate and fix the conditions of employment for the Federal screening workforce.

35. STRIKES BY SCREENERS

Senate bill

Section 109(e): Strikes prohibited pursuant to Title 5.

House bill

Section 102: Strikes prohibited.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs that the airport screening workforce will be prohibited from striking. The Conferees have provided the Transportation Security Administration authority to utilize existing authority provided to the FAA to develop personnel and acquisition systems. The authority gives the Administration flexibility to design its own policies and procedures and not use the FAA's system, while retaining the legal requirements under sections 40110 and 40112.

36. BACKGROUND CHECKS

Senate bill

Section 109(f): Requires background checks for current screeners and others with access to the airport.

Section 201(a): Requires background checks for current screeners and others to be completed in 9 months unless the person has had such a check in the past 5 years. Alternative checks shall be developed for those who have lived in the U.S. for less than 5 years.

House bill

Requires background check (including review of government data bases) for all current screeners and those with access to secure

areas except for those who have already had such a check or those who are exempted by FAA rules from such checks.

Conference substitute

A blend of the House and Senate provisions.

The Conferees encourage the Under Secretary to provide channeling authority to professional organizations representing industry to FBI AFIS fingerprint databases to perform criminal history verification of aviation business employees.

A person shall be designated to be responsible for security research. The person shall file an annual report on research activities. A scientific advisory panel shall be established. DOT shall coordinate research with DOJ.

Section 221: Authorizes $50 million per year to research various security technologies.

House bill

Section 101: Transfers security research from FAA to the TSA. The TSA can use FAA research facilities.

Conference substitute

A modified version of the Senate provision.

38. FLIGHT SCHOOLS

Senate bill

Section 111: Regarding jet-propelled aircraft, a person shall not give flight instruction, including instruction in simulator, to an alien (or other person specified by DOT) unless DOJ issues that person a certificate of completion of the background check of the alien. Requests for the background check shall be made jointly by the alien and the flight school. Investigation must be completed in 30 days. Investigation includes fingerprint check, immigration check, and a determination of whether alien in a national security risk. Expedited procedures shall be developed for an alien seeking recurrent training. Penalties for violations shall be developed by DOT rulemaking. Flight schools shall report aliens that they train.

Section 111(c): DOT and State shall work with ICAO to improve screening of student pilots.

Report in 6 months and annually thereafter until the Under Secretary implements the checks or decides not to require them.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that flight school training for aircraft with a minimum certificated weight of 12,500 pounds or more should not be allowed for any alien within the United States unless they have passed a sufficient background check. Such individuals seeking to attend flight school may begin pilot training after 45 days or upon being certified as having passed a background investigation regarding their criminal history and immigration status. A security awareness program will be developed to assist employees that work at flight schools by helping to increase their awareness of a potential threat.

39. PENALTIES

Senate bill

Section 114: Imposes criminal penalties for interfering with security personnel at a commercial service airport.

House bill

Section 116(c): Transfers the relevant civil penalty authorities from the FAA to the TSA.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires that an individual who disrupts the duties of security screening personnel within a commercial service airport shall be fined and/or imprisoned for up to 10 years. The use of a dangerous weapon to interfere with security screening may result in up to life imprisonment.

40. INTRASTATE AIR SERVICE

Senate bill

Section 116: DOT may grant antitrust exemptions to ensure continued viability of air service in that State.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that DOT may grant anti-trust immunity to ensure continued viability of air service within a state. If the Secretary approves any such request, a report must be given to the relevant Senate and House Committees within six months of the approval describing what actions have been taken by the carriers receiving the exemption.

41. AIRLINE COMPUTER RESERVATION SYSTEMS

Senate bill

Section 117: DOT shall require all airlines to use the best technology to ensure that their systems are secure from unauthorized access. DOT shall submit an annual report on compliance.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

Under the direction of the Conference Report airlines are required to take action that will prevent unauthorized access to computer reservation systems and the information they contain on passengers. Technology should be utilized to the greatest extent possible to ensure the integrity of these systems.

42. FEES

Senate bill

Section 118(a): Within 180 days, airlines remit a $2.50 fee per enplanement.

House bill

Section 108: Under Secretary shall impose a fee of not more than $2.50 per one-way trip. The amount of the fee shall be reasonably related to the costs of providing the screening service. In addition, a fee can be imposed directly on the airlines but it cannot be more than the airlines paid for screening services in 2000. Fees shall be credited as off-setting collections. Passengers using airports where screening services are not provided may be exempted from the fee.

Conference substitute

The Conference substitute requires a fee to be charged to cover the cost of providing the aviation security services. The fee will be based on the number of times a passenger boards a plane during the course of travel, but will be capped at $5.00 per one-way trip. Any additional funds needed will be authorized to be appropriated or may come from a fee imposed directly on the airlines.

The Secretary may waive or modify the security fee to take into account the isolation of certain communities. In determining whether to waive or modify this fee, the Secretary shall consider the costs of transportation security and the benefits of transportation security that is bestowed on those communities.The Conference substitute amends section 45301(b) of title 49, United States Code, with respect to limitations on overflight fees to (1) to make the language consistent with the new security fee language of this Act, and (2) to clarify Congressional intent with respect to the FAA costs upon which the fees can be based. Specifically, the conference substitute replaces the word "directly" with "reasonably", since the word "directly" has been a source of much confusion and narrow interpretation, and has been a primary cause of recurring litigation which has frustrated and delayed the FAA's imposition of the overflight fees for a number of years. Additionally, this amendment specifies that the FAA's costs upon which the fees are based are to be determined solely by the Administrator. This is to clarify that the Administrator has full authority to determine costs by appropriate means. This amendment is not intended to require revision of the fees recently promulgated by the FAA (66 FR 43680, Aug. 20. 2001) but rather, to clarify longstanding Congressional intent that the FAA expeditiously and continuously collect the fees authorized under section 45301(a) of title 49.

43. AUTHORIZATION

Senate bill

Section 118(b): Authorizes such sums for the next 3 years as may be necessary to carry out the security functions.

House bill

Section 109: Authorizes such sums as may be necessary to the TSA for operating costs and for screening services not covered by the above fee.

Authorizes $500 million for grants to airlines to fortify cockpit doors, install video monitors to view the passenger cabin, ensure continuous operation of transponder, and use of other technologies.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report authorizes the necessary spending for the cost of providing aviation security.

44. AIRPORT FUNDING

Senate bill

REV_00205525

Section 119(a): Allows AIP and PFC funds to be used to pay security costs in FY 2002 for any cost incurred after 9/11 regardless of when it was incurred. Waives the local matching share. In deciding whether to make a discretionary AIP grant for security costs, the availability and use of non-Federal funding by the airport shall be considered.

Section 120: Authorizes such sums in 2002 to compensate airports for security costs. Costs must be documented and subject to an IG audit. DOT shall publish procedures for filing claims in 30 days.

Section 119(c): PFC requests for security funding should be expedited.

Section 119(b): For the purpose of determining AIP entitlements in FY 2003, enplanements in 2000 or 2001, whichever is higher, shall be used.

Section 201(b): Modifying terminal and baggage systems in order to install bomb detection equipment is made AIP eligible.Section 113: Allows AIP and PFC funds to be used to pay for added law enforcement costs in at a non-hub or small hub airport regardless of when the cost was incurred.

Waives the local matching share.

In FY 2002, allows AIP and PFC money to be used to pay debt service if that would prevent an airport, or privately owned terminal, from defaulting on its bond.

House bill

Section 109: Authorizes a total of $1.5 billion in 2002 and 2003 to reimburse airports for direct costs they incurred to meet new security requirements. Such sums to remain available until expended. Before getting the money, the airport must agree to meet with its concessionaires to discuss rent adjustments and provide an itemized list of costs incurred.

Conference substitute

A blend of the House and Senate provisions.

45. COMPETITION PLANS

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Section 113(a): Waives an airport's obligation to submit a competition plan in FY 2002 when it is seeking money to improve security.

Conference substitute

58. GENERAL AVIATION SECURITY

Senate bill

Section 131: FAA shall begin a security program for aircraft over 12,500 pounds within 90 days. Waivers from this requirement can be granted. A security program for smaller aircraft shall begin in 1 year. A report shall be filed in 18 months.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference report directs the Secretary to provide Congress a report on improving general aviation security in the United States within 3 months of enactment of the legislation.

The Conferees note that a number of issues on aviation security research merit the prompt attention of the Department of Transportation. In particular, the Conferees observe that research into providing better security with minimal disruption in the system in the area of general aviation is important.

The Conferees note that the FAA has recently designated a consortium of schools as a general aviation center of excellence and anticipates that the FAA would draw upon the expertise of these institutions in formulating a security program for general aviation.

The Conferees also note that NASA, in coordination with the DOT, is investigating technology that would facilitate remote screening of small aircraft prior to takeoff.

Such a general aviation remote screening system (GARSS) could be installed on a vehicle or mobile platform, or in a fixed facility alongside a taxiway, and would provide a pre-takeoff alert if suspicious objects or materials were detected aboard an aircraft.

The Conferees urge that the development and implementation of GARSS be pursued.

Section 114: Amends the Airline Stabilization Act to modify the method for distributing compensation to air ambulances.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report amends the Airline Stabilization Act to allow for a modified system of providing compensation to air tour operators and air ambulances to better address their needs after industry wide losses. It is the Conferees' position that the Stabilization Act's section 103 compensation formula language, "revenue ton miles or any other auditable measure" should be broadly construed and should not restrict compensation exclusively to Revenue for Miles reported on previously filed DOT Form 41s. If Air, Crew, Maintenance, Insurance lessors can provide accurate and auditable records of their revenue for miles during the relevant time period, then they should be eligible for compensation based under the Stabilization Act.

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conferees encourage the Congress to pass legislation quickly to restructure the United States Postal Service's process of tendering non-priority bypass mail with the State of Alaska. Restructuring this program to direct more carriers to convert to 121 passenger operators will improve the safety of air transportation in Alaska and enhance the security of passengers.

73. VICTIMS COMPENSATION

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Title II:

Conference substitute

The Conference substitute extends the liability limitations of the Air Transportation Stabilization Act to aircraft manufacturers, State port authorities, owners and operators of airports, and persons with property interests in the World Trade Center.

These provisions limit liability under the Act to the maximum level of their insurance coverage.

Any person with a property interest in the World Trade Center, as a condition to receiving liability protection under the Act, is required to satisfy all contractual obligations to rebuild or assist in the rebuilding of the World Trade Center.

The Conference substitute also limits the liability for all claims arising from the terrorist-related attacks of September 11, 2001, brought against the City of New York to the greater of the City's insurance coverage or $350,000,000.

This limitation on damages against the City of New York, however, does not apply to any non-government or private entity that is contracted with the City.

The Conference substitute also excludes entities primarily engaged in the business of airport security from its limitation on liability.

"(2) WILLFUL DEFAULTS ON REBUILDING OBLIGATION.—Paragraph (1) does not apply to any such person with a property interest in the World

"(3) LIMITATIONS ON LIABILITY FOR NEW YORK CITY.—Liability for all claims, whether for compensatory or punitive damages or for contribution or indemnity arising from the terrorist-related aircraft crashes of September 11, 2001, against the City of New York shall not exceed the greater of the city's insurance coverage or $350,000,000. If a claimant who is eligible to seek compensation under section 405 of this Act, submits a claim under section 405, the claimant waives the right to file a civil action (or to be a party to an action) in any Federal or State court for damages sustained as a result of the terrorist-related aircraft crashes of September 11, 2001, including any such action against the City of New York. The preceding sentence does not apply to a civil action to recover collateral source obligations."; and

(3) by adding at the end of subsection (c) the following: "Subsections (a) and (b) do not apply to civil actions to recover collateral source obligations.

Nothing in this section shall in any way limit any liability of any person who is engaged in the business of providing air transportation security and who is not an airline or airport sponsor or director, officer, or employee of an airline or airport sponsor.".

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The managers on the part of the Senate and House at the conference on the disagreeing vote of the two Houses on the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill (S. 1447), to improve aviation security, and for other purposes, submit the following joint statement to the Senate and House in explanation of the effects of the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report:

The House amendment struck all of the Senate bill after the enacting clause and inserted a substitute text.

The Senate recedes from its disagreement to the amendment of the House with an amendment that is a substitute for the Senate bill and the House amendment. The differences between the Senate bill, the House amendment, and the substitute agreed to in conference are noted below, except for clerical corrections, conforming changes made necessary by agreements reached by the conferees, and minor drafting and clerical changes.

1. SHORT TITLE

Senate bill

Section 1: "Aviation Security Act".

House amendment

Section 1: "Airport Security Federalization Act of 2001"

Conference substitute

The title of the legislation will be "The Aviation and Transportation Security Act."

2. FINDINGS

Senate bill

Section 101: 7 findings on the importance of security and the need for Federal control and other changes.

House amendment

No provision

Conference substitute

The conferees recognize that the safety and security of the civil air transportation system is critical to the security of the United States and its national defense, and that a safe and secure United States civil air transportation system is essential to the basic freedom of America to move in intrastate, interstate and international transportation. The conferees further note the terrorist hijacking and crashes of passenger aircraft on September 11, 2001, which converted civil aircraft into guided bombs for strikes against the United States, required a fundamental change in the way it approaches the task of ensuring the safety and security of the civil air transportation system.

REV_00205916

And the House agree to the same.

The Conferees expect that security functions at United States airports should become a Federal government responsibility, and it is their belief that while the number of Federal air marshals is classified, their presence would have a deterrent effect on hijacking and would further bolster public confidence in the safety of air travel. The Conferees also noted that the effectiveness of existing security measures, including employee background checks and passenger pre-screening, is currently impaired because of the inaccessibility of, or the failure to share information among, data bases maintained by different Federal and international agencies for criminal behavior or pertinent intelligence information.

The Conferees developed this legislation to address the security of the nation's transportation system.

3. ORGANIZATION OF SECURITY FUNCTION WITHIN DOT

Senate bill

Section 102: Creates a new Deputy Secretary of Transportation.

House amendment

Section 101: Creates a new Transportation Security Administration (TSA) within DOT headed by an Under Secretary. Establishes qualifications. Sets 5-year term. TSA has same procurement and personnel authority as the FAA.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report creates the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) to be headed by an Under Secretary within the DOT.

4. FUNCTIONS OF DEPUTY SECRETARY OR UNDER SECRETARY

Senate bill

Section 102(a): Coordinate and direct the functions of DOT and FAA under Chapter 449.

Work with the FAA on actions that affect safety.

Coordinate with DOJ, DOD, and other agencies on matters related to aviation security.

Coordinate transportation and actions of other agencies during an emergency. (This does not supersede the authority of any other agency.)

Establish uniform standards for transportation during an emergency.

Provide notice to other agencies about threats during an emergency. The Secretary defines what constitutes an emergency.

Take other actions, the Secretary shall prescribe.

House amendment

Section 101: Under Secretary will be responsible for security in all modes of transportation. Specifically, Under Secretary is responsible for the following:

Receiving, assessing, and distributing intelligence information to the appropriate people in the transportation community.

Assessing threats to transportation.

Developing policies to deal with these threats.

Coordinating with other agencies.

Serve as the liaison with the intelligence community.

REV_00205918

Supervising airport security using Federal uniformed personnel.
Manage the Federal security personnel in the field
Enforce security regulations.
Undertake research to improve security.
Inspect, maintain, and test security equipment.
Ensure that adequate security is provided for the transportation of cargo.
Oversee the security at airports and other transportation facilities.
Perform background checks on screeners and those who work at airports.
Develop standards for the hiring and firing of screeners.
Train and test screeners.

Conference substitute

The Conferees believe the best way to ensure effective Federal management of the nation's transportation system is through the creation of a new Administration within DOT to be called the Transportation Security Administration (TSA). The TSA's responsibilities will encompass security in all modes of transportation.

5. PAY OF DEPUTY SECRETARY OR UNDER SECRETARY

Senate bill

Section 127: Paid at level II of the Executive Schedule plus bonuses based on performance.

House amendment

Section 101(c): Paid at level II of the Executive Schedule ($141,300 in 2000).

Conference substitute

The Conferees direct that the Under Secretary is to be paid at Level II of the Executive Schedule ($141,300 in 2000). A bonus, not to exceed thirty percent of the annual salary may be provided based on the performance of the US to be determined by the Secretary.

6. REPORTS

Senate bill

Section 102(a): Annual report of activities.
Section 127: Annual DOT report on results achieved relative to the agency security performance plan.
Section 112: 60-day report on additional security measures.
Section 133: 120-day report on the new DOJ responsibilities for aviation security.
Section 113: 3-month report on how to improve security of general aviation and air charters.

House amendment

Section 106: Eliminates existing report in section 44938 of title 49, United States Code.

(House)

6A. ENHANCED SECURITY

Senate bill

REV_00205919

Section 115: 120 day report on the following issues:

(1) Requiring verification of airport employees' identity.

(2) Installing switches so flight attendants can notify pilots of a hijacking.

(3) Revalidating airline and airport employee identification cards.

(4) Updating strategy for dealing with hijackings.

(5) Technology to improve communication between aircraft and ground facilities.

Section 211: DOT shall study options for improving positive IDs of passengers at check-in counters and boarding areas. Report required in 6 months.

House amendment

Section 106: Requires the Under Secretary to address the issues listed below and to report 6 months after the date of enactment on the progress being made in implementing each.

A similar report would have to be submitted each year thereafter until all the items had either been implemented or rejected:

(1) Develop procedures (such as barrel roles or depressurizing the aircraft) and authorize equipment (such as lethal or non-lethal weapons) to help the pilot defend the aircraft against hijackers.

(2) After consultation with the FAA, find ways to—

(A) limit access to the cockpit;

(B) strengthen cockpit doors;

(C) use video cameras to alert pilots to problems in the passenger cabin without having to open the cockpit door;

(D) ensure that the aircraft transponder cannot be turned off in flight.

(3) Impose standards for the screening or inspection of vehicles and employees of aircraft fuelers, caterers, cleaners, and others who have access to aircraft and secure areas of airports.

(4) Require airlines to provide emergency call capability from aircraft and trains.

(5) Use various technologies, such as voice stress analysis, to prevent a dangerous person from boarding a plane.

(6) Develop certification standards for individual screeners.

(7) Establish performance goals and use Threat Image Projection (TIP) or similar devices to test whether screeners are meeting those goals or certification standards.

(8) Develop ways for airlines to have access to law enforcement and immigration data bases to ensure that dangerous people do not board their planes.

(9) Use the profiling system known as CAPS to not only give special scrutiny to selected checked baggage but also to the passengers who fit the profile and their carry-on baggage.

(10) Use technology to ensure that airport and airline employees and law enforcement officers are who they claim to be.

(11) Install switches in the passenger cabin so that flight attendants can discreetly notify a pilot if there is a problem.

(12) Change the training of airline personnel in light of the change in the methods and goals of hijackers as evidenced by the attack of September 11th.

(13) Provide for background checks for those seeking flying lessons on large aircraft or flight simulators of such aircraft.

(14) Enter into agreements allowing trained law enforcement personnel of other agencies to travel with guns in order to assist a sky marshal.

(15) Perform more thorough background checks (including review of immigration and other government records) of airport screeners, student pilots, and others who have unescorted access to secure areas of the airport.

(16) Establish a uniform system for identifying law enforcement personnel authorized to carry a gun on board to ensure they are who they claim to be.

(17) Allow airlines to implement trusted passenger programs to use technology to expedite screening for those passengers that wish to participate.

(18) Develop security procedures for stem cells and other medical containers that cannot be opened or x-rayed.

(19) Develop security procedures to allow musical instruments to be carried in the passenger cabin.

(20) Provide for the use of wireless devices to enable communications among airport security personnel about potential threats.

Conference substitute

The Under Secretary shall decide upon establishing security measures to: ensure that the flight transponder cannot be turned off in flight; require airlines to provide emergency call capability from aircraft and trains; use voice stress analysis, biometric, and other technologies to prevent dangerous persons from boarding a plane; establish a uniform system for identifying law enforcement personnel traveling with firearms to ensure they are who they claim to be; require the consideration of alternative security procedures that would not damage medical products; allow airlines to implement trusted passenger programs to use technology to expedite screening on a voluntary basis; and, provide for the use of technology to enhance communications among airport security personnel about potential threats.The conferees encourage efforts by the Transportation Security Administration and professional organizations representing industry to use biometric information, such as fingerprints collected initially as input to the background check process, for future verification of identity at access control points to secure airport areas. The Conferees applaud efforts to improve day-to-day airport security by utilizing this raw biometric information collected from individuals as a recurrent identifier for access to secure areas. The Conferees urge the Transportation Security Administration to work with industry organizations that can assist in the process of background checks, record-keeping, and universal access control data.

The Conferees direct the Under Secretary to assume responsibility for civil aviation security within 3 months of the enactment of this legislation.

9. TECHNOLOGY AND EQUIPMENT

Senate bill
Section 102(c): Amends 44932(c) to require FAA to ensure the use of the best available security equipment, not merely the best available x- ray equipment.
Section 108: Restates provision in current law requiring manual process where equipment is now underutilized.
Section 132: By September 30, 2002, FAA shall decide the feasibility of implementing technologies designed to protect aviation and automatically detect bombs, drugs, hazardous chemicals, and nuclear devices.
Section 201(b): FAA shall deploy and use existing bomb detection equipment. Within 60 days, FAA shall establish goals for—
(1) deploying equipment now in storage;
(2) specifying a percentage of checked bags to be scanned within 6 months, with a goal of scanning 100 percent;
(3) the number of bomb detectors that will be purchased for deployment at medium sized airports within 6 months. [See item 29.]
House amendment
Section 106: Makes no change in section 44932(c) of title 49, United States Code, but directs Under Secretary to consider requiring various technologies described in item 6 above and report to Congress on them 6 months after enactment and annually thereafter until those technologies are deployed or a decision is made not to deploy them.
Conference substitute
The Conferees want new, state-of-the-art security equipment installed at airports on an expedited basis, and immediate action taken to ensure that existing explosive detection equipment is employed to the greatest extent possible for the screening of checked baggage. It is expected that additional equipment will be installed in as timely a manner as possible, and in the interim, other systems will be used to screen baggage. The Conferees agree that everything going on board a passenger aircraft should be screened within 60 days by FAA-approved methods.

REV_00205922

10. AIRWORTHINESS OBJECTIONS BY FAA

Senate bill

Section 102: Must consult with FAA on all matters affecting safety and operations.

House amendment

Section 106: Under Secretary cannot take an action if notified by the FAA that it would adversely affect the airworthiness of the aircraft unless the Secretary approves the action.

Conference substitute

House provision.

11. ROLE OF NATIONAL TRANSPORTATION SAFETY BOARD (NTSB)

Senate bill

No provision.

House amendment

Section 106: In taking an action that could affect safety, Under Secretary shall solicit and give great weight to views of NTSB.

Conference substitute

The Conferees instruct that in taking actions that could affect safety, the timely views of the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) will be taken into consideration by the Under Secretary. The conferees wished to emphasize that the views of the NTSB should be provided in a sufficiently and timely manner so those views could be fully considered by the Under Secretary.

12. BIOLOGICAL AND CHEMICAL WEAPONS

Senate bill

Section 102(c): FAA shall develop ways to enhance the ability to detect biological and chemical weapons.

Section 106(c): DOT shall require airports to maximize the use of equipment to detect these weapons.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference report requires airports to maximize the use of equipment to detect and neutralize biological and chemical weapons, and instructs the FAA to develop ways to enhance the detection of these weapons.

13. OVERSIGHT AND COORDINATION

Senate bill

Section 103: Establishes Aviation Security Oversight Council (ASOC), chaired by DOT Secretary and composed of DOJ, DOD, Treasury, CIA, and any other agency head DOT and DOJ determine to be appropriate.

House bill

Section 112: Establishes Transportation Security Oversight Board (TSOB) chaired by DOT Secretary and composed of DOJ, DOD, Treasury, and either NSC or Homeland Security. TSOB shares intelligence, reviews emergency rules, and oversees actions of Under Secretary.

Establishes Advisory Council, composed of industry, labor, families, and others to advise Under Secretary on security matters.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report establishes the Transportation Security Oversight Board (TSOB) chaired by the Secretary of DOT and composed of DOJ, DOD, Treasury, CIA, NSC and Homeland Security. The TSOB may review and ratify or disapprove regulations issued by the Under Secretary; facilitate the coordination of intelligence, security and law enforcement activities affecting transportation; and, perform other duties including making recommendations to the Under Secretary for use in combating threats to the integrity of the nation's transportation system.

14. RULEMAKING

Senate bill

No Rules required by DOJ for its own employees; cockpit requirements issuable without APA.

House bill

Section 101: Under Secretary can issue security rules immediately without notice and comment, DOT or OMB review, and without a cost-benefit analysis but subject to disapproval by the TSOB.

Conference substitute

House provision.

15. INSPECTOR GENERAL

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Section 101: TSA is subject to the Inspector General Act.

Conference substitute

The Conference report instructs that the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) will be subject to the Inspector General Act.

16. CROSS CHECKING DATA BASES

Senate bill

Section 103(a): DOT, acting through ASOC, shall try to develop a common data base with other agencies and share information about people.

Section 211: DOT, as part of the ASCC, shall conduct a 90-day review of upgrades to the distribution of people on the "watch list" of Federal law enforcement agencies.

Upgrades shall be deployed in 6 months.

A report shall be filed in 18 months.

House bill

Section 106: To the extent that the Under Secretary determines appropriate, the Under Secretary shall (1) establish procedures requiring airlines to use information from government agencies to identify people who may be a threat to civil aviation and (2) require more thorough background checks that include a review of other agency data bases.

REV_00205924

A report is required in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have instructed the Secretary to work with the TSOB to develop a data base that will allow the cross checking of the people on "watch lists" of various Federal law enforcement agencies to identify individuals that may pose a risk to security in an effort to identify potential risks to civil aviation. Passenger lists should be used in conjunction with this data base to help target those individuals that pose a threat, and allow appropriate action to be taken.

17. TERRORISM REPORT

Senate bill

Section 103(b): Require reports on all terrorism. Reports to be shared with DOT.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires the intelligence community to ensure that reports on terrorism are shared with the DOT.

18. STRATEGIC PLANNING

Senate bill

Section 103(c): Require intelligence agencies to establish units for strategic planning on terrorism.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires intelligence agencies to establish units for strategic planning on terrorism.

19. COCKPIT SECURITY

Senate bill

Section 104: FAA shall issue a rule, without notice and comment, permitting only authorized persons to have access to the cockpit, requiring strengthening the door by installing locks and making them rigid, requiring the door to remain locked during flight except when the pilot needs to get out, and taking away the flight attendants key.

Special rules shall be issued for aircraft that do not have a door.

House bill

Section 106: To the extent the Under Secretary considers appropriate, the Under Secretary shall, after consultation with FAA, implement methods to restrict the opening of the cockpit door during flight and fortify those doors.

A report is required in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Funds are authorized to help airlines pay for this.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report prohibits access to the flight deck of passenger aircraft by anyone other than the flight crew. Flight deck doors must be strengthened and remain locked while aircraft is in flight. Video cameras may be provided to alert pilots to cabin activity in the event of a security breech occurring during the flight.

These provisions apply to aircraft required to have a door between the flight deck and cabin. The Conferees also seek the redesign of cockpits to ensure the doors are secured at all times during flight. Redesign can encompass new flight deck materials, double doors to the cockpit as are used in Israel, and lavatories within the flight deck so that flight crew do not leave the flight deck. Once bathroom facilities are provided for the flight crew of passenger aircraft, the cockpit door no longer will need to be opened during flight.

The Conferees instruct the Under Secretary to take into consideration the threat to aviation and national security when developing means to secure the flight deck on commuter aircraft. Any new burdens should be appropriate for the risk.

20. AIR MARSHALS

Senate bill

Section 105: Attorney General prescribes guidelines for training and deployment of sky marshals. DOT administers the program in accordance with these guidelines:

(1) Marshals may be placed on every flight but must be placed on every flight that DOT determines to be high risk.

(2) Marshals must be deployed in 30 days.

(3) Marshals must be given a seat even if that means bumping a passenger.

(4) DOT shall work with ICAO and foreign governments to address security concerns on foreign airlines.

(5) DOT may use personnel from other agencies, including the military, as air marshals.

Section 105: Waives age requirements for retired police, military and out-of-work pilots to work as air marshals, if they meet the background and fitness qualifications.

Report required in 18 months.

House bill

Section 105: Under Secretary deploys air marshals, provides for their background checks, trains them, and requires U.S. airlines to provide seats for them at no cost.

Preference for hiring laid off airline pilots as marshals.

Marshals must be placed on selected flights.

Marshals must be given a seat even if that means bumping a passenger.

DOT shall work with foreign governments to address security concerns on international flights from the U.S.

Until the Under Secretary has all the air marshals needed, personnel from other agencies may be used, with the other agency's concurrence, as air marshals on a non- reimbursable basis.

Airlines must provide seats, on a space-available basis, to off-duty marshals flying home.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires that appropriately trained, supervised and equipped Federal Air Marshals (FAMs) may be deployed on every scheduled passenger flight, and must be placed on every "high risk" flight, which may include nonstop longhaul flights, or any other flight deemed appropriate, even if the flight is fully booked. For applicants who otherwise meet the background and fitness requirements, age restrictions may be waived to allow retired law enforcement officers, retired members of the armed forces, and members of commercial airline crews who have been furloughed from their positions. Personnel from other agencies may be deployed, with the agency's concurrence, as FAMs until an adequate number of FAMs are in place. Additionally, agreements may be entered into allowing trained law enforcement personnel from other agencies to travel with firearms in order to assist FAMs.

The Conferees instruct the Under Secretary to follow air carrier passenger reservations and cancellation practices to the extent practicable. The Under Secretary should work cooperatively with air carriers to develop guidelines concerning reservations and cancellation for the transportation of Federal Air Marshals.

21. SCREENING

Senate bill

Section 108: Attorney General, in consultation with DOT, shall provide for screening of all passengers, property, mail, and cargo that will be carried aboard an aircraft.

Federal employees shall do screening.

Airport and airline employees shall be screened in the same way, except alternative methods may be used for security personnel.

Attorney General shall use screening technology approved by FAA.

Law enforcement personnel shall be deployed at each screening location.

At the 100 largest airports, additional police may be ordered.

Section 105(f): Report from DOT and DOJ required within 120 days on effectiveness of security screening.

Section 106: DOJ and DOT may permit operational flexibility to tailor screening needs for seasonal variations, aircraft types, and special needs of small airports.

Section 108: Attorney General may require non-hub or smaller airports to use State or local law enforcement if the screening will be equivalent to that at larger airports, the training meets Federal standards, the airport is reimbursed by funds made available by this Act, and the airport is consulted.

House bill

Section 102: Federal government is responsible for screening passengers and property on passenger aircraft that originate in the U.S.. Silent on whether screeners are to be Federal employees or private contractors. Under Secretary shall deputize screeners to enforce Federal laws, but not to arrest people. Screeners must have common uniforms. Must be supervised by uniformed Federal employees.

Section 107: Under Secretary should consider certificating screeners and use TIP or similar technologies to measure their performance and revoke their certification if their performance is inadequate.

Section 104: Airport required to deploy law enforcement or military personnel at each screening location. Law enforcement can be either Federal or local.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires the Federal government to hire, train and deploy Federal screeners, Federal managers, Federal security personnel and Federal law enforcement within 1 year. The participants in this Federal security workforce will not be able to strike or engage in work stoppages, and can be fired at the discretion of the Secretary if they are not able to adequately perform their duties.

The Conferees recognize that, in order to ensure that Federal screeners are able to provide the best security possible, the Secretary must be given wide latitude to determine the terms of employment of screeners. The Conference Committee expects that, in fixing the terms and conditions of employment the Secretary shall establish benefits and conditions of employment. The Conference Committee also recognizes that, in order to hire and retain screeners, the Secretary should also ensure that screeners have access to Federal health, life insurance, and retirement benefits, as well as workers' compensation benefits. The Committee believes that screening personnel must also be given whistleblower protections so that screeners may report security conditions without fear of reprisal.

The Conference Report requires the DOT to assume existing screening company contracts as soon as possible, but no later than 90 days after enactment of this legislation. The contracts for existing screeners can be extended for up to 6 months, and the DOT would have the option to extend contracts for no longer than 3 months, if necessary, to continue screening. DOT may also authorize additional Federal law enforcement, National Guard, and other personnel immediately to address the aviation security needs of the country.

The Conferees direct the Secretary to provide a report after one year from the date of enactment certifying deployment of the Federal screeners. Two years after certification airports can opt out of the Federalization of the screener level of the Federal workforce if the Secretary determines that these facilities would continue to provide an equal or higher level of security. Companies will be barred from providing screening if they violate federal standards, are found to allow repeated failures of the system, or prove to be a security risk. The DOT will also establish a Pilot Program for 5 airports, one from each category type, to apply for the use of private contract screeners.

Within 1 year after the date of enactment of the Act, the conferees expect the Transportation Security Administration to submit a report to the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and the House of Representatives Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure on the screening requirements applicable to passengers boarding, and property being carried aboard, aircraft with 60 seats or less used in scheduled passenger service with recommendations for any necessary changes in those requirements.

22. CITIZENSHIP OF SECURITY FIRMS

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Section 104: Must be owned or controlled by a citizen of the U.S. to the extent the President determines that there are such firms.

REV_00205928

Section 123(e): Similar sense of Congress.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs that U.S. companies should be used to provide screening if they are available.

23. TRAINING OF PILOTS AND FLIGHT ATTENDANTS

Senate bill

Section 105(f): Report from DOT and DOJ required within 6 months on crew training.

Section 107: DOT shall develop a mandatory airline training program for crews dealing with a hijacking. Training shall be developed in coordination with law enforcement experts.

House bill

Section 106: Under Secretary should consider updating training for dealing with hijacking that includes ways for dealing with suicidal hijackers. Report six months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that detailed guidance shall be developed for a mandatory air carrier training program to assist flight crews and attendants in hijack situations. The training curriculum will be developed in consultation with Federal law enforcement agencies with expertise in dealing with these types of threat conditions.

24. HOW FLIGHT ATTENDANTS NOTIFY PILOTS OF A HIJACKING

Senate bill

Section 107: FAA shall revise procedures by which flight attendants notify pilots and implement new measures as soon as practicable.

House bill

Section 106: The Under Secretary should consider requiring the installation of switches in the cabin so that the flight attendants can discreetly notify the pilots.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs the Under Secretary to consider the installation of a switch to be located in the cabin for flight attendants to notify pilots in the event of a hijacking without the knowledge of passengers. or other devices

25. PROVISION OF PERSONNEL FROM OTHER AGENCIES

Senate bill

Section 105: Amends section 106(m) to allow other agencies to provide personnel to FAA.

House bill

Section 102(d): Same provision, worded differently.

Conference substitute

The Conferees call upon other agencies to provide personnel that has received the proper training for use by the FAA as Federal air marshals (FAMs) in an effort to support and supplement ~~that~~ the FAM workforce in its early stages.

26. AIRPORT PERIMETER ACCESS SECURITY

Senate bill

REV_00205929

Section 106: DOT may order deployment of law enforcement personnel as needed to bolster airport security by entering into an agreement with another agency to deploy Federal law enforcement at airports.

Section 106(b): FAA shall provide technical support and financial assistance to small airports to help defray security costs.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have given the Secretary the ability to work with the airports to address potential threats at individual facilities by ordering the deployment of Federal law enforcement authorities to improve airport perimeter and access security in an effort to counter potential criminal activities. Such actions also can include providing increased security at air traffic control facilities. Additionally, the FAA Administrator will develop a plan to provide technical support to enable small- and medium-sized airports to enhance their security operations, and shall include using network digital video surveillance systems.

27. INDIVIDUALS WITH ACCESS TO SECURE AREAS OF THE AIRPORT

Senate bill

See item 21

Section 106(a): DOT, in consultation with ASOC, shall consider whether such individuals should be screened.

Section 106(d): Amend 44903(g)(2) to delete 1/31/01 deadline and beef up language on access control requirements.

Consider deployment of biometric technologies.

Establish pilot programs at 20 airports to test new technologies.

DOT shall require airlines and airports to develop security awareness programs for employees.

Section 211: Within 6 months, DOT shall recommend to airports commercially available ways to prevent access to secure areas. As part of this, DOT shall review effectiveness of biometric and other systems, focus on eliminating piggy-backing, and include a 12-month deployment strategy for currently available technology at Category X airports. Not later than 18 months, DOT shall conduct a review of reductions in unauthorized access.

House bill

Section 106: The Under Secretary shall consider imposing standards for the screening or inspection of vehicles that have access to secure areas and provide for the use of technology to verify the identity of those vehicles entering a secure area. Report after 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that all individuals, goods, property, vehicles, and other equipment seeking access to secure areas must be screened and inspected before entry. The Conference Committee instructs that prescribed requirements should provide at least the same level of protection as the screening of passengers and baggage. The Conferees, however, recognize that these requirements may make allowances for tools and equipment necessary to perform duties in secure areas. The Secretary will examine the physical configuration of individual airports, and consider the views of the TSOB to consider implementing standards to protect the integrity of secure areas.

28. BAN ON PARKING OF VEHICLES WITHIN 300 FEET OF TERMINAL

Senate bill

Section 106(b): FAA, in consultation with local law enforcement, shall reexamine the need for 300 feet restriction.

House bill

Section 121: Removes this parking ban if the airport, in consultation with local law enforcement, certifies to DOT, after doing a threat assessment, that safeguards are in place to protect public safety.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that all airports must consult with local law enforcement and inform DOT that proper safeguards are in place to ensure that parked vehicles are not a security risk. Each airport must submit views regarding its assessment of the needs of their facility.

29. CHECKED BAGGAGE

Senate bill

See item 9

Section 201(b)(1): Requirement for all baggage to be screened within 9 months.

FAA must establish within 60 days confidential goals for scanning a specific percentage of checked bags within 6 months and annual goals thereafter eventually scanning 100%.

Section 201(c) - page 85FAA shall require airlines to upgrade the bag match system. Shall establish goals within 60 days to accomplish this including interim measures to match a higher percentage of bags until bomb detectors are used to scan 100% of bags.

Confidential report to Congress in 1 year.

House bill

See item 9

Section 106: All checked baggage must be screened by December 31, 2003. All existing explosive detection equipment must be used to the maximum extent possible.

Additional explosive detection equipment must be installed as soon as possible.

In the interim, airlines must implement a bag match program.

A system must be in place as soon as possible to screen cargo transported in passenger aircraft.

Section 123(d): Sense of Congress that all checked baggage should be screened by any available means.

Conference substitute

The Conferees feel strongly that all baggage to be placed on passenger flights must be screened. Existing technology, including EDS, should be used and upgraded in an effort to ensure that all checked baggage goes through such a system. Any baggage that does not go through EDS will be required to go through some form of manual or other comparable screening system. An alternate system of screening cargo should also be established, and periodic reports issued to provide an understanding of the progress made on these efforts.

REV_00205931

30. COMPUTER ASSISTED PASSENGER PROFILING SYSTEM (CAPPS)

Senate bill

Section 201(d): FAA shall make all passengers subject to CAPPS even if they don't check bags so that their carry-ons and person will be subject to additional security measures. Report within 3 months.

Section 211: DOT, as part of the ASCC, shall conduct a 90-day review of upgrades to CAPPS and to the distribution of people on the "watch list" of Federal law enforcement agencies. Upgrades shall be deployed in 6 months. A report shall be filed in 18 months.

House bill

Section 106(9): The Under Secretary should consider providing the enhanced use of CAPPS to more effectively screen passengers and carry-on baggage. Report in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that an enhanced and upgraded use of the Computer Assisted Passenger Pre-Screening System (CAPPS) must be considered to more effectively screen passengers and baggage. The Conferees also recognize that adjustments may need to made ~~for~~ to reflect circumstances in some areas of the U.S., including State with unique transportation needs.

31. DEPUTIZING FOR ENFORCEMENT OF FEDERAL SECURITY LAWS

Senate bill

Section 108(b): Requires Attorney General to deputize State and local law enforcement to regulate screening at non-hubs.

House bill

Private contractor employees deputized.

Conference substitute

No provision.

32. HIRING AND TRAINING OF SCREENERS

Senate bill

Section 109: DOJ, in consultation with DOT, shall establish a program for the hiring and training of screeners. Hiring qualifications shall be set in 30 days. Includes list of qualifications screeners must meet such as education and language requirements. Training plans must be developed within 60 days. Requires 40 hours of classroom training and 60 hours of on the job training. Current lists of dual use items (seemingly harmless items that could be used as a weapon) shall be part of the training. Section 104 - page 16

House bill

Under Secretary may set minimum pay for screeners. Preference shall be given to veterans in the hiring of screeners and laid ~~for~~ off airline workers. Final rule for certification of screening companies changed from May 31, 2001 to 6 months after date of enactment. In the meantime, within 30 days of enactment, the standards in the proposed rule, such as education and language requirements, shall be in effect. All screeners must be in approved uniforms.

Conference substitute

A blend of the House and Senate provisions.

REV_00205932

33. CITIZENSHIP OF SCREENERS

Senate bill

Section 109: Must have been a national of the U.S. for at least 5 years.

House bill

Section 104(a): Must be U.S. citizens.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires that all airport screeners must be citizens of the U.S.

34. STATUS OF SCREENERS

Senate bill

Section 109(d): Notwithstanding any law, the Attorney General may hire, fire, and pay screeners as he determines necessary.

House bill

Section 102: Federal supervisor can order the dismissal of any screener.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report provides the Under Secretary the authority to employ, terminate and fix the conditions of employment for the Federal screening workforce.

35. STRIKES BY SCREENERS

Senate bill

Section 109(e): Strikes prohibited pursuant to Title 5.

House bill

Section 102: Strikes prohibited.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs that the airport screening workforce will be prohibited from striking. The Conferees have provided the Transportation Security Administration authority to utilize existing authority provided to the FAA to develop personnel and acquisition systems. The authority gives the Administration flexibility to design its own policies and procedures and not use the FAA's system, while retaining the legal requirements under sections 40110 and 40112.

36. BACKGROUND CHECKS

Senate bill

Section 109(f): Requires background checks for current screeners and others with access to the airport.

Section 201(a): Requires background checks for current screeners and others to be completed in 9 months unless the person has had such a check in the past 5 years. Alternative checks shall be developed for those who have lived in the U.S. for less than 5 years.

House bill

Section 107: Allows smaller airports to use the same expedited procedures for criminal history background checks as the larger airports now use. (Under the 2000 Security Act these expedited procedures do not go into effect at smaller airports until 2003.)

Requires background check (including review of government data bases) for all current screeners and those with access to secure

areas except for those who have already had such a check or those who are exempted by FAA rules from such checks.

Conference substitute

A blend of the House and Senate provisions.

The Conferees encourage the Under Secretary to provide channeling authority to professional organizations representing industry to FBI AFIS fingerprint databases to perform criminal history verification of aviation business employees. (5)

37. RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

Senate bill

Section 110: Amends section 44912 to require periodic reviews of threats to civil aviation and the potential for the release of biological and chemical weapons. A person shall be designated to be responsible for security research. The person shall file an annual report on research activities. A scientific advisory panel shall be established. DOT shall coordinate research with DOJ.

Section 221: Authorizes $50 million per year to research various security technologies.

House bill

Section 101: Transfers security research from FAA to the TSA. The TSA can use FAA research facilities.

Conference substitute

A modified version of the Senate provision.

38. FLIGHT SCHOOLS

Senate bill

Section 111: Regarding jet-propelled aircraft, a person shall not give flight instruction, including instruction in simulator, to an alien (or other person specified by DOT) unless DOJ issues that person a certificate of completion of the background check of the alien. Requests for the background check shall be made jointly by the alien and the flight school. Investigation must be completed in 30 days. Investigation includes fingerprint check, immigration check, and a determination of whether alien in a national security risk. Expedited procedures shall be developed for an alien seeking recurrent training. Penalties for violations shall be developed by DOT rulemaking. Flight schools shall report aliens that they train.

Section 111(c): DOT and State shall work with ICAO to improve screening of student pilots.

House bill

Section 106(13): The Under Secretary should consider requiring background checks on individuals seeking flying lessons (including simulator lessons) on aircraft weighing more than 12,500 pounds. Report in 6 months and annually thereafter until the Under Secretary implements the checks or decides not to require them.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that flight school training for aircraft with a minimum certificated weight of 12,500 pounds or more should not be allowed for any alien within the United States unless they have passed a sufficient background check. Such individuals seeking to attend flight school may begin pilot training after 45 days or upon being certified as having passed a background investigation regarding their criminal history and immigration status. A security awareness program will be developed to assist employees that work at flight schools by helping to increase their awareness of a potential threat.

39. PENALTIES

Senate bill

Section 114: Imposes criminal penalties for interfering with security personnel at a commercial service airport.

House bill

Section 116(c): Transfers the relevant civil penalty authorities from the FAA to the TSA.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires that an individual who disrupts the duties of security screening personnel within a commercial service airport shall be fined and/or imprisoned for up to 10 years. The use of a dangerous weapon to interfere with security screening may result in up to life imprisonment.

40. INTRASTATE AIR SERVICE

Senate bill

Section 116: DOT may grant antitrust exemptions to ensure continued viability of air service in that State.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that DOT may grant anti-trust immunity to ensure continued viability of air service within a state. If the Secretary approves any such request, a report must be given to the relevant Senate and House Committees within six months of the approval describing what actions have been taken by the carriers receiving the exemption.

41. AIRLINE COMPUTER RESERVATION SYSTEMS

Senate bill

Section 117: DOT shall require all airlines to use the best technology to ensure that their systems are secure from unauthorized access. DOT shall submit an annual report on compliance.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

Under the direction of the Conference Report airlines are required to take action that will prevent unauthorized access to computer reservation systems and the information they contain on passengers. Technology should be utilized to the greatest extent possible to ensure the integrity of these systems.

42. FEES

Senate bill

Section 118(a): Within 180 days, airlines remit a $2.50 fee per enplanement.

House bill

Section 108: Under Secretary shall impose a fee of not more than $2.50 per one-way trip. The amount of the fee shall be reasonably related to the costs of providing the screening service. In addition, a fee can be imposed directly on the airlines but it cannot be more than the airlines paid for screening services in 2000. Fees shall be credited as off-setting collections. Passengers using airports where screening services are not provided may be exempted from the fee.

Conference substitute

The Conference substitute requires a fee to be charged to cover the cost of providing the aviation security services. The fee will be based on the number of times a passenger boards a plane during the course of travel, but will be capped at $5.00 per one-way trip. Any additional funds needed will be authorized to be appropriated or may come from a fee imposed directly on the airlines.

The Secretary may waive or modify the security fee to take into account the isolation of certain communities. In determining whether to waive or modify this fee, the Secretary shall consider the costs of transportation security and the benefits of transportation security that is bestowed on those communities.The Conference substitute amends section 45301(b) of title 49, United States Code, with respect to limitations on overflight fees to (1) to make the language consistent with the new security fee language of this Act, and (2) to clarify Congressional intent with respect to the FAA costs upon which the fees can be based. Specifically, the conference substitute replaces the word "directly" with "reasonably", since the word "directly" has been a source of much confusion and narrow interpretation, and has been a primary cause of recurring litigation which has frustrated and delayed the FAA's imposition of the overflight fees for a number of years. Additionally, this amendment specifies that the FAA's costs upon which the fees are based are to be determined solely by the Administrator. This is to clarify that the Administrator has full authority to determine costs by appropriate means. This amendment is not intended to require revision of the fees recently promulgated by the FAA (66 FR 43680, Aug. 20. 2001) but rather, to clarify longstanding Congressional intent that the FAA expeditiously and continuously collect the fees authorized under section 45301(a) of title 49.

43. AUTHORIZATION

Senate bill

Section 118(b): Authorizes such sums for the next 3 years as may be necessary to carry out the security functions.

House bill

Section 109: Authorizes such sums as may be necessary to the TSA for operating costs and for screening services not covered by the above fee.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference report directs the Secretary to provide Congress a report on improving general aviation security in the United States within 3 months of enactment of the legislation.

The Conferees note that a number of issues on aviation security research merit the prompt attention of the Department of Transportation. In particular, the Conferees observe that research into providing better security with minimal disruption in the system in the area of general aviation is important.

The Conferees note that the FAA has recently designated a consortium of schools as a general aviation center of excellence and anticipates that the FAA would draw upon the expertise of these institutions in formulating a security program for general aviation.

The Conferees also note that NASA, in coordination with the DOT, is investigating technology that would facilitate remote screening of small aircraft prior to takeoff.

Such a general aviation remote screening system (GARSS) could be installed on a vehicle or mobile platform, or in a fixed facility alongside a taxiway, and would provide a pre-takeoff alert if suspicious objects or materials were detected aboard an aircraft.

The Conferees urge that the development and implementation of GARSS be pursued.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report amends the Airline Stabilization Act to allow for a modified system of providing compensation to air tour operators and air ambulances to better address their needs after industry wide losses. It is the Conferees' position that the Stabilization Act's section 103 compensation formula language, "revenue ton miles or any other auditable measure" should be broadly construed and should not restrict compensation exclusively to Revenue for Miles reported on previously filed DOT Form 41s. If Air, Crew, Maintenance, Insurance lessors can provide accurate and auditable records of their revenue for miles during the relevant time period, then they should be eligible for compensation based under the Stabilization Act.

The Conferees encourage the Congress to pass legislation quickly to restructure the United States Postal Service's process of tendering non-priority bypass mail with the State of Alaska. Restructuring this program to direct more carriers to convert to 121 passenger operators will improve the safety of air transportation in Alaska and enhance the security of passengers.

73. VICTIMS COMPENSATION

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Title II:

Conference substitute

The Conference substitute extends the liability limitations of the Air Transportation Stabilization Act to aircraft manufacturers, State port authorities, owners and operators of airports, and persons with property interests in the World Trade Center.

These provisions limit liability under the Act to the maximum level of their insurance coverage.

Any person with a property interest in the World Trade Center, as a condition to receiving liability protection under the Act, is required to satisfy all contractual obligations to rebuild or assist in the rebuilding of the World Trade Center.

The Conference substitute also limits the liability for all claims arising from the terrorist-related attacks of September 11, 2001, brought against the City of New York to the greater of the City's insurance coverage or $350,000,000.

This limitation on damages against the City of New York, however, does not apply to any non-government or private entity that is contracted with the City.

The Conference substitute also excludes entities primarily engaged in the business of airport security from its limitation on liability.

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The managers on the part of the Senate and House at the conference on the disagreeing vote of the two Houses on the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill (S. 1447), to improve aviation security, and for other purposes, submit the following joint statement to the Senate and House in explanation of the effects of the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report:

The House amendment struck all of the Senate bill after the enacting clause and inserted a substitute text.

The Senate recedes from its disagreement to the amendment of the House with an amendment that is a substitute for the Senate bill and the House amendment. The differences between the Senate bill, the House amendment, and the substitute agreed to in conference are noted below, except for clerical corrections, conforming changes made necessary by agreements reached by the conferees, and minor drafting and clerical changes.

1. SHORT TITLE

Senate bill

Section 1: "Aviation Security Act".

Section 1: "Airport Security Federalization Act of 2001"

Conference substitute

The title of the legislation will be "The Aviation and Transportation Security Act."

2. FINDINGS

Senate bill

Section 101: 7 findings on the importance of security and the need for Federal control and other changes.

House amendment

No provision

Conference substitute

The conferees recognize that the safety and security of the civil air transportation system is critical to the security of the United States and its national defense, and that a safe and secure United States civil air transportation system is essential to the basic freedom of America to move in intrastate, interstate and international transportation. The conferees further note the terrorist hijacking and crashes of passenger aircraft on September 11, 2001, which converted civil aircraft into guided bombs for strikes against the United States, required a fundamental change in the way it approaches the task of ensuring the safety and security of the civil air transportation system.

REV_00206151

And the House agree to the same.

The Conferees expect that security functions at United States airports should become a Federal government responsibility, and it is their belief that while the number of Federal air marshals is classified, their presence would have a deterrent effect on hijacking and would further bolster public confidence in the safety of air travel. The Conferees also noted that the effectiveness of existing security measures, including employee background checks and passenger pre-screening, is currently impaired because of the inaccessibility of, or the failure to share information among, data bases maintained by different Federal and international agencies for criminal behavior or pertinent intelligence information.

The Conferees developed this legislation to address the security of the nation's transportation system.

3. ORGANIZATION OF SECURITY FUNCTION WITHIN DOT

Senate bill

Section 102: Creates a new Deputy Secretary of Transportation.

House amendment

Section 101: Creates a new Transportation Security Administration (TSA) within DOT headed by an Under Secretary. Establishes qualifications. Sets 5-year term. TSA has same procurement and personnel authority as the FAA.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report creates the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) to be headed by an Under Secretary within the DOT.

4. FUNCTIONS OF DEPUTY SECRETARY OR UNDER SECRETARY

Senate bill

Section 102(a): Coordinate and direct the functions of DOT and FAA under Chapter 449.

Work with the FAA on actions that affect safety.

Coordinate with DOJ, DOD, and other agencies on matters related to aviation security.

Coordinate transportation and actions of other agencies during an emergency. (This does not supersede the authority of any other agency.)

Establish uniform standards for transportation during an emergency.

Provide notice to other agencies about threats during an emergency. The Secretary defines what constitutes an emergency.

Take other actions, the Secretary shall prescribe.

House amendment

Section 101: Under Secretary will be responsible for security in all modes of transportation. Specifically, Under Secretary is responsible for the following:

Receiving, assessing, and distributing intelligence information to the appropriate people in the transportation community.

Assessing threats to transportation.

Developing policies to deal with these threats.

Coordinating with other agencies.

Serve as the liaison with the intelligence community.

REV_00206153

Supervising airport security using Federal uniformed personnel.
Manage the Federal security personnel in the field
Enforce security regulations.
Undertake research to improve security.
Inspect, maintain, and test security equipment.
Ensure that adequate security is provided for the transportation of cargo.
Oversee the security at airports and other transportation facilities.
Perform background checks on screeners and those who work at airports.
Develop standards for the hiring and firing of screeners.
Train and test screeners.

Conference substitute

The Conferees believe the best way to ensure effective Federal management of the nation's transportation system is through the creation of a new Administration within DOT to be called the Transportation Security Administration (TSA). The TSA's responsibilities will encompass security in all modes of transportation.

5. PAY OF DEPUTY SECRETARY OR UNDER SECRETARY

Senate bill

Section 127: Paid at level II of the Executive Schedule plus bonuses based on performance.

House amendment

Section 101(c): Paid at level II of the Executive Schedule ($141,300 in 2000).

Conference substitute

The Conferees direct that the Under Secretary is to be paid at Level II of the Executive Schedule ($141,300 in 2000). A bonus, not to exceed thirty percent of the annual salary may be provided based on the performance of the US to be determined by the Secretary.

6. REPORTS

Senate bill

Section 102(a): Annual report of activities.
Section 127: Annual DOT report on results achieved relative to the agency security performance plan.
Section 112: 60-day report on additional security measures.
Section 133: 120-day report on the new DOJ responsibilities for aviation security.
Section 113: 3-month report on how to improve security of general aviation and air charters.

House amendment

Section 106: Eliminates existing report in section 44938 of title 49, United States Code.

(House)

6A. ENHANCED SECURITY

Senate bill

REV_00206154

Section 115: 120 day report on the following issues:

(1) Requiring verification of airport employees' identity.

(2) Installing switches so flight attendants can notify pilots of a hijacking.

(3) Revalidating airline and airport employee identification cards.

(4) Updating strategy for dealing with hijackings.

(5) Technology to improve communication between aircraft and ground facilities.

Section 211: DOT shall study options for improving positive IDs of passengers at check-in counters and boarding areas. Report required in 6 months.

House amendment

Section 106: Requires the Under Secretary to address the issues listed below and to report 6 months after the date of enactment on the progress being made in implementing each.

A similar report would have to be submitted each year thereafter until all the items had either been implemented or rejected:

(1) Develop procedures (such as barrel roles or depressurizing the aircraft) and authorize equipment (such as lethal or non-lethal weapons) to help the pilot defend the aircraft against hijackers.

(2) After consultation with the FAA, find ways to—

(A) limit access to the cockpit;

(B) strengthen cockpit doors;

(C) use video cameras to alert pilots to problems in the passenger cabin without having to open the cockpit door;

(D) ensure that the aircraft transponder cannot be turned off in flight.

(3) Impose standards for the screening or inspection of vehicles and employees of aircraft fuelers, caterers, cleaners, and others who have access to aircraft and secure areas of airports.

(4) Require airlines to provide emergency call capability from aircraft and trains.

(5) Use various technologies, such as voice stress analysis, to prevent a dangerous person from boarding a plane.

(6) Develop certification standards for individual screeners.

(7) Establish performance goals and use Threat Image Projection (TIP) or similar devices to test whether screeners are meeting those goals or certification standards.

(8) Develop ways for airlines to have access to law enforcement and immigration data bases to ensure that dangerous people do not board their planes.

(9) Use the profiling system known as CAPS to not only give special scrutiny to selected checked baggage but also to the passengers who fit the profile and their carry-on baggage.

(10) Use technology to ensure that airport and airline employees and law enforcement officers are who they claim to be.

(11) Install switches in the passenger cabin so that flight attendants can discreetly notify a pilot if there is a problem.

(12) Change the training of airline personnel in light of the change in the methods and goals of hijackers as evidenced by the attack of September 11th.

(13) Provide for background checks for those seeking flying lessons on large aircraft or flight simulators of such aircraft.

(14) Enter into agreements allowing trained law enforcement personnel of other agencies to travel with guns in order to assist a sky marshal.

(15) Perform more thorough background checks (including review of immigration and other government records) of airport screeners, student pilots, and others who have unescorted access to secure areas of the airport.

(16) Establish a uniform system for identifying law enforcement personnel authorized to carry a gun on board to ensure they are who they claim to be.

(17) Allow airlines to implement trusted passenger programs to use technology to expedite screening for those passengers that wish to participate.

(18) Develop security procedures for stem cells and other medical containers that cannot be opened or x-rayed.

(19) Develop security procedures to allow musical instruments to be carried in the passenger cabin.

(20) Provide for the use of wireless devices to enable communications among airport security personnel about potential threats.

Conference substitute

The Under Secretary shall decide upon establishing security measures to: ensure that the flight transponder cannot be turned off in flight; require airlines to provide emergency call capability from aircraft and trains; use voice stress analysis, biometric, and other technologies to prevent dangerous persons from boarding a plane; establish a uniform system for identifying law enforcement personnel traveling with firearms to ensure they are who they claim to be; require the consideration of alternative security procedures that would not damage medical products; allow airlines to implement trusted passenger programs to use technology to expedite screening on a voluntary basis; and, provide for the use of technology to enhance communications among airport security personnel about potential threats.The conferees encourage efforts by the Transportation Security Administration and professional organizations representing industry to use biometric information, such as fingerprints collected initially as input to the background check process, for future verification of identity at access control points to secure airport areas. The Conferees applaud efforts to improve day-to-day airport security by utilizing this raw biometric information collected from individuals as a recurrent identifier for access to secure areas. The Conferees urge the Transportation Security Administration to work with industry organizations that can assist in the process of background checks, record-keeping, and universal access control data.

The Conference Report establishes the Transportation Security Oversight Board (TSOB) chaired by the Secretary of DOT and composed of DOJ, DOD, Treasury, CIA, NSC and Homeland Security. The TSOB may review and ratify or disapprove regulations issued by the Under Secretary; facilitate the coordination of intelligence, security and law enforcement activities affecting transportation; and, perform other duties including making recommendations to the Under Secretary for use in combating threats to the integrity of the nation's transportation system.

14. RULEMAKING

Senate bill

No Rules required by DOJ for its own employees; cockpit requirements issuable without APA.

House bill

Section 101: Under Secretary can issue security rules immediately without notice and comment, DOT or OMB review, and without a cost-benefit analysis but subject to disapproval by the TSOB.

Senate bill

Section 103(a): DOT, acting through ASOC, shall try to develop a common data base with other agencies and share information about people.

Section 211: DOT, as part of the ASCC, shall conduct a 90-day review of upgrades to the distribution of people on the "watch list" of Federal law enforcement agencies.

Upgrades shall be deployed in 6 months.

A report shall be filed in 18 months.

House bill

Section 106: To the extent that the Under Secretary determines appropriate, the Under Secretary shall (1) establish procedures requiring airlines to use information from government agencies to identify people who may be a threat to civil aviation and (2) require more thorough background checks that include a review of other agency data bases.

REV_00206159

A report is required in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have instructed the Secretary to work with the TSOB to develop a data base that will allow the cross checking of the people on "watch lists" of various Federal law enforcement agencies to identify individuals that may pose a risk to security in an effort to identify potential risks to civil aviation. Passenger lists should be used in conjunction with this data base to help target those individuals that pose a threat, and allow appropriate action to be taken.

17. TERRORISM REPORT

Senate bill

Section 103(b): Require reports on all terrorism. Reports to be shared with DOT.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires the intelligence community to ensure that reports on terrorism are shared with the DOT.

18. STRATEGIC PLANNING

Senate bill

Section 103(c): Require intelligence agencies to establish units for strategic planning on terrorism.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires intelligence agencies to establish units for strategic planning on terrorism.

19. COCKPIT SECURITY

Senate bill

Section 104: FAA shall issue a rule, without notice and comment, permitting only authorized persons to have access to the cockpit, requiring strengthening the door by installing locks and making them rigid, requiring the door to remain locked during flight except when the pilot needs to get out, and taking away the flight attendants key.

Special rules shall be issued for aircraft that do not have a door.

House bill

Section 106: To the extent the Under Secretary considers appropriate, the Under Secretary shall, after consultation with FAA, implement methods to restrict the opening of the cockpit door during flight and fortify those doors.

A report is required in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Funds are authorized to help airlines pay for this.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report prohibits access to the flight deck of passenger aircraft by anyone other than the flight crew. Flight deck doors must be strengthened and remain locked while aircraft is in flight. Video cameras may be provided to alert pilots to cabin activity in the event of a security breech occurring during the flight.

REV_00206160

These provisions apply to aircraft required to have a door between the flight deck and cabin. The Conferees also seek the redesign of cockpits to ensure the doors are secured at all times during flight. Redesign can encompass new flight deck materials, double doors to the cockpit as are used in Israel, and lavatories within the flight deck so that flight crew do not leave the flight deck. Once bathroom facilities are provided for the flight crew of passenger aircraft, the cockpit door no longer will need to be opened during flight.

The Conferees instruct the Under Secretary to take into consideration the threat to aviation and national security when developing means to secure the flight deck on commuter aircraft. Any new burdens should be appropriate for the risk.

20. AIR MARSHALS

Senate bill

Section 105: Attorney General prescribes guidelines for training and deployment of sky marshals. DOT administers the program in accordance with these guidelines:

(1) Marshals may be placed on every flight but must be placed on every flight that DOT determines to be high risk.

(2) Marshals must be deployed in 30 days.

(3) Marshals must be given a seat even if that means bumping a passenger.

(4) DOT shall work with ICAO and foreign governments to address security concerns on foreign airlines.

(5) DOT may use personnel from other agencies, including the military, as air marshals.

Section 105: Waives age requirements for retired police, military and out-of-work pilots to work as air marshals, if they meet the background and fitness qualifications.

Report required in 18 months.

House bill

Section 105: Under Secretary deploys air marshals, provides for their background checks, trains them, and requires U.S. airlines to provide seats for them at no cost.

Preference for hiring laid off airline pilots as marshals.

Marshals must be placed on selected flights.

Marshals must be given a seat even if that means bumping a passenger.

DOT shall work with foreign governments to address security concerns on international flights from the U.S.

Until the Under Secretary has all the air marshals needed, personnel from other agencies may be used, with the other agency's concurrence, as air marshals on a non- reimbursable basis.

Airlines must provide seats, on a space-available basis, to off-duty marshals flying home.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires that appropriately trained, supervised and equipped Federal Air Marshals (FAMs) may be deployed on every scheduled passenger flight, and must be placed on every "high risk" flight, which may include nonstop longhaul flights, or any other flight deemed appropriate, even if the flight is fully booked. For applicants who otherwise meet the background and fitness requirements, age restrictions may be waived to allow retired law enforcement officers, retired members of the armed forces, and members of commercial airline crews who have been furloughed from their positions. Personnel from other agencies may be deployed, with the agency's concurrence, as FAMs until an adequate number of FAMs are in place. Additionally, agreements may be entered into allowing trained law enforcement personnel from other agencies to travel with firearms in order to assist FAMs.

The Conferees instruct the Under Secretary to follow air carrier passenger reservations and cancellation practices to the extent practicable. The Under Secretary should work cooperatively with air carriers to develop guidelines concerning reservations and cancellation for the transportation of Federal Air Marshals.

21. SCREENING

Senate bill

Section 108: Attorney General, in consultation with DOT, shall provide for screening of all passengers, property, mail, and cargo that will be carried aboard an aircraft.

Federal employees shall do screening.

Airport and airline employees shall be screened in the same way, except alternative methods may be used for security personnel.

Attorney General shall use screening technology approved by FAA.

Law enforcement personnel shall be deployed at each screening location.

At the 100 largest airports, additional police may be ordered.

Section 105(f): Report from DOT and DOJ required within 120 days on effectiveness of security screening.

Section 106: DOJ and DOT may permit operational flexibility to tailor screening needs for seasonal variations, aircraft types, and special needs of small airports.

Section 108: Attorney General may require non-hub or smaller airports to use State or local law enforcement if the screening will be equivalent to that at larger airports, the training meets Federal standards, the airport is reimbursed by funds made available by this Act, and the airport is consulted.

House bill

Section 102: Federal government is responsible for screening passengers and property on passenger aircraft that originate in the U.S.. Silent on whether screeners are to be Federal employees or private contractors. Under Secretary shall deputize screeners to enforce Federal laws, but not to arrest people. Screeners must have common uniforms. Must be supervised by uniformed Federal employees.

Section 107: Under Secretary should consider certificating screeners and use TIP or similar technologies to measure their performance and revoke their certification if their performance is inadequate.

Section 104: Airport required to deploy law enforcement or military personnel at each screening location. Law enforcement can be either Federal or local.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires the Federal government to hire, train and deploy Federal screeners, Federal managers, Federal security personnel and Federal law enforcement within 1 year. The participants in this Federal security workforce will not be able to strike or engage in work stoppages, and can be fired at the discretion of the Secretary if they are not able to adequately perform their duties.

The Conferees recognize that, in order to ensure that Federal screeners are able to provide the best security possible, the Secretary must be given wide latitude to determine the terms of employment of screeners. The Conference Committee expects that, in fixing the terms and conditions of employment the Secretary shall establish benefits and conditions of employment. The Conference Committee also recognizes that, in order to hire and retain screeners, the Secretary should also ensure that screeners have access to Federal health, life insurance, and retirement benefits, as well as workers' compensation benefits. The Committee believes that screening personnel must also be given whistleblower protections so that screeners may report security conditions without fear of reprisal.

The Conference Report requires the DOT to assume existing screening company contracts as soon as possible, but no later than 90 days after enactment of this legislation. The contracts for existing screeners can be extended for up to 6 months, and the DOT would have the option to extend contracts for no longer than 3 months, if necessary, to continue screening. DOT may also authorize additional Federal law enforcement, National Guard, and other personnel immediately to address the aviation security needs of the country.

The Conferees direct the Secretary to provide a report after one year from the date of enactment certifying deployment of the Federal screeners. Two years after certification airports can opt out of the Federalization of the screener level of the Federal workforce if the Secretary determines that these facilities would continue to provide an equal or higher level of security. Companies will be barred from providing screening if they violate federal standards, are found to allow repeated failures of the system, or prove to be a security risk. The DOT will also establish a Pilot Program for 5 airports, one from each category type, to apply for the use of private contract screeners.

Within 1 year after the date of enactment of the Act, the conferees expect the Transportation Security Administration to submit a report to the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and the House of Representatives Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure on the screening requirements applicable to passengers boarding, and property being carried aboard, aircraft with 60 seats or less used in scheduled passenger service with recommendations for any necessary changes in those requirements.

22. CITIZENSHIP OF SECURITY FIRMS

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Section 104: Must be owned or controlled by a citizen of the U.S. to the extent the President determines that there are such firms.

REV_00206163

Section 123(e): Similar sense of Congress.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs that U.S. companies should be used to provide screening if they are available.

23. TRAINING OF PILOTS AND FLIGHT ATTENDANTS

Senate bill

Section 105(f): Report from DOT and DOJ required within 6 months on crew training.

Section 107: DOT shall develop a mandatory airline training program for crews dealing with a hijacking. Training shall be developed in coordination with law enforcement experts.

House bill

Section 106: Under Secretary should consider updating training for dealing with hijacking that includes ways for dealing with suicidal hijackers. Report six months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that detailed guidance shall be developed for a mandatory air carrier training program to assist flight crews and attendants in hijack situations. The training curriculum will be developed in consultation with Federal law enforcement agencies with expertise in dealing with these types of threat conditions.

24. HOW FLIGHT ATTENDANTS NOTIFY PILOTS OF A HIJACKING

Senate bill

Section 107: FAA shall revise procedures by which flight attendants notify pilots and implement new measures as soon as practicable.

House bill

Section 106: The Under Secretary should consider requiring the installation of switches in the cabin so that the flight attendants can discreetly notify the pilots.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs the Under Secretary to consider the installation of a switch to be located in the cabin for flight attendants to notify pilots in the event of a hijacking without the knowledge of passengers. or other devices

25. PROVISION OF PERSONNEL FROM OTHER AGENCIES

Senate bill

Section 105: Amends section 106(m) to allow other agencies to provide personnel to FAA.

House bill

Section 102(d): Same provision, worded differently.

Conference substitute

The Conferees call upon other agencies to provide personnel that has received the proper training for use by the FAA as Federal air marshals (FAMs) in an effort to support and supplement ~~that~~ the FAM workforce in its early stages.

26. AIRPORT PERIMETER ACCESS SECURITY

Senate bill

REV_00206164

Section 106: DOT may order deployment of law enforcement personnel as needed to bolster airport security by entering into an agreement with another agency to deploy Federal law enforcement at airports.

Section 106(b): FAA shall provide technical support and financial assistance to small airports to help defray security costs.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have given the Secretary the ability to work with the airports to address potential threats at individual facilities by ordering the deployment of Federal law enforcement authorities to improve airport perimeter and access security in an effort to counter potential criminal activities. Such actions also can include providing increased security at air traffic control facilities. Additionally, the FAA Administrator will develop a plan to provide technical support to enable small- and medium-sized airports to enhance their security operations, and shall include using network digital video surveillance systems.

27. INDIVIDUALS WITH ACCESS TO SECURE AREAS OF THE AIRPORT

Senate bill

See item 21

Section 106(a): DOT, in consultation with ASOC, shall consider whether such individuals should be screened.

Section 106(d): Amend 44903(g)(2) to delete 1/31/01 deadline and beef up language on access control requirements.

Consider deployment of biometric technologies.

Establish pilot programs at 20 airports to test new technologies.

DOT shall require airlines and airports to develop security awareness programs for employees.

Section 211: Within 6 months, DOT shall recommend to airports commercially available ways to prevent access to secure areas. As part of this, DOT shall review effectiveness of biometric and other systems, focus on eliminating piggy-backing, and include a 12-month deployment strategy for currently available technology at Category X airports. Not later than 18 months, DOT shall conduct a review of reductions in unauthorized access.

House bill

Section 106: The Under Secretary shall consider imposing standards for the screening or inspection of vehicles that have access to secure areas and provide for the use of technology to verify the identity of those vehicles entering a secure area. Report after 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that all individuals, goods, property, vehicles, and other equipment seeking access to secure areas must be screened and inspected before entry. The Conference Committee instructs that prescribed requirements should provide at least the same level of protection as the screening of passengers and baggage. The Conferees, however, recognize that these requirements may make allowances for tools and equipment necessary to perform duties in secure areas. The Secretary will examine the physical configuration of individual airports, and consider the views of the TSOB to consider implementing standards to protect the integrity of secure areas.

28. BAN ON PARKING OF VEHICLES WITHIN 300 FEET OF TERMINAL

Senate bill

Section 106(b): FAA, in consultation with local law enforcement, shall reexamine the need for 300 feet restriction.

House bill

Section 121: Removes this parking ban if the airport, in consultation with local law enforcement, certifies to DOT, after doing a threat assessment, that safeguards are in place to protect public safety.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that all airports must consult with local law enforcement and inform DOT that proper safeguards are in place to ensure that parked vehicles are not a security risk. Each airport must submit views regarding its assessment of the needs of their facility.

29. CHECKED BAGGAGE

Senate bill

See item 9

Section 201(b)(1): Requirement for all baggage to be screened within 9 months.

FAA must establish within 60 days confidential goals for scanning a specific percentage of checked bags within 6 months and annual goals thereafter eventually scanning 100%.

Section 201(c) - page 85FAA shall require airlines to upgrade the bag match system. Shall establish goals within 60 days to accomplish this including interim measures to match a higher percentage of bags until bomb detectors are used to scan 100% of bags.

Confidential report to Congress in 1 year.

House bill

See item 9

Section 106: All checked baggage must be screened by December 31, 2003. All existing explosive detection equipment must be used to the maximum extent possible.

Additional explosive detection equipment must be installed as soon as possible.

In the interim, airlines must implement a bag match program.

A system must be in place as soon as possible to screen cargo transported in passenger aircraft.

Section 123(d): Sense of Congress that all checked baggage should be screened by any available means.

Conference substitute

The Conferees feel strongly that all baggage to be placed on passenger flights must be screened. Existing technology, including EDS, should be used and upgraded in an effort to ensure that all checked baggage goes through such a system. Any baggage that does not go through EDS will be required to go through some form of manual or other comparable screening system. An alternate system of screening cargo should also be established, and periodic reports issued to provide an understanding of the progress made on these efforts.

REV_00206166

30. COMPUTER ASSISTED PASSENGER PROFILING SYSTEM (CAPPS)

Senate bill

Section 201(d): FAA shall make all passengers subject to CAPPS even if they don't check bags so that their carry-ons and person will be subject to additional security measures. Report within 3 months.

Section 211: DOT, as part of the ASCC, shall conduct a 90-day review of upgrades to CAPPS and to the distribution of people on the "watch list" of Federal law enforcement agencies. Upgrades shall be deployed in 6 months. A report shall be filed in 18 months.

House bill

Section 106(9): The Under Secretary should consider providing the enhanced use of CAPPS to more effectively screen passengers and carry-on baggage. Report in 6 months and annually thereafter.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that an enhanced and upgraded use of the Computer Assisted Passenger Pre-Screening System (CAPPS) must be considered to more effectively screen passengers and baggage. The Conferees also recognize that adjustments may need to made ~~for~~ to reflect circumstances in some areas of the U.S., including State with unique transportation needs.

31. DEPUTIZING FOR ENFORCEMENT OF FEDERAL SECURITY LAWS

Senate bill

Section 108(b): Requires Attorney General to deputize State and local law enforcement to regulate screening at non-hubs.

Requires 40 hours of classroom training and 60 hours of on the job training. Current lists of dual use items (seemingly harmless items that could be used as a weapon) shall be part of the training. Section 104 - page 16

House bill

Under Secretary may set minimum pay for screeners. Preference shall be given to veterans in the hiring of screeners and laid ~~for~~ off airline workers. Section 109(d): Notwithstanding any law, the Attorney General may hire, fire, and pay screeners as he determines necessary.

House bill

Section 102: Federal supervisor can order the dismissal of any screener.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report provides the Under Secretary the authority to employ, terminate and fix the conditions of employment for the Federal screening workforce.

35. STRIKES BY SCREENERS

Senate bill

Section 109(e): Strikes prohibited pursuant to Title 5.

House bill

Section 102: Strikes prohibited.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report directs that the airport screening workforce will be prohibited from striking. The Conferees have provided the Transportation Security Administration authority to utilize existing authority provided to the FAA to develop personnel and acquisition systems. The authority gives the Administration flexibility to design its own policies and procedures and not use the FAA's system, while retaining the legal requirements under sections 40110 and 40112.

36. BACKGROUND CHECKS

Senate bill

Section 109(f): Requires background checks for current screeners and others with access to the airport.

Section 201(a): Requires background checks for current screeners and others to be completed in 9 months unless the person has had such a check in the past 5 years. Alternative checks shall be developed for those who have lived in the U.S. for less than 5 years.

House bill

Section 107: Allows smaller airports to use the same expedited procedures for criminal history background checks as the larger airports now use. (Under the 2000 Security Act these expedited procedures do not go into effect at smaller airports until 2003.)

areas except for those who have already had such a check or those who are exempted by FAA rules from such checks.

Conference substitute

A blend of the House and Senate provisions.

The Conferees encourage the Under Secretary to provide channeling authority to professional organizations representing industry to FBI AFIS fingerprint databases to perform criminal history verification of aviation business employees. (5)

37. RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

Senate bill

Section 110: Amends section 44912 to require periodic reviews of threats to civil aviation and the potential for the release of biological and chemical weapons. A person shall be designated to be responsible for security research. The person shall file an annual report on research activities. A scientific advisory panel shall be established. DOT shall coordinate research with DOJ.

Section 221: Authorizes $50 million per year to research various security technologies.

House bill

Section 101: Transfers security research from FAA to the TSA. The TSA can use FAA research facilities.

Conference substitute

A modified version of the Senate provision.

38. FLIGHT SCHOOLS

Senate bill

Section 111: Regarding jet-propelled aircraft, a person shall not give flight instruction, including instruction in simulator, to an alien (or other person specified by DOT) unless DOJ issues that person a certificate of completion of the background check of the alien. Requests for the background check shall be made jointly by the alien and the flight school. Investigation must be completed in 30 days. Investigation includes fingerprint check, immigration check, and a determination of whether alien in a national security risk. Expedited procedures shall be developed for an alien seeking recurrent training. Penalties for violations shall be developed by DOT rulemaking. Flight schools shall report aliens that they train.

Section 111(c): DOT and State shall work with ICAO to improve screening of student pilots.

House bill

Section 106(13): The Under Secretary should consider requiring background checks on individuals seeking flying lessons (including simulator lessons) on aircraft weighing more than 12,500 pounds. Report in 6 months and annually thereafter until the Under Secretary implements the checks or decides not to require them.

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that flight school training for aircraft with a minimum certificated weight of 12,500 pounds or more should not be allowed for any alien within the United States unless they have passed a sufficient background check. Such individuals seeking to attend flight school may begin pilot training after 45 days or upon being certified as having passed a background investigation regarding their criminal history and immigration status. A security awareness program will be developed to assist employees that work at flight schools by helping to increase their awareness of a potential threat.

39. PENALTIES

Senate bill

Section 114: Imposes criminal penalties for interfering with security personnel at a commercial service airport.

House bill

Section 116(c): Transfers the relevant civil penalty authorities from the FAA to the TSA.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report requires that an individual who disrupts the duties of security screening personnel within a commercial service airport shall be fined and/or imprisoned for up to 10 years. The use of a dangerous weapon to interfere with security screening may result in up to life imprisonment.

40. INTRASTATE AIR SERVICE

Senate bill

Section 116: DOT may grant antitrust exemptions to ensure continued viability of air service in that State.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that DOT may grant anti-trust immunity to ensure continued viability of air service within a state. If the Secretary approves any such request, a report must be given to the relevant Senate and House Committees within six months of the approval describing what actions have been taken by the carriers receiving the exemption.

41. AIRLINE COMPUTER RESERVATION SYSTEMS

Senate bill

Section 117: DOT shall require all airlines to use the best technology to ensure that their systems are secure from unauthorized access. DOT shall submit an annual report on compliance.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

Under the direction of the Conference Report airlines are required to take action that will prevent unauthorized access to computer reservation systems and the information they contain on passengers. Technology should be utilized to the greatest extent possible to ensure the integrity of these systems.

42. FEES

Senate bill

Section 118(a): Within 180 days, airlines remit a $2.50 fee per enplanement.

House bill

Section 108: Under Secretary shall impose a fee of not more than $2.50 per one-way trip. The amount of the fee shall be reasonably related to the costs of providing the screening service. In addition, a fee can be imposed directly on the airlines but it cannot be more than the airlines paid for screening services in 2000. Fees shall be credited as off-setting collections. Passengers using airports where screening services are not provided may be exempted from the fee.

Conference substitute

The Conference substitute requires a fee to be charged to cover the cost of providing the aviation security services. The fee will be based on the number of times a passenger boards a plane during the course of travel, but will be capped at $5.00 per one-way trip. Any additional funds needed will be authorized to be appropriated or may come from a fee imposed directly on the airlines.

The Secretary may waive or modify the security fee to take into account the isolation of certain communities. In determining whether to waive or modify this fee, the Secretary shall consider the costs of transportation security and the benefits of transportation security that is bestowed on those communities.The Conference substitute amends section 45301(b) of title 49, United States Code, with respect to limitations on overflight fees to (1) to make the language consistent with the new security fee language of this Act, and (2) to clarify Congressional intent with respect to the FAA costs upon which the fees can be based. Specifically, the conference substitute replaces the word "directly" with "reasonably", since the word "directly" has been a source of much confusion and narrow interpretation, and has been a primary cause of recurring litigation which has frustrated and delayed the FAA's imposition of the overflight fees for a number of years. Additionally, this amendment specifies that the FAA's costs upon which the fees are based are to be determined solely by the Administrator. This is to clarify that the Administrator has full authority to determine costs by appropriate means. This amendment is not intended to require revision of the fees recently promulgated by the FAA (66 FR 43680, Aug. 20. 2001) but rather, to clarify longstanding Congressional intent that the FAA expeditiously and continuously collect the fees authorized under section 45301(a) of title 49.

43. AUTHORIZATION

Senate bill

Section 118(b): Authorizes such sums for the next 3 years as may be necessary to carry out the security functions.

House bill

Section 109: Authorizes such sums as may be necessary to the TSA for operating costs and for screening services not covered by the above fee.

Authorizes $500 million for grants to airlines to fortify cockpit doors, install video monitors to view the passenger cabin, ensure continuous operation of transponder, and use of other technologies.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report authorizes the necessary spending for the cost of providing aviation security.

44. AIRPORT FUNDING

Senate bill

REV_00206171

Section 119(a): Allows AIP and PFC funds to be used to pay security costs in FY 2002 for any cost incurred after 9/11 regardless of when it was incurred. Waives the local matching share. In deciding whether to make a discretionary AIP grant for security costs, the availability and use of non-Federal funding by the airport shall be considered.

Section 120: Authorizes such sums in 2002 to compensate airports for security costs. Costs must be documented and subject to an IG audit. DOT shall publish procedures for filing claims in 30 days.

Section 119(c): PFC requests for security funding should be expedited.

Section 119(b): For the purpose of determining AIP entitlements in FY 2003, enplanements in 2000 or 2001, whichever is higher, shall be used.

Section 201(b): Modifying terminal and baggage systems in order to install bomb detection equipment is made AIP eligible.Section 113: Allows AIP and PFC funds to be used to pay for added law enforcement costs in at a non-hub or small hub airport regardless of when the cost was incurred.

Waives the local matching share.

In FY 2002, allows AIP and PFC money to be used to pay debt service if that would prevent an airport, or privately owned terminal, from defaulting on its bond.

House bill

Section 109: Authorizes a total of $1.5 billion in 2002 and 2003 to reimburse airports for direct costs they incurred to meet new security requirements. Such sums to remain available until expended. Before getting the money, the airport must agree to meet with its concessionaires to discuss rent adjustments and provide an itemized list of costs incurred.

Conference substitute

A blend of the House and Senate provisions.

House bill

Section 106: DOT cannot take any action to prevent a pilot from taking a gun into the cockpit if the policy of the airline allows it and the pilot has completed a training program acceptable to the Under Secretary.

Conference substitute

A pilot is authorized to carry an approved firearm into the cockpit if approved by the Under Secretary and the air carrier, and the pilot has received proper training.

48. ISOLATED COMMUNITIES

Senate bill

Section 123: During an emergency, DOT, after consulting with the ASCC, may grant waivers on flight restrictions to allow flights carrying freight, mail, patients, and medical supplies to areas with extraordinary transportation needs given isolation of the area and if the waiver is in the public interest.

House bill

Section 120: Similar provision but worded differently.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report instructs that during an emergency DOT may grant waivers on flight restrictions to areas with extraordinary transportation needs.

49. SUPPLIES ON BOARD AIRCRAFT

Senate bill

Section 124: DOT shall ensure the safety of food and other supplies on aircraft by sealing packages, screening personnel and vehicles, etc.

House bill

See item 27

Conference substitute

The Conferees have determined that DOT should establish procedures to ensure the safety and security of on-board supplies for intrastate passenger aircraft. The Secretary will establish procedures that may increase security for the point of origin of the supplier, provide for sealed supplies, and the screening of the supplies as they enter the airport.

50. AIRMAN REGISTRY

Senate bill

Section 126: Directs FAA to modify the registry to make it more effective in combating terrorism. FAA should work with State and locals to assist in identifying those applying for or holding airmen certificates.

52. RESULTS-BASED MANAGEMENT

Senate bill

Section 127: With 60 days, DOT shall establish acceptable performance levels for aviation security and provide Congress with an action plan clarifying the responsibilities of the government agencies involved. Each year, a performance plan shall be made available. Any contracts to implement this Act shall try to maximize the use of performance based service contracts.

55. AIRSPACE RESTRICTIONS

Senate bill

Section 129: President shall submit a report within 30 days describing any airspace restrictions that remain in place and the justification for those restrictions.

House bill

Section 119: The restrictions on Class B airspace shall cease to be in effect 10 days after enactment unless a notice is published prior to the 10th day reimposing and explaining the reasons for those restrictions.

Conference substitute

The Conferees instruct the Secretary to lift restrictions on Class B airspace under specified requirements.

56. VOLUNTEERS

Senate bill

Section 130: DOT shall carry out a program to permit police, firefighters, and paramedics to provide emergency services during flight. Exempts from liability those who help in an emergency. This does not authorize the possession of firearms.

Senate bill

Section 131: FAA shall begin a security program for aircraft over 12,500 pounds within 90 days. Waivers from this requirement can be granted. A security program for smaller aircraft shall begin in 1 year. A report shall be filed in 18 months.

Aircraft may not be sold or leased to an alien unless a background check has been done or until the security programs described above are implemented.

House bill

No provision.

Conference substitute

The Conference report directs the Secretary to provide Congress a report on improving general aviation security in the United States within 3 months of enactment of the legislation.

The Conferees note that a number of issues on aviation security research merit the prompt attention of the Department of Transportation. In particular, the Conferees observe that research into providing better security with minimal disruption in the system in the area of general aviation is important.

The Conferees note that the FAA has recently designated a consortium of schools as a general aviation center of excellence and anticipates that the FAA would draw upon the expertise of these institutions in formulating a security program for general aviation.

The Conferees also note that NASA, in coordination with the DOT, is investigating technology that would facilitate remote screening of small aircraft prior to takeoff.

Such a general aviation remote screening system (GARSS) could be installed on a vehicle or mobile platform, or in a fixed facility alongside a taxiway, and would provide a pre-takeoff alert if suspicious objects or materials were detected aboard an aircraft.

The Conferees urge that the development and implementation of GARSS be pursued.

59. FUNDING FOR GENERAL AVIATION AIRPORTS

Senate bill

No provision.

House bill

Section 114: Amends the Airline Stabilization Act to modify the method for distributing compensation to air ambulances.

Conference substitute

The Conference Report amends the Airline Stabilization Act to allow for a modified system of providing compensation to air tour operators and air ambulances to better address their needs after industry wide losses. It is the Conferees' position that the Stabilization Act's section 103 compensation formula language, "revenue ton miles or any other auditable measure" should be broadly construed and should not restrict compensation exclusively to Revenue for Miles reported on previously filed DOT Form 41s. If Air, Crew, Maintenance, Insurance lessors can provide accurate and auditable records of their revenue for miles during the relevant time period, then they should be eligible for compensation based under the Stabilization Act.

67. PASSENGERS WHO BOUGHT TICKETS ON BANKRUPT AIRLINES

Conference substitute

Conference substitute
The Conferees encourage the Congress to pass legislation quickly to restructure the United States Postal Service's process of tendering non-priority bypass mail with the State of Alaska. Restructuring this program to direct more carriers to convert to 121 passenger operators will improve the safety of air transportation in Alaska and enhance the security of passengers.

73. VICTIMS COMPENSATION

Senate bill
No provision.
House bill
Title II:
Conference substitute
The Conference substitute extends the liability limitations of the Air Transportation Stabilization Act to aircraft manufacturers, State port authorities, owners and operators of airports, and persons with property interests in the World Trade Center.
These provisions limit liability under the Act to the maximum level of their insurance coverage.

Any person with a property interest in the World Trade Center, as a condition to receiving liability protection under the Act, is required to satisfy all contractual obligations to rebuild or assist in the rebuilding of the World Trade Center.

The Conference substitute also limits the liability for all claims arising from the terrorist-related attacks of September 11, 2001, brought against the City of New York to the greater of the City's insurance coverage or $350,000,000.

This limitation on damages against the City of New York, however, does not apply to any non-government or private entity that is contracted with the City.

The Conference substitute also excludes entities primarily engaged in the business of airport security from its limitation on liability.

SEC. 121. SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.

It is the sense of the Congress that—

(1) an airport receiving Federal financial assistance should meet with the tenants of the airport (other than air carriers and foreign air carriers) to discuss adjustments of the rent of the tenants to account for losses in revenue incurred by the tenants on and after September 11, 2001; and

(2) an air carrier that received financial assistance under the Air Transportation Safety and System Stabilization Act or under title 49, United States Code, since September 11, 2001, should meet with airport operators to discuss adjustments in rates, charges, and fees.

SEC. 113. AIRPORT IMPROVEMENT PROGRAMS.

Yesterday, a very serious issue related to the Tobbaco Convention was brought to my attention. As currently drafted, this convention would, under the State Department's view of the treaty power, require Congress to either (1) pass a federal law banning smoking in all public and private buildings -- which, absent a treaty, Congress probably could not do under the Lopez and Morrison cases; or (2) pass a federal law requiring the States to pass laws banning smoking in all public and private buildings -- which, absent a treaty, Congress certainly could not do under the Printz and New York anti-commandeering cases. Most individuals involved in this Convention are not aware of this implication, as they have assumed that the Convention's federalism clause would leave it to the States to decide whether to implement the Convention. As I explain below, if the State Department's view of the treaty power (which we have now discussed in a variety of contexts) is correct, this is not true.

The Tobbaco Convention, for which the second round of negotiations will begin on Thursday of this week, would essentially require all signatory countries to ban smoking in, among other places, all public and private buildings. It currently contains the following federalism clause, which was proposed by the United States back in March:

"recognizing that a state party which is a federal state shall be required to assume obligations under this Convention consistent with the fundamental principles of the legal system governing the relationship between its national government and constituent units, implementation of legislation and other effective measures at the appropriate level: [The specific prohibitions are then enumerated]"

Under the State Department's view of federalism principles and the treaty power, however, this clause is meaningless. The State Department has taken the position that when a treaty calls for certain laws, Congress may enact those laws even if, absent the treaty, Congress would be without power to do so. Thus, if a treaty requires that smoking be banned in all restaurants, such prohibition at the federal level would be wholly "consistent with the fundamental principles of the legal system governing the relationship between its national government and constituent units" -- even if, absent the treaty, such prohibition would not be so consistent.

In short, notwithstanding this federalism clause, under the State Department's view of the treaty power, the United States would be obligated to implement the prohibitions of this treaty at the federal level.

In light of this, I believe that the Clause MUST be amended along the following lines:

"recognizing that if a state party is a federal state, then implemtation of this treaty will depend upon whether the constituent units of the federal state, in their sole discretion and consistent with their own legal authorities, decide to adopt the prohibitions listed below, implementation of legislation and other effective measures at the appropriate level: [The specific prohibitions are then enumerated]"

Yesterday, I raised this issue in a conference call that included Garry Malphrus of DPC and Duncan Holland and David Sullivan of the State Department Legal Advisor's Office. Neither Duncan nor David disagreed with my analysis of the federalism clause under the State Department's view of the Constitution.

Duncan Holland, however, stated (1) that the specific text of the federalism clause would almost certainly not arise in the negotiations set to begin on Thursday (though the general issue of whether to include a federalism clause at all could), (2) there was not now time to reword the clause in advance of Thursday's negotiations, (3) we will probably only have one opportunity to renegotiate the wording of the federalism clause and, therefore, we should wait to do it until we have time to have a fuller discussion of the issue, but (4) there would be time to reword the clause before the negotiations are concluded. He then suggested that in light of all of this, the issue be resolved at a later date.

In light of his representations, I agreed to his proposal based upon the following condition: That our negotiaters be placed under strict injunction not to represent the current federalism language as language satisfactory to the United States. Duncan agreed to this condition.

As the length of this e-mail makes clear, this is an extraordinarily important issue, and not just from a federalism perspective. Unless the federalism clause is redrafted, this Administration could be put in the position of advocating a treaty that, in the State Department's view, requires a federal ban on smoking in all public and private buildings. Moreover, I do not think that people here are generally aware of this, as I think that they believe that the federalism clause, as currently drafted, means that the States have the discretion to implement the treaty's requirements. As I have explained, were one to accept the State Department's view of the treaty power, this is not true.

Yesterday, a very serious issue related to the Tobbaco Convention was brought to my attention. As currently drafted, this convention would, under the State Department's view of the treaty power, require Congress to either (1) pass a federal law banning smoking in all public and private buildings -- which, absent a treaty, Congress probably could not do under the Lopez and Morrison cases; or (2) pass a federal law requiring the States to pass laws banning smoking in all public and private buildings -- which, absent a treaty, Congress certainly could not do under the Printz and New York anti-commandeering cases. Most individuals involved in this Convention are not aware of this implication, as they have assumed that the Convention's federalism clause would leave it to the States to decide whether to implement the Convention. As I explain below, if the State Department's view of the treaty power (which we have now discussed in a variety of contexts) is correct, this is not true.

I second Noel's concerns, and I have expressed my own concerns about some of the limits on advertising in the proposed convention as well.

Subject: Tobbaco Convention: VERY IMPORTANT ISSUE

Yesterday, a very serious issue related to the Tobbaco Convention was brought to my attention. As currently drafted, this convention would, under the State Department's view of the treaty power, require Congress to either (1) pass a federal law banning smoking in all public and private buildings -- which, absent a treaty, Congress probably could not do under the Lopez and Morrison cases; or (2) pass a federal law requiring the States to pass laws banning smoking in all public and private buildings -- which, absent a treaty, Congress certainly could not do under the Printz and New York anti-commandeering cases. Most individuals involved in this Convention are not aware of this implication, as they have assumed that the Convention's federalism clause would leave it to the States to decide whether to implement the Convention. As I explain below, if the State Department's view of the treaty power (which we have now discussed in a variety of contexts) is correct, this is not true.

The Tobbaco Convention, for which the second round of negotiations will begin on Thursday of this week, would essentially require all signatory countries to ban smoking in, among other places, all public and private buildings. It currently contains the following federalism clause, which was proposed by the United States back in March:

"recognizing that a state party which is a federal state shall be required to assume obligations under this Convention consistent with the fundamental principles of the legal system governing the relationship between its national government and constituent units, implementation of legislation and other effective measures at the appropriate level: [The specific prohibitions are then enumerated]"

Under the State Department's view of federalism principles and the treaty power, however, this clause is meaningless. The State Department has taken the position that when a treaty calls for certain laws, Congress may enact those laws even if, absent the treaty, Congress would be without power to do so. Thus, if a treaty requires that smoking be banned in all restaurants, such prohibition at the federal level would be wholly "consistent with the fundamental principles of the legal system governing the relationship between its national government and constituent units" -- even if, absent the treaty, such prohibition would not be so consistent.

In short, notwithstanding this federalism clause, under the State Department's view of the treaty power, the United States would be obligated to implement the prohibitions of this treaty at the federal level.

In light of this, I believe that the Clause MUST be amended along the following lines:

"recognizing that if a state party is a federal state, then implemtation of this treaty will depend upon whether the constituent units of the federal state, in their sole discretion and consistent with their own legal authorities, decide to adopt the prohibitions listed below, implementation of legislation and other effective measures at the appropriate level: [The specific prohibitions are then enumerated]"

Yesterday, I raised this issue in a conference call that included Garry Malphrus of DPC and Duncan Holland and David Sullivan of the State Department Legal Advisor's Office. Neither Duncan nor David disagreed with my analysis of the federalism clause under the State Department's view of the Constitution.

Duncan Holland, however, stated (1) that the specific text of the federalism clause would almost certainly not arise in the negotiations set to begin on Thursday (though the general issue of whether to include a federalism clause at all could), (2) there was not now time to reword the clause in advance of Thursday's negotiations, (3) we will probably only have one opportunity to renegotiate the wording of the federalism clause and, therefore, we should wait to do it until we have time to have a fuller discussion of the issue, but (4) there would be time to reword the clause before the negotiations are concluded. He then suggested that in light of all of this, the issue be resolved at a later date.

In light of his representations, I agreed to his proposal based upon the following condition: That our negotiaters be placed under strict injunction not to represent the current federalism language as language satisfactory to the United States. Duncan agreed to this condition.

As the length of this e-mail makes clear, this is an extraordinarily important issue, and not just from a federalism perspective. Unless the federalism clause is redrafted, this Administration could be put in the position of advocating a treaty that, in the State Department's view, requires a federal ban on smoking in all public and private buildings. Moreover, I do not think that people here are generally aware of this, as I think that they believe that the federalism clause, as currently drafted, means that the States have the discretion to implement the treaty's requirements. As I have explained, were one to accept the State Department's view of the treaty power, this is not true.

Message

Charitable Giving

- Since September 11th, America's charities have stood by America. After the September 11th attacks we have seen the best of America – particularly a tremendous outpouring of giving. Relief organizations received more than 1 billion dollars from concerned citizens.
- But many charities not directly involved in the relief effort have seen their donations fall. During this season of giving we should all dig a little deeper – if possible – to help the organizations that are helping our neighbors.

Humanitarian Assistance

- The U.S. is committed to helping alleviate the suffering of the innocent Afghan people affected by the long-standing dire humanitarian situation in Afghanistan.
- The U.S. has provided more aid than any other country. In fact, the U.S. has supported the Afghan people for decades, providing over $1 billion in humanitarian assistance to Afghanistan since 1979.
- According to U.N. estimates, there were over a million displaced people in Afghanistan prior to September 11. The U.S. and its partners in the Central Asia region are working around the clock to move food and relief supplies into Afghanistan from surrounding countries, positioning it directly where it will be needed most as harsh winter weather approaches.

President Urges Support for America's Charities

TODAY'S ACTION

- During a visit to a local charity, President Bush called on Americans to support charities of all kinds, especially during the holiday season. The Corporation for National and Community Service website (www.nationalservice.org) has been updated to provide information for all Americans who are interested in supporting a charity – either with financial support or by volunteering.

- The President also announced more than $1 billion in new grants to help the homeless through the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

- The President encouraged Congress to pass legislation enacting his Armies of Compassion initiative to significantly expand incentives for charitable giving, provide equal treatment for non-governmental organizations and support those Americans most in need.

BACKGROUND ON THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT

- The President visited So Others Might Eat, a Washington, DC interfaith charity that provides food, medical, rehabilitative and other assistance to the homeless. The President met with the group's volunteers, who help to serve more than 300,000 meals per year to the homeless.

- To support efforts by community organizations to aid the homeless, the President announced more than $1 billion in grants through the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The grants, part of HUD's Continuum of Care and Emergency Shelter Grant programs, will help the homeless to find emergency shelter, transitional housing and a permanent home. These funds will go to state and local governments and non-profit organizations in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands and Guam.

- The President's Armies of Compassion initiative is designed to improve the federal government's efforts to support and encourage the good work of community-based non-profits. Many of America's charities have been hit hard in the aftermath of September 11 due to the effects of a weakened economy. A recent survey by the Independent Sector found that 48% of Americans will reduce their charitable giving in the next six months if the economic slowdown worsens. The survey also found that 26% of Americans will stop giving or reduce the size of their donations to the charities they normally support due to their recent donation to September 11-related charitable causes.

- For many of the nonprofits providing vital, ongoing services to our communities, a 25% reduction in contributions during the most significant fund-raising period of the year would force the reduction or even elimination of services to some of our neediest individuals and families.

- President Bush wants to expand the resources available to charities of all kinds by making it easier for individuals, businesses and other organizations to donate money and resources to charitable organizations nationwide. The House of Representatives has already passed bipartisan legislation to support these efforts – and leading Senators are preparing to introduce an Armies of Compassion bill.

- The Armies of Compassion initiative includes:

  (1) Programs aimed at increasing charitable giving through tax incentives.

  - Allow individuals to make tax-free distributions from their IRAs to charities;
  - Provide enhanced deductions for farmers and restaurants to donate food to food banks; and
  - Allow an estimated 84 million taxpayers who do not itemize to deduct their charitable contributions;

  (2) Equal treatment for all non-governmental organizations – sacred or secular.

  - Require non-discrimination against non-governmental organizations based on religious grounds, including religious iconography, governance, and experience with government contracts;
  - Create 501(c)3 "EZ Pass" process so community-based groups can get tax-deductible status more easily; and
  - Establish a Compassion Capital Fund to educate and empower community-based organizations.

  (3) Other initiatives supporting vulnerable populations.

  - Mentoring for children of prisoners; and
  - Maternity group homes, principally for teenage unwed mothers.

TODAY'S ACTION

- During a visit to a local charity, President Bush called on Americans to support charities of all kinds, especially during the holiday season. The Corporation for National and Community Service website (www.nationalservice.org) has been updated to provide information for all Americans who are interested in supporting a charity – either with financial support or by volunteering.

- The President also announced more than $1 billion in new grants to help the homeless through the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

- The President encouraged Congress to pass legislation enacting his Armies of Compassion initiative to significantly expand incentives for charitable giving, provide equal treatment for non-governmental organizations and support those Americans most in need.

BACKGROUND ON THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT

- The President visited So Others Might Eat, a Washington, DC interfaith charity that provides food, medical, rehabilitative and other assistance to the homeless. The President met with the group's volunteers, who help to serve more than 300,000 meals per year to the homeless.

- To support efforts by community organizations to aid the homeless, the President announced more than $1 billion in grants through the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The grants, part of HUD's Continuum of Care and Emergency Shelter Grant programs, will help the homeless to find emergency shelter, transitional housing and a permanent home. These funds will go to state and local governments and non-profit organizations in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands and Guam.

- The President's Armies of Compassion initiative is designed to improve the federal government's efforts to support and encourage the good work of community-based non-profits. Many of America's charities have been hit hard in the aftermath of September 11 due to the effects of a weakened economy. A recent survey by the Independent Sector found that 48% of Americans will reduce their charitable giving in the next six months if the economic slowdown worsens. The survey also found that 26% of Americans will stop giving or reduce the size of their donations to the charities they normally support due to their recent donation to September 11-related charitable causes.

- For many of the nonprofits providing vital, ongoing services to our communities, a 25% reduction in contributions during the most significant fund-raising period of the year would force the reduction or even elimination of services to some of our neediest individuals and families.

- President Bush wants to expand the resources available to charities of all kinds by making it easier for individuals, businesses and other organizations to donate money and resources to charitable organizations nationwide. The House of Representatives has already passed bipartisan legislation to support these efforts – and leading Senators are preparing to introduce an Armies of Compassion bill.

- The Armies of Compassion initiative includes:

  (1) Programs aimed at increasing charitable giving through tax incentives.

  - Allow individuals to make tax-free distributions from their IRAs to charities;
  - Provide enhanced deductions for farmers and restaurants to donate food to food banks; and
  - Allow an estimated 84 million taxpayers who do not itemize to deduct their charitable contributions;

  (2) Equal treatment for all non-governmental organizations – sacred or secular.

  - Require non-discrimination against non-governmental organizations based on religious grounds, including religious iconography, governance, and experience with government contracts;
  - Create 501(c)3 "EZ Pass" process so community-based groups can get tax-deductible status more easily; and
  - Establish a Compassion Capital Fund to educate and empower community-based organizations.

  (3) Other initiatives supporting vulnerable populations.

  - Mentoring for children of prisoners; and
  - Maternity group homes, principally for teenage unwed mothers.

Wash Times editorial:

EDITORIAL * November 21, 2001 Sen. Leahy's judicial hostages As the nation gathers itself into family and community circles to give thanks for a bounty of freedom and plenty, it behooves us all to remember the helpless among us, those who languish outside the corridors of power, their voices unheard. We refer today to the 46 men and women President Bush has tapped for the federal bench whose nominations effectively remain hostage to a pernicious strain of politicking. Who would have imagined, back in the spring, that the honor of being nominated could have brought American citizens so low? But low they have been brought, consigned to a limbo of neglect by none other than Mr. Partisan Politics Himself, Senate Judiciary Chairman Patrick Leahy. Day after day, week after week, month after month, these nominees have had to hang in a state of unjustifiable bafflement: Will Chairman Patrick Leahy ever allow their nominations to be voted out of committee? Indeed, will the voices of the 36 nominees who have yet to come before the committee even be heard? It doesn't have to be this way. In fact, given the records of the last three administrations, it never has been. By the end of their first years in office, Ronald Reagan, George Bush (the father) and Bill Clinton saw, respectively, 100 percent, 89 percent and 88 percent of their federal judicial nominees win Senate confirmation. As the end of George W. Bush's first year approaches, only 28 percent of his nominees have been confirmed. Considering that 101, or 11.8 percent, of the seats on the federal bench are now empty - with 20 of those vacancies considered "judicial emergencies" - this meager confirmation rate is a crisis in the making. As one senator facing a considerably smaller vacancy rate put it in 1998, "Any week in which the Senate does not confirm three judges is a week in which the Senate is failing to address the vacancy crisis." These are wise words, indeed. Mr. Leahy in particular should take note of them. In fact, they came from Mr. Leahy himself. Below is a list of Mr. Bush's circuit and district court nominees. We invite all Americans to take this opportunity to include these fellow citizens in their thoughts to wish them a speedy release from the Senate Judiciary Committee. Americans Held Hostage: (since May) Terrence W. Boyle; Deborah L. Cook; Miguel A. Estrada; Jeffrey R. Howard; Michael W. McConnell; Terrence O'Brien; Priscilla Richman Owen; Charles W. Pickering Sr; John G. Roberts Jr.; Dennis W. Shedd; Lavenski R. Smith; Jeffrey S. Sutton; Timothy M. Tymkovich; (since June) John Bates; Paul G. Cassell; Richard R. Clifton; Harris Hartz; Carolyn Kuhl; (since July) Michael Malloy; (since August) David L. Bunning; David C. Burie; Kurt D. Englehardt; Callie Granade; James E. Gritzner; Joe L. Heaton; William P. Johnson; Terrence O'Brien; Danny C. Reeves; Virginia Smith; (since September) Robert E. Blackburn; Robert Randall Crane; Marcia S. Krieger; Clay D. Land; James C. Mahan Sr.; Julie Robinson; David Brooks Smith; (since October) Julia Smith Gibbons; Philip R. Martinez; C. Ashley Royal; William H. Steele; Jay C. Zainey; (new hostages) Ralph R. Beistline; Cindy K. Jorgenson; David McKeague; Susan Bieke Neilson; Henry A. Saad. You might say their freedom lies in Mr. Leahy's hands - a fact that is food for thought on this Thanksgiving eve.

Hope you all are doing well.

I was hoping you might be good enough to consider helping me get 5 minutes with Jay Lefkowtiz. I would like for him to meet my father, Dr. F.D. Cooney
MD. He has applied for a position on the Kass Commission. Brett, as you know, he is a very respected neurosurgeon here in town. Tim, you may not know him but he is a great. He is my idol.

Attached is his CV. He has applied online at the White House and has had a few letters of support already written on his behalf. These include letters from Sen. Hatch, Sen Gordon Smith, and Sen. Hatfield. Kyle Sampson has been helpful and put me in contact with Rebecca Contreras.

Although there are hundreds of applicants, if given the opportunity, I know he will serve the Commission well. He's had to make the life and death decisions none of us ever want to make. He's saved lives and he has seen lives slip through his fingers due to the real limits that exist in the areas of medicine and treatment. He's a great man who can bring a respected practitioner's and neurosurgical academic's perspective to the Commission. He is willing to devote a significant amount of time to the Commission. Alex Azar, Bob Bittman, Sen. Hatch, and many others would speak very highly of him if asked to comment.

Can either of you help me here?

is a copy of an ad that will run in this Monday's edition of Roll Call. I hope the ad is helpful (along with our grass roots outreach efforts) in persuading Congress to enact a meaningful bill before it adjourns. Thanks again for your hard work on this core issue, and I hope you have a good

CONGRESS MUST ACT NOW TO MAINTAIN THE AVAILABILITY OF TERRORISM INSURANCE COVERAGE.

Unless Congress acts before it adjourns, the nation's economy will likely face severe disruption because of the disappearance of affordable, comprehensive terrorism insurance for businesses and commercial and residential properties. We urge the House to quickly pass H.R.3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act, and urge the Senate to approve comparable legislation. We suggest that all Members of Congress consider the following in crafting any legislative package:

- The insurance program must be of sufficient duration to provide stability to the real estate and financial markets.
- The insurance plan must contain a system to ensure that all businesses and commercial properties are covered, including those in high-risk, high-visibility locations.
- As in the recent airport security legislation, Congress should consider appropriate litigation safeguards to benefit the victims of a terrorist attack.

Without Federal action, the essential lubricant for our economic engine will be dry and the ability to finance, construct, buy or sell properties across the nation may be at risk.

Subject: TNT piece on judicial nominations. FYI.

One main inaccuracy in the piece. The demand to the Senators in our final offer was that they support any candidate who emerged from the bipartisan committee with a majority vote. The piece just says the demand was that they support Bush's choice. She also left out all of the background we gave her. We'll be following up this morning...

ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS FOR GOVERNOR CARLIN

1. Pursuant to former Executive Order 12667, you notified former President Reagan and incumbent President Bush earlier this year of your intentions to release about 68,000 pages of Reagan records. (We understand that you sent one notice in February and another notice in June.) Please provide the subcommittee copies of these notices.

A: NARA's communications with the former and current Presidents concerning the review of records that may be subject to constitutionally based privileges has always been deemed sensitive, deliberative, and confidential, and NARA has never made such information available to outside parties. Accordingly, NARA does not believe it is appropriate to provide these notices to the Committee.

2. Section 2 of Executive Order 12667 required that, when giving notice, "the Archivist, utilizing any guidelines provided by the incumbent and former Presidents, shall identify any specific materials, the disclosure of which he believes may raise a substantial question of Executive privilege." Did your notices for the Reagan records identify any such materials? If so, please briefly describe what substantial questions of Executive privilege you identified.

A: NARA's communications with the former and current Presidents concerning the review of records that may be subject to constitutionally based privileges has always been deemed sensitive, deliberative, and confidential, and NARA has never made such information available to outside parties. Accordingly, NARA does not believe it is appropriate to provide these notices to the Committee.

3. To your knowledge, had former President Reagan's representatives completed or largely completed their review of these records under Executive Order 12667 before this Executive Order was revoked on November 1?

A: Former President Reagan's representatives have conducted a preliminary review of the records subject to the two notices, but had not completed a final review prior to November 1, 2001.

4. Did the Reagan representatives request any extensions of the 30-day time limit under Executive Order 12667?

A: No.

5. Did they object to release of any of the 68,000 pages of records within the 30-day time period under Executive Order 12667 or at any time thereafter?

A: Former President Reagan's representatives have not completed a final review, and therefore have not raised any objections.

REV_00206427

6. Have they given you any indication whether they planned to object to release of any records under the terms of the Executive Order?

A: Because former President Reagan's representatives have not completed a final review, they have not indicated whether they intend to raise any objections.

7. You suggested in your testimony that the Reagan representatives might have to re-review the records under President Bush's new Executive Order 13233. Do you agree with Mr. Whelan's testimony that the new Executive Order does not change in any way the standards or criteria for asserting privilege claims? If so, what possible need could there be for a re-review by the Reagan representatives?

A: As we understood Mr. Whelan's testimony, the new Executive Order does not purport to define the contours of constitutionally based privileges. Former President Reagan's representatives have not completed a final review; rather, they would simply be completing their initial review of the records.

8. You testified that the current White House has not yet started a substantive review of the 68,000 pages of records covered by your notices of many months ago in order to determine whether to invoke Executive privilege. Have they even asked for any of the records for this purpose?

A: Yes.

9. Do you have any idea when or if they intend to conduct a substantive review of these records?

A: The Executive Order authorizes the incumbent President or his designee to review the records. Any questions concerning the timing or intent of the incumbent President's actions should be addressed directly to the White House.

10. Is it your understanding that the new Executive Order takes us back to where we were in February of this year when you first noticed your intent to release the Reagan records? In other words, the former and incumbent Presidents both have a right to start over in their review of the records?

A: Given the fact that review of the records has not been completed by either the former or incumbent Presidents, NARA has provided notice to both parties pursuant to E.O. 13233.

11. Did you propose to release these 68,000 pages of records in response to a request for access under Section 2204(c)(1) of the Presidential Records Act? If not, is not the new Executive Order inapplicable by its terms to this proposed release? (See Section 3(a) of the Order).

REV_00206428

A: NARA has now received an access request under Section 2204(c)(1) of the Presidential Records Act, and has therefore provided notice to the former and incumbent Presidents under E.O. 13233. In any event, it is NARA's understanding that E.O. 13233 applies to proposed disclosures initiated by NARA through systematic processing.

12. The Presidential Records Act provides that, once any restriction periods authorized by the Act expire, the records of a former President "shall be administered in accordance with" the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). The only exception is that the FOIA's so-called "(b)(5) deliberative process" exemption does not apply. The Act further provides that presidential records shall be deemed to be records of your agency for purposes of applying FOIA. Do you agree that these provisions incorporate the time limits, requester rights, and all other requirements and procedures applicable under FOIA?

A: This question involves an interpretation of law, which should be answered by the Department of Justice.

13. Has it been and is it still your practice to apply the full range of FOIA requirements and procedures when processing access requests under Section 2204(c)(1) of the Presidential Records Act?

A: NARA has and will process access requests in accordance with the Presidential Records Act, including Section 2204(c)(1). The extent to which "the full range of FOIA requirements and procedures" apply to the PRA involves an interpretation of law, which should be answered by the Department of Justice.

14. Do you see any inconsistency between the applicable FOIA procedures and Executive Order 13233? To the extent there is inconsistency, will you follow the FOIA procedures?

A: This question involves an interpretation of law, which should be answered by the Department of Justice.

15. Do you agree that a notice to an incumbent and former President of intent to release records pursuant to a FOIA request would not toll the running of FOIA's time limits or otherwise affect the application of FOIA requirements?

A: This question involves an interpretation of law, which should be answered by the Department of Justice.

16. Do you agree that a former or current President could enlarge the FOIA time limits or otherwise affect the operation of FOIA by seeking an extension of time to review the records?

REV_00206429

A: This question involves an interpretation of law, which should be answered by the Department of Justice.

17. If action on a request is not completed within FOIA's applicable time limits, do you agree that the requester could invoke FOIA's exhaustion of administrative remedies provision and go to court even if the reviews under Executive Order were still underway?

A: This question involves an interpretation of law, which should be answered by the Department of Justice.

18. The Presidential Records Act and your implementing regulations (36 C.F.R.§ 1270.46) vest you with authority and responsibility to determine the validity of Executive privilege claims by a former President, do they not?

A: Any authority to assess the validity of Executive privilege claims by a former President is subject to direction from the incumbent President.

19. Executive Order 13233 divests you of this authority and responsibility, does it not?

A: Executive Order 13233 establishes a presumption that the incumbent President will support a claim of Executive privilege by a former President; the Archivist is obliged to follow direction from the incumbent President.

20. How do you intend to deal with this conflict? Will you follow the law and regulation or the Executive Order?

A: To the extent necessary, NARA intends to revise its regulations to be consistent with the Executive Order.

21. Although recognizing the possibility of privilege claims, the Presidential Records Act and your implementing regulations (36 C.F.R.§ 1270.44) grant Congress and the courts access to presidential records notwithstanding any restrictions imposed by the law or the regulations. Executive Order 13233 purports to impose essentially the same limits on congressional and judicial access that apply to public requests for access. How do you intend to deal with this conflict? Will you honor congressional and judicial requests for records in accordance with section 2205 of the Act? For example, absent an actual claim of privilege, will you provide records by the return date specified in a congressional or judicial subpoena?

A: The authority and procedures for access to Presidential records by Congress and the Courts are established in Section 2205 of the PRA. NARA has responded to such "special access" requests since 1989, which has until now included a "30 day" notice and review procedure, as established in Executive Order 12667, by which the former and incumbent Presidents could assert a constitutionally based privilege. NARA does not understand E.O. 13233 to be changing that process, except with respect to the review time periods. The order does not impose the same limits on congressional and judicial access that apply to public requests for access.

22. The Presidential Records Act and your implementing regulations (36 C.F.R. §§ 1270.20 and .22) provide that the Archivist will exercise discretion and authority on behalf of a former President after his death of disability, unless the former President designates another representative by written notice to the Archivist before his death or disability. Executive Order 13233 makes no provision for the Archivist to act on behalf of a former President. Instead, it provides that, absent a prior designation, the family of a former President may designate someone to act on his behalf. How do you intend to deal with this conflict?

A: All of the former Presidents subject to the PRA have designated representatives by written notice to the Archivist. When and if any such conflict arose, NARA will address the issue at that time in consultation with the former and incumbent Presidents.

23. Your implementing regulations (36 C.F.R. § 1270.46) also permit you to release records after 30 days following notice to the former and incumbent Presidents, and within less than 30 days if requested by Congress. Executive Order 13233 effectively negates this regulation, does it not? How do you intend to deal with this conflict?

A: NARA intends to revise its regulations to be consistent with the Executive Order.

24. You testified that you shared certain "professional concerns" with the Administration in the course of developing the new Executive Order. What were those concerns and how were they resolved? Did you raise any concerns over potential conflicts between the proposed Executive Order and the requirements of the Presidential Records Act and your implementing regulation?

A: The White House afforded NARA a substantial and unprecedented opportunity to provide comments, concerns, and input into the drafting process of E.O. 13233. NARA recognizes that there are many ways to address this issue, and NARA's input reflected our longstanding and direct experience in working with the records of former Presidents, as well as the Archivist's statutory mandate to make Presidential "records available to the public as rapidly and completely as possible consistent with the provisions of [the PRA]." This input was provided in confidence as part of the deliberative processes of the President. Therefore, NARA does not believe that it is appropriate to share the nature or details of these communications with outside parties.

INSURANCE – THE LUBRICANT THAT KEEPS AMERICA'S ECONOMIC ENGINE RUNNING SMOOTHLY.

CONGRESS MUST ACT NOW TO MAINTAIN THE AVAILABILITY OF TERRORISM INSURANCE COVERAGE.

Unless Congress acts before it adjourns, the nation's economy will likely face severe disruption because of the disappearance of affordable, comprehensive terrorism insurance for businesses and commercial and residential properties. We urge the House to quickly pass H.R.3210,the Terrorism Risk Protection Act, and urge the Senate to approve comparable legislation. We suggest that all Members of Congress consider the following in crafting any legislative package:

- The insurance program must be of sufficient duration to provide stability to the real estate and financial markets.
- The insurance plan must contain a system to ensure that all businesses and commercial properties are covered, including those in high-risk,high-visibility locations.
- As in the recent airport security legislation, Congress should consider appropriate litigation safeguards to benefit the victims of a terrorist attack.

Without Federal action,the essential lubricant for our economic engine will be dry and the ability to finance, construct, buy or sell properties across the nation may be at risk.

hope the ad is helpful (along with our grass roots outreach efforts) in

CONGRESS MUST ACT NOW TO MAINTAIN THE AVAILABILITY OF TERRORISM INSURANCE COVERAGE.

Unless Congress acts before it adjourns, the nation's economy will likely face severe disruption because of the disappearance of affordable, comprehensive terrorism insurance for businesses and commercial and residential properties. We urge the House to quickly pass H.R.3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act, and urge the Senate to approve comparable legislation. We suggest that all Members of Congress consider the following in crafting any legislative package:

- The insurance program must be of sufficient duration to provide stability to the real estate and financial markets.
- The insurance plan must contain a system to ensure that all businesses and commercial properties are covered, including those in high-risk, high-visibility locations.
- As in the recent airport security legislation, Congress should consider appropriate litigation safeguards to benefit the victims of a terrorist attack.

Without Federal action, the essential lubricant for our economic engine will be dry and the ability to finance, construct, buy or sell properties across the nation may be at risk.

THE AL QAEDA & TALIBAN CATALOGUE OF ATROCITIES

Al Qaeda & the Taliban told us at their press conference yesterday that it is time to "forget" their murder of thousands of innocent people from more than 80 countries on September 11.

As President George W. Bush has said, "We will never forget all the innocent people killed by the hatred of a few."

Presumably Al Qaeda and the Taliban would also like the world to "forget" about their other atrocities against the innocent. Below are a few examples from their growing catalogue of terrorist atrocities.

EXAMPLES OF RECENT AL QAEDA & TALIBAN ATROCITIES

ATROCITY

"Among the accounts of mutilations, beatings and arbitrary executions there was evidence of a new abomination: the torture of children. An unknown number of infants were savagely beaten during the Islamic militia's 14-month occupation of Taloqan, the former headquarters of the Alliance, usually for the supposed crimes of their parents." (Source: The Times [U.K.], 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

"The barbarity of the Taliban plumbed new depths when troops shot dead eight boys for daring to laugh, sickened refugees revealed yesterday. The teenage lads had been chuckling at the soldiers who suddenly raised their Kalashnikov rifles and gunned them down. It was one of a string of atrocities in the besieged Afghanistan city of Kunduz, which was last night poised to fall to the Northern Alliance. At least 300 frightened Taliban were killed by men from their own side because they wanted to surrender." (Source: The Sun [U.K.], 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"The Taliban is jailing children as young as 10 in Kabul to root out dissent, it is claimed today. According to French journalist Michel Peyrard, who was held by the Taliban for 25 days, the biggest threat to the extremist regime is its own paranoia. He said his fellow detainees included several children. On one occasion the nephews of an escaped political prisoner - aged 10, 13 and 19 - were rounded up. The eldest was tortured and subjected to a mock execution. The Taliban also jails leaders and military commanders for being traitors on only the flimsiest evidence." (Source: The Evening Standard (London), 11/9/01)

ATROCITY

REV_00206478

"One day they came, and ordered everyone to go into the bazaar and protest against the bombings, and chant: 'Death to America'," said Salahuddin. "I was in my house and I had to go outside. When we refused to protest against America, they got angry." Another man who fled the village said he saw the Taliban drag a man called Lash Boi from his house to the mosque and beat him to death when he refused to protest. Lash Boi's three sons are on the front line now, fighting to avenge their father's death, he said." (Source: The Independent (U.K.), 11/9/01)

ATROCITY

"When the family returned six hours later they found that Abdul's right femur had been shattered by repeated blows from a Kalashnikov, the stock of the rifle leaving a clear imprint on the floor of the family's home. Doctors gave Nurala a couple of packets of paracetamol and bluntly told him that his son would never walk again. 'He was in so much pain for a long time, and it changed his mind as well,' Nurala said. 'I don't understand how anyone can do such a thing to a small child. I have spoken to many people about this and nobody understands it.' There are many others in Taloqan who have similar stories of children being beaten in front of their parents because their fathers were unable to hand over a weapon to the Taleban, of men who had a hand amputated when they were accused of stealing the bread that they carried home to their families, and of women who were raped after their husbands were taken away and imprisoned in Kandahar or Mazar-i Sharif." (Source: The Times [U.K.], 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

"'They burnt some of us alive.' It was almost the first thing he said to us. In the dust and squalor of a refugee camp, Salahuddin told yesterday how the Taliban burnt an entire family to death in their own home in revenge for the American bombing. He says he saw them bringing out the blackened bodies of the children. Then the Taliban took Salahuddin and the other villagers to the front line, where they ordered them to gather up scattered bits of bodies, all that was left of Taliban soldiers killed by the American bombs." (Source: The Independent U.K. 11/9/01)

ATROCITY

"'The Taliban commanders killed 100 of our friends,' said this defector, adding, 'They hung their bodies from lamp posts as a warning to the rest of us.'" (Source: CBS Evening News, 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"One said a doctor was shot dead for not treating a wounded Taliban soldier quickly enough, while others said a group of eight teenage boys were killed for laughing at Taliban soldiers." (Source: The Herald (Scotland), 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"Foreign Taliban soldiers, who have gathered in Kunduz for what appears to be a last stand, have gunned down more than 400 Afghan Taliban soldiers trying to defect to the Northern Alliance, the refugees and the alliance soldiers said. The 400 were killed in mass shootings late last week, refugees said, and were prompted in part by the defection of a local Taliban commander to the Northern Alliance. According to the reports, Arab and Pakistani soldiers with the Taliban have also begun shooting young civilian men of the Uzbek and Tajik ethnic groups suspected of trying to escape to territory controlled by the Northern Alliance. 'The foreigners came into the village and shot all the men,' said Muhammadullah, a 21-year-old man who crossed into Northern Alliance territory today. 'I saw this with my own eyes.'" (Source: The New York Times, 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"Foreign Taliban soldiers also killed dozens of Afghan Taliban soldiers on Friday at the village of Musazai near the Kunduz airport, refugees and Northern Alliance soldiers said. Refugees fleeing Kunduz said foreign Taliban soldiers had gunned down 125 Afghan Taliban soldiers who had been stopped on their way to the front lines. The foreign Taliban soldiers seem to have decided that the local Taliban were trying to defect. When they tried to stop them, a fight began and the foreign Taliban opened fire, the refugees said." (Source: The New York Times, 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"The BBC has confirmed that the central Afghan town of Bamiyan was totally destroyed by the Taleban before they fled over the weekend. Evidence has also emerged of Bosnian-style ethnic cleansing in the region involving the execution of hundreds of local ethnic Hazara men." (Source: BBC News, 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

"Our correspondent said every building, shop and house had been destroyed before the town fell on Sunday after a two-hour gun battle." (Source: BBC News, 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

September 1996 -- Upon capturing Kabul the Taliban castrated President Najibullah, dragged his body behind a jeep for several rounds of the Palace and then shot him dead. His brother was similarly tortured and then throttled to death. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

January 1998 -- In the Western province of Faryab, the Taliban massacred approximately 600 Uzbek villageres. Western aid workers who later investigated the incident said civilians were dragged from their homes, lined up and gunned down. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

August 1998 -- The Taliban entered Mazar-I-Sharif and went on a frenzy killing shop owners, cart pullers, women and children shoppers. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

August 2000 -- Taliban execute POWs in the streets of Heart as a lesson to the local population. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

June 2001 -- Taliban bombed the administrative center of Yakaolang, including the district hospital and an aid agency office. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

Massacre at Yakaolang -- Taliban forces committed a massacre in Yakaolang in January 2001. The victims were primarily Hazaras. The massacre began on January 8, 2001, and continued for four days. The Taliban detained about 300 civilian adult males, including staff members of local humanitarian organizations. The men were herded to assembly points, and then shot by firing squad in public view. According to Human Rights Watch, about 170 men are confirmed to have been killed. According to Amnesty International, eyewitnesses reported the deliberate killing of dozens of civilians hiding in a mosque: Taliban soldiers fired rockets into a mosque where some 73 women, children and elderly men had taken shelter. (Source: State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre at Robatak Pass -- The May 2000 massacre took place near the Robatak pass. 31 bodies were found one site, of these, 26 were positively identified as civilians. The victims were Hazara Shi'as. (Source: State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre in Bamiyan -- When the Taliban recaptured Bamiyan in 1999, there were reports that Taliban forces carried out summary executions upon entering the city. According to Amnesty International, hundreds of men, and some instances women and children, were separated from their families, taken away, and killed. Human Rights Watch reports that besides executing civilians, the Taliban burned homes and used detainees for forced labor. (Source: State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre in the Shomaili Plains -- July 1999 Human Rights Watch reports that a Taliban offensive here was marked by summary executions, the abduction and disappearance of women, the burning of homes, destruction of property, and the cutting down of fruit trees. According to a report by the U.N. Secretary General on November 16, 1999, "The Taliban forces, who allegedly carried out these acts, essentially treated the civilian population with hostility and made no distinction between combatants and non-combatants." (Source: U.S. State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre in Mazar-I-Sharif -- In August 1998, the Taliban captured Mazar-I-Sharif. There were reports that between 2,000 and 5,000 men, women and children -- mostly ethnic Hazara civilians -- were massacred by the Taliban after the takeover of Mazar-I-Sharif. During the massacre, the Taliban forces carried out a systematic search for male members for the ethnic Hazara, Tajik, and Uzbek communities in the city. Human Rights Watch estimates that scores, perhaps hundreds, of Hazara men and boys were summarily executed. There were also reports that women and girls were raped and abducted during the Taliban takeover of the city. (Source: State Department)

THE AL QAEDA & TALIBAN CATALOGUE OF ATROCITIES

Al Qaeda & the Taliban told us at their press conference yesterday that it is time to "forget" their murder of thousands of innocent people from more than 80 countries on September 11.

As President George W. Bush has said, "We will never forget all the innocent people killed by the hatred of a few."

Presumably Al Qaeda and the Taliban would also like the world to "forget" about their other atrocities against the innocent. Below are a few examples from their growing catalogue of terrorist atrocities.

EXAMPLES OF RECENT AL QAEDA & TALIBAN ATROCITIES

ATROCITY

"Among the accounts of mutilations, beatings and arbitrary executions there was evidence of a new abomination: the torture of children. An unknown number of infants were savagely beaten during the Islamic militia's 14-month occupation of Taloqan, the former headquarters of the Alliance, usually for the supposed crimes of their parents." (Source: The Times [U.K.], 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

"The barbarity of the Taliban plumbed new depths when troops shot dead eight boys for daring to laugh, sickened refugees revealed yesterday. The teenage lads had been chuckling at the soldiers who suddenly raised their Kalashnikov rifles and gunned them down. It was one of a string of atrocities in the besieged Afghanistan city of Kunduz, which was last night poised to fall to the Northern Alliance. At least 300 frightened Taliban were killed by men from their own side because they wanted to surrender." (Source: The Sun [U.K.], 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"The Taliban is jailing children as young as 10 in Kabul to root out dissent, it is claimed today. According to French journalist Michel Peyrard, who was held by the Taliban for 25 days, the biggest threat to the extremist regime is its own paranoia. He said his fellow detainees included several children. On one occasion the nephews of an escaped political prisoner - aged 10, 13 and 19 - were rounded up. The eldest was tortured and subjected to a mock execution. The Taliban also jails leaders and military commanders for being traitors on only the flimsiest evidence." (Source: The Evening Standard (London), 11/9/01)

ATROCITY

REV_00206499

"One day they came, and ordered everyone to go into the bazaar and protest against the bombings, and chant: 'Death to America'," said Salahuddin. "I was in my house and I had to go outside. When we refused to protest against America, they got angry." Another man who fled the village said he saw the Taliban drag a man called Lash Boi from his house to the mosque and beat him to death when he refused to protest. Lash Boi's three sons are on the front line now, fighting to avenge their father's death, he said." (Source: The Independent (U.K.), 11/9/01)

ATROCITY

"When the family returned six hours later they found that Abdul's right femur had been shattered by repeated blows from a Kalashnikov, the stock of the rifle leaving a clear imprint on the floor of the family's home. Doctors gave Nurala a couple of packets of paracetamol and bluntly told him that his son would never walk again. 'He was in so much pain for a long time, and it changed his mind as well,' Nurala said. 'I don't understand how anyone can do such a thing to a small child. I have spoken to many people about this and nobody understands it.' There are many others in Taloqan who have similar stories of children being beaten in front of their parents because their fathers were unable to hand over a weapon to the Taleban, of men who had a hand amputated when they were accused of stealing the bread that they carried home to their families, and of women who were raped after their husbands were taken away and imprisoned in Kandahar or Mazar-i Sharif." (Source: The Times [U.K.], 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

"'They burnt some of us alive.' It was almost the first thing he said to us. In the dust and squalor of a refugee camp, Salahuddin told yesterday how the Taliban burnt an entire family to death in their own home in revenge for the American bombing. He says he saw them bringing out the blackened bodies of the children. Then the Taliban took Salahuddin and the other villagers to the front line, where they ordered them to gather up scattered bits of bodies, all that was left of Taliban soldiers killed by the American bombs." (Source: The Independent U.K. 11/9/01)

ATROCITY

"'The Taliban commanders killed 100 of our friends,' said this defector, adding, 'They hung their bodies from lamp posts as a warning to the rest of us.'" (Source: CBS Evening News, 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"One said a doctor was shot dead for not treating a wounded Taliban soldier quickly enough, while others said a group of eight teenage boys were killed for laughing at Taliban soldiers." (Source: The Herald (Scotland), 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"Foreign Taliban soldiers, who have gathered in Kunduz for what appears to be a last stand, have gunned down more than 400 Afghan Taliban soldiers trying to defect to the Northern Alliance, the refugees and the alliance soldiers said. The 400 were killed in mass shootings late last week, refugees said, and were prompted in part by the defection of a local Taliban commander to the Northern Alliance. According to the reports, Arab and Pakistani soldiers with the Taliban have also begun shooting young civilian men of the Uzbek and Tajik ethnic groups suspected of trying to escape to territory controlled by the Northern Alliance. 'The foreigners came into the village and shot all the men,' said Muhammadullah, a 21-year-old man who crossed into Northern Alliance territory today. 'I saw this with my own eyes.'" (Source: The New York Times, 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"Foreign Taliban soldiers also killed dozens of Afghan Taliban soldiers on Friday at the village of Musazai near the Kunduz airport, refugees and Northern Alliance soldiers said. Refugees fleeing Kunduz said foreign Taliban soldiers had gunned down 125 Afghan Taliban soldiers who had been stopped on their way to the front lines. The foreign Taliban soldiers seem to have decided that the local Taliban were trying to defect. When they tried to stop them, a fight began and the foreign Taliban opened fire, the refugees said." (Source: The New York Times, 11/19/01)

ATROCITY

"The BBC has confirmed that the central Afghan town of Bamiyan was totally destroyed by the Taleban before they fled over the weekend. Evidence has also emerged of Bosnian-style ethnic cleansing in the region involving the execution of hundreds of local ethnic Hazara men." (Source: BBC News, 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

"Our correspondent said every building, shop and house had been destroyed before the town fell on Sunday after a two-hour gun battle." (Source: BBC News, 11/13/01)

ATROCITY

September 1996 -- Upon capturing Kabul the Taliban castrated President Najibullah, dragged his body behind a jeep for several rounds of the Palace and then shot him dead. His brother was similarly tortured and then throttled to death. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

January 1998 -- In the Western province of Faryab, the Taliban massacred approximately 600 Uzbek villageres. Western aid workers who later investigated the incident said civilians were dragged from their homes, lined up and gunned down. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

August 1998 -- The Taliban entered Mazar-I-Sharif and went on a frenzy killing shop owners, cart pullers, women and children shoppers. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

August 2000 -- Taliban execute POWs in the streets of Heart as a lesson to the local population. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

June 2001 -- Taliban bombed the administrative center of Yakaolang, including the district hospital and an aid agency office. (Source: Department of Defense)

ATROCITY

Massacre at Yakaolang -- Taliban forces committed a massacre in Yakaolang in January 2001. The victims were primarily Hazaras. The massacre began on January 8, 2001, and continued for four days. The Taliban detained about 300 civilian adult males, including staff members of local humanitarian organizations. The men were herded to assembly points, and then shot by firing squad in public view. According to Human Rights Watch, about 170 men are confirmed to have been killed. According to Amnesty International, eyewitnesses reported the deliberate killing of dozens of civilians hiding in a mosque: Taliban soldiers fired rockets into a mosque where some 73 women, children and elderly men had taken shelter. (Source: State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre at Robatak Pass -- The May 2000 massacre took place near the Robatak pass. 31 bodies were found one site, of these, 26 were positively identified as civilians. The victims were Hazara Shi'as. (Source: State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre in Bamiyan -- When the Taliban recaptured Bamiyan in 1999, there were reports that Taliban forces carried out summary executions upon entering the city. According to Amnesty International, hundreds of men, and some instances women and children, were separated from their families, taken away, and killed. Human Rights Watch reports that besides executing civilians, the Taliban burned homes and used detainees for forced labor. (Source: State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre in the Shomaili Plains -- July 1999 Human Rights Watch reports that a Taliban offensive here was marked by summary executions, the abduction and disappearance of women, the burning of homes, destruction of property, and the cutting down of fruit trees. According to a report by the U.N. Secretary General on November 16, 1999, "The Taliban forces, who allegedly carried out these acts, essentially treated the civilian population with hostility and made no distinction between combatants and non-combatants." (Source: U.S. State Department)

ATROCITY

Massacre in Mazar-I-Sharif -- In August 1998, the Taliban captured Mazar-I-Sharif. There were reports that between 2,000 and 5,000 men, women and children -- mostly ethnic Hazara civilians -- were massacred by the Taliban after the takeover of Mazar-I-Sharif. During the massacre, the Taliban forces carried out a systematic search for male members for the ethnic Hazara, Tajik, and Uzbek communities in the city. Human Rights Watch estimates that scores, perhaps hundreds, of Hazara men and boys were summarily executed. There were also reports that women and girls were raped and abducted during the Taliban takeover of the city. (Source: State Department)

I cant seem to find it on their website, but today's Roll Call's lead editorial criticizes Leahy for slow pace of appellate confirmations. Not that anybody actually cares what Roll Call says, but at least they've noticed the

sounds like a mixed official-political trip. I believe Merrill Hughes's office can bill the campaign for required reimbursement per the formula we have devised. I would talk to her. Let me know what else I should do.

Adrian, as you are aware Hector will be traveling to Houston on 11/30 to campaign for Orlando Sanchez. Actually, he will be on official travel in Austin 11/29. Thus far, I have been working with Raul Romero on this trip.

My question is with respect to Hector's flight arrangements --- will the campaign pay for his flight from Austin to Houston and back to DC? Please let me know how this will be handled.

Thank you - I appreciate your assistance.

"We need your help."

The U.S. Congress is debating legislation to deal with the cost of future terrorist attacks. If Congress doesn't find a solution – and soon – South Dakota businesses could have trouble getting insurance at the end of this year, when current policies expire.

Without insurance, banks won't lend, builders won't build, and cargo won't move. Some companies would just shut down and employees would lose their jobs.

The whole South Dakota economy would feel the impact.

We can't let terrorists wreck our economy. Please tell Senators Daschle and Johnson that we need their leadership to pass a federal terrorism insurance bill. The clock is ticking - so please help us keep our employees working for their families, for South Dakota and for America.

LOCAL BUSINESS PERSON VOICEOVER: THIS IS [NAME, BUSINESS]. I NEED YOUR HELP.

CONGRESS IS VOTING ON LEGISLATION TO DEAL WITH THE COST OF FUTURE TERRORIST ATTACKS. IF THIS BILL DOESN'T PASS, BUSINESS INSURANCE WILL DRY UP AT THE END OF THE YEAR. WITHOUT INSURANCE, BANKS WON'T LEND, CONSTRUCTION WILL STOP, AND CARGO CAN'T MOVE. SOME COMPANIES WOULD SHUT DOWN.

TELL SENATORS DASCHLE AND JOHNSON WE NEED THEIR LEADERSHIP TO PASS A FEDERAL TERRORISM INSURANCE BILL. DON'T LET TERRORISTS WRECK OUR ECONOMY. HELP ME KEEP MY [NUMBER] EMPLOYEES WORKING FOR YOU, FOR SOUTH DAKOTA, AND FOR AMERICA.

"We need your help."

The U.S. Congress is debating legislation to deal with the cost of future terrorist attacks. If Congress doesn't find a solution – and soon – South Dakota businesses could have trouble getting insurance at the end of this year, when current policies expire.

Without insurance, banks won't lend, builders won't build, and cargo won't move. Some companies would just shut down and employees would lose their jobs.

The whole South Dakota economy would feel the impact.

We can't let terrorists wreck our economy. Please tell Senators Daschle and Johnson that we need their leadership to pass a federal terrorism insurance bill. The clock is ticking - so please help us keep our employees working for their families, for South Dakota and for America.

Daschle Said To Be Drafting Terrorism Reinsurance Plan Sources said today that Senate Majority Leader Daschle is drafting a terrorism reinsurance bill of his own and is contemplating introducing it this week. The House is scheduled to vote Wednesday or Thursday on its version of the reinsurance legislation. Although not confirmed by Daschle'soffice, sources said his staff is drafting what it considers to be compromise legislation, intended to represent a middle ground between competing reinsurance bills written by the Senate Banking and Commerce committees * both of which claim jurisdiction. Those committee products differ sharply, both in terms of their approaches and their expectations of industry repayment.
In that respect, sources said they expected Daschle's bill to include a combination of direct aid to the insurance industry, with an initial deductible, and a layer of loans that would require repayment. However, sources said they were uncertain whether Daschle was working directly with the Banking and Commerce chairmen to produce a final bill, or if he was merely trying to push along their discussions, which have yet to yield a consensus. Daschle asked the affected chairmen weeks ago to hold off on introducing individual bills until they could settle on a unified approach. Those talks are continuing, a spokesman for Senate Banking Chairman Sarbanes said today.
```

Although the House bill has received the backing of a portion of the industry, the largest of the insurers appear wedded to the approach proposed by the White House in conjunction with the Senate Banking Committee. That proposal does not include a repayment mechanism. The White House also is adamant that the bill include language limiting punitive damages, and officials have privately expressed concern that the House bill does not go far enough in that area, sources said. While the House bill currently enjoys bipartisan support, the rule issued for the bill, which will help define the parameters of debate on the bill's legal reform language, should prove controversial.
Given traditional Democratic resistance to legal reform and an aggressive lobbying campaign by the trial lawyer lobby, sources said they expect Daschle's bill will not include language limiting legal rights. However, a House-Senate conference agreement on reinsurance is apt to include some toned down legal reform language along the lines of what is currently included in the House bill, sources said. The underlying bills are designed to provide federal backing to encourage the insurance industry to continue providing property and casualty terrorism coverage in the wake of huge losses associated with the Sept. 11 attacks. * by Pamela Barnett about the President's recent Military Order regarding military tribunals, here

are some talking points you can use:

BRINGING TERRORISTS TO JUSTICE

- The terrorist attacks of September 11 were acts of war. The perpetrators should be treated not as violators of the law, but as war criminals, and the Military Order signed by President Bush reflects the unique nature of our present situation.

- The Military Order gives President Bush an additional tool in fighting the war against terrorism and another option to bring justice to foreign terrorists. The President's order states that military commissions will only be used in extraordinary instances in which the direct safety of the American people is at risk.

- As Commander in Chief, the President has the authority to establish military commissions. That authority is strengthened by statutes first passed by Congress during World War I and the Supreme Court has reviewed and upheld the practice in 1942 and again in 1946..

- Trial by military commission is a tested method for bringing individuals to justice during times of war while also protecting sensitive information. President Roosevelt ordered the trial of Nazi saboteurs by military commission in 1942 during World War II and the Supreme Court upheld the procedure. Military commissions have been used throughout American history – during the Mexican War, the Indian Wars, the Civil War, and the Revolutionary War.

- President Bush's requires certain protections that are consistent with American values: the right to counsel and a full and fair trial; they will not be discriminated against because of their race, gender or status; they may freely exercise their religion and will receive food, shelter and medical treatment.

- President Bush has said on many occasions that this war is not about one person, but about rooting out global terrorist networks. Disclosing classified information in a civilian trial of a foreign terrorist would jeopardize the ongoing war against terrorism and threaten American lives at home and abroad.

- When classified evidence must be used in civilian trials, the government is forced to choose between compromising sensitive intelligence information and letting criminals go free – the World Trade Center bombing trial resulted in the disclosure of sensitive classified information. After the attack on September 11, President Bush finds this choice to be unacceptable.

- Civilian courts would also place judges, juries, prosecutors and the press at risk from threats of reprisals, and the security of the courtroom facility would be a concern. Military commissions provide a safe alternative.

Subject: Request for Charity Auction in Louisville

Coddy,

The wife of one of our clients is involved in the annual fundraiser for a charity in which she is active. As a part of their event in late January they will have a silent auction. Is there any chance of an autographed photo of the President or some Presidential trinket that can be acquired for them?
I know there are legal and policy issues surrounding the use of the President's image and signature, but raising funds for faith-based charities would seem to be a good exception to make. I have included a description of the organization below.

Maryhurst is a Non Profit organization based in Louisville that takes in wayward girls and boys and gets them through to their 18th birthday - adoption, but more frequently house and supervised on site care is the solution - its a pay me now or pay me later proposition for contributors/taxpayers.

Maryhurst was established about 50 years ago and has a number of success stories - originally started by nuns, its progressed into a non denominational organization that still embraces some Catholic tenets...its a great organization.

Thanks, as always, for your assistance.

Review & Outlook
Judicial Profiling
It's too bad Miguel Estrada never thought of doing a reverse Geraldo Rivera (formerly Rivers) and renamed himself Mike Smith. He'd probably be sitting on the federal bench right now. But Mr. Estrada, who was one of President Bush's
first judicial nominations, can't even get a hearing from Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy.

The reason, as Mr. Estrada's detractors are only too happy to whisper, is his ethnic background. His nomination is being sidelined because he is a keen legal mind who happens to be Hispanic and therefore might someday become the first
Hispanic member of the U.S. Supreme Court. Welcome to the world of judicial profiling, as practiced by the liberal majority in the U.S. Senate.

The 40-year-old Mr. Estrada is an American success story, a Honduran immigrant who taught himself English and went on to Harvard Law, where he was editor
of the law review. He clerked for Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy and worked as a deputy in Bill Clinton's Justice Department, where he argued cases before the Supreme Court. Seth Waxman, Mr. Clinton's Solicitor General, has only
the highest praise for him.

Bush nominee
But in Pat Leahy's Senate, such credentials are a liability. They're so sterling
they'd make it impossible for Senate Democrats to stand up and oppose Mr.
Estrada if he ever did get a hearing. And that would mean confirming him to a seat on the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals, the same court that has produced Supreme Court Justices Ruth Bader Ginsburg and Antonin Scalia. And the last thing Democrats want to confront is an able conservative Hispanic nominated for the High Court by a Republican President.

Mr. Leahy's spokesman says Mr. Estrada's hearing is being delayed because of the judge's "rigid ideological background." But if that's true, why not hold a hearing and then have an up or down vote? Mr. Leahy answered this question himself some years ago when GOP Senators were holding up Clinton nominee

Sonia
Sotomayor.

"What they are saying is that they have a brilliant judge who also happens to be a woman and Hispanic, and they haven't the guts to stand up and argue publicly against her on the floor," Mr. Leahy told the New York Times at the time.
"They
just want to hide in their cloakrooms and do her in quietly." Ms.
Sotomayor was later confirmed with little opposition, but Mr. Leahy must have secretly admired
Republican tactics.

Meanwhile, the D.C. Circuit is the court that will hear a majority of the habeas corpus petitions resulting from the war on terrorism. It is now down to eight active judges, but needs 10 to carry its workload. Chief Judge Douglas Ginsberg
wrote Mr. Leahy in August that if two new judges weren't confirmed by Sept. 30,
"the court will likely find it necessary to delay until next term hearing cases
that would otherwise be argued and decided this winter and spring."

Mr. Leahy has since done nothing to advance the nominations of either Mr.
Estrada or John Roberts, another Bush nominee to the D.C. Circuit. Mr.
Roberts,
who is white, is enduring his own form of judicial profiling. Democrats don't want to be seen confirming a white judge ahead of an Hispanic one. So the entire
D.C. Circuit suffers.

This is all part of a larger pattern of judicial obstruction that has left 108 current vacancies on the federal bench. More than a third of those openings have been classified as judicial emergencies by the nonpartisan U.S. Judicial Conference. At the end of their first years in office, Ronald Reagan,
George
H.W. Bush and Bill Clinton all had at least 88% of their judicial nominees confirmed by the Senate. With only days to go before the Senate adjourns for the year, only 28% of George W. Bush's nominees have been confirmed.

In 1998, when there were even fewer vacancies, Mr. Leahy said that any week in which the Senate "does not confirm three judges is a week in which the Senate is failing to address the vacancy crisis." But now Mr. Leahy gets to screen
the ethnicity and credentials of nominees, and on the evidence he'd rather keep a vital court understaffed than allow a qualified Hispanic on the bench.

The group listed below includes people other than PASers and White House staffers. Because of that and because the event will be held in a government building, Ken's briefing must avoid outright electioneering -- for example, appeals for the attendees to become involved in campaign or party activity. If Ken wants to get into that kind of discussion, we should either exclude people other than the PASers or hold the meeting in a non-government building. Assuming that he does not want to change the attendees or location, I should review the script/talking points ahead of time to make sure it does not cross that line and to approve in advance. Thanks.

Recognizing that these need to be very short and necessarily general, I think these look good.

Terror Insurance

ú Prior to Thanksgiving, Chairman Sarbanes and Senators Gramm, Dodd and Enzi reached agreement on a bill would have provided federal risk sharing for losses over $10 billion. They agreed to two provisions limiting liability in terrorism cases, both of which would have sunsetted with the rest if the bill after two or three years: consolidation of claims in a single federal court and a ban on punitive damages. We expressed strong support for the agreement.
ú At the behest of trial lawyers, Daschle prohibited Sarbanes from introducing the bill. Daschle is now drafting a Democratic proposal.
ú We are continuing to work with Senator Gramm, who may introduce the original agreement. We had hoped that Senator Dodd would be on the Gramm bill, but this now seems unlikely.

ú The House will take up an Oxley-Baker bill on Thursday
ú We are much less supportive of the overall structure of the House bill, which has a complicated payback mechanism, but the bill has strong liability provisions.

ú Larry and Glenn have emphasized that the Administration will insist on some liability limitations because:
ú In many cases, the cause of the rising insurance prices is the risk of open-ended liability. For example, railroads and trucking companies are expecting increases as a result of the fact that hazardous cargo could be used in an attack. These businesses are not paying higher prices as a result of first-party coverage issues; they are paying for the risk of a runaway verdict in state court.
ú For as long as the federal backstop is in place, taxpayer dollars are at risk.
Designing meaningful procedures before any future attacks is necessary to ensure that Congress isn,t forced to act quickly after the fact.

Review & Outlook
Judicial Profiling
It's too bad Miguel Estrada never thought of doing a reverse Geraldo Rivera (formerly Rivers) and renamed himself Mike Smith. He'd probably be sitting on the federal bench right now. But Mr. Estrada, who was one of President Bush's
first judicial nominations, can't even get a hearing from Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy.

his ethnic background. His nomination is being sidelined because he is a keen legal mind who happens to be Hispanic and therefore might someday become the first
Hispanic member of the U.S. Supreme Court. Welcome to the world of judicial profiling, as practiced by the liberal majority in the U.S. Senate.

The 40-year-old Mr. Estrada is an American success story, a Honduran immigrant
who taught himself English and went on to Harvard Law, where he was editor
of the law review. He clerked for Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy and worked as a deputy in Bill Clinton's Justice Department, where he argued cases before
the Supreme Court. Seth Waxman, Mr. Clinton's Solicitor General, has only
the highest praise for him.

Bush nominee
But in Pat Leahy's Senate, such credentials are a liability. They're so sterling
they'd make it impossible for Senate Democrats to stand up and oppose Mr.
Estrada if he ever did get a hearing. And that would mean confirming him to a seat on the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals, the same court that has produced
Supreme Court Justices Ruth Bader Ginsburg and Antonin Scalia. And the last thing Democrats want to confront is an able conservative Hispanic nominated for
the High Court by a Republican President.

Mr. Leahy's spokesman says Mr. Estrada's hearing is being delayed because of the judge's "rigid ideological background." But if that's true, why not hold a hearing and then have an up or down vote? Mr. Leahy answered this question

Sonia
Sotomayor.

"What they are saying is that they have a brilliant judge who also happens to be a woman and Hispanic, and they haven't the guts to stand up and argue publicly against her on the floor," Mr. Leahy told the New York Times at the time.
"They
just want to hide in their cloakrooms and do her in quietly." Ms.
Sotomayor was later confirmed with little opposition, but Mr. Leahy must have secretly admired
Republican tactics.

habeas corpus petitions resulting from the war on terrorism. It is now down to eight active judges, but needs 10 to carry its workload. Chief Judge Douglas Ginsberg
wrote Mr. Leahy in August that if two new judges weren't confirmed by Sept. 30,
"the court will likely find it necessary to delay until next term hearing cases
that would otherwise be argued and decided this winter and spring."

Mr. Leahy has since done nothing to advance the nominations of either Mr.
Estrada or John Roberts, another Bush nominee to the D.C. Circuit. Mr.
Roberts,
who is white, is enduring his own form of judicial profiling. Democrats don't want to be seen confirming a white judge ahead of an Hispanic one. So the entire
D.C. Circuit suffers.

This is all part of a larger pattern of judicial obstruction that has left 108 current vacancies on the federal bench. More than a third of those openings have been classified as judicial emergencies by the nonpartisan U.S. Judicial Conference. At the end of their first years in office, Ronald Reagan,
George
H.W. Bush and Bill Clinton all had at least 88% of their judicial nominees confirmed by the Senate. With only days to go before the Senate adjourns
for the year, only 28% of George W. Bush's nominees have been confirmed.

In 1998, when there were even fewer vacancies, Mr. Leahy said that any week in which the Senate "does not confirm three judges is a week in which the Senate is failing to address the vacancy crisis." But now Mr. Leahy gets to screen
the ethnicity and credentials of nominees, and on the evidence he'd rather keep a vital court understaffed than allow a qualified Hispanic on the bench.

Per Tim please try to book these with him first instead of the Judge.

If Tim can't do them then let me know and we'll work it out for the Judge to take the interviews.

Washington Post*, August 27, 2001:

You don't need to sympathize with the embattled software gian t to be taken aback by the number of class actions it faces and by the slipshod fashion in which complaints have been filed. Plaintiffs' lawyers smelled blood in the water, and they rushed to file complaints quickly, producing -- - in this instance -- an inept cut-and-paste job from a prior suit against a drug compan y. The error is emblematic. No portion of the American civil justice system is more of a mess than the world of class actions. None is in more desperate need of policymakers' attention. Subject: NOT ANOTHER TURKEY!

U R G E N T !

On Wednesday, the House Rules Committee will be considering the Terrorism
Risk
Protection (i.e., insurance) Bill reported by the Financial Services Committee.
As reported, the bill is H.R. 3210, however, we have learned that a comprehensive Manager's Amendment will be offered which is very likely to include across-the-board tort reform which would limit the rights of victims and their families in the event of a future terrorist attack.

This will NOT be a simple matter of the government protecting insurance companies from having to insure against punitive damages in future terrorism cases, or making sure that taxpayer money isn't used to reimburse insurers for an insured's willful, wanton, or reckless misconduct. Instead, this is clearly a cynical attempt by some to irresponsibly use the terrorism insurance bill as a vehicle to advance their long-standing tort reform agenda.

Among the items we understand may be included in the Manager's Amendment are:

* Complete elimination of punitive damages in terrorism cases, protection not just for the insurer or the government but for the wrongdoer as well; also limits on non-economic damage awards--either a cap on non-economic damages, or the elimination of joint liability for non-economic damages, or both. Punitive damages are very rarely awarded. They are reserved for those cases where a defendants misconduct is not merely negligent or careless, but willfully reckless. For example, if a security firm protecting a gas pipeline knowingly hired an illegal alien it knew had a criminal record, that conduct would be protected under this proposal. Non-economic damages are REAL damages. The loss of a limb, eyesight, or the ability to have children and the loss of a loved one are real, life-altering losses. Limiting them would discriminate against children, the elderly and homemaking moms. And capping them would harm the most severely injured.

* Limits on attorneys' fees. This may be the most cynical proposal of all. For one thing, this is a proposal to limit only plaintiffs' attorneys fees; there are no limits on what defendants would be allowed to pay their attorneys. This is nothing more than a political agenda that would have the effect of penalizing families who seek legal representation. The likely proposal is a limit on contingent fees. The tort reformers know that the contingent fee system is the key to the court house for average Americans. The contingent fee system is the only way for average Americans to take on large corporations and powerful interests, and compete on a level playing field. And remember, under the contingent fee system, the plaintiff pays his or her attorney absolutely nothing unless he or she prevails in the courtroom. What has any of this to do with preserving the market for terrorism risk insurance?

This is only a sampling of what we hear may be in the Manager's Amendment. Congress needs to focus on the real issue, which is a responsible role for the federal government in working with insurers to extend terrorism risk protection beyond December 31st. Congress should turn its back on this unrelated tort reform agenda.

Oppose the Manager's Amendment; support genuine terrrorism risk protection.

As we learn more about the Manager's Amendment, and the possible development
of an alternative (perhaps an alternative offered as a substitute), we will be in touch with you. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to get in touch with us at 202-944-2818.

Subject: NOT ANOTHER TURKEY!

U R G E N T !

On Wednesday, the House Rules Committee will be considering the Terrorism Risk Protection (i.e., insurance) Bill reported by the Financial Services Committee. As reported, the bill is H.R. 3210, however, we have learned that a comprehensive Manager's Amendment will be offered which is ver y likely to include across-the-board tort reform which would limit the rights of victims and their families in the event of a future terrorist attack.

This will NOT be a simple matter of the government protecting insurance companies from having to insure against punitive damages in future terrorism cases, or making sure that taxpayer money isn't used to reimburse insurers for an insured's willful, wanton, or reckless misconduct. Instead, thi s is clearly a cynical attempt by some to irresponsibly use the terrorism insurance bill as a vehicle to advanc e their long-standing tort reform agenda.

Among the items we understand may be included in the Manager's Amendment are:

* Complete elimination of punitive damages in terrorism cases, protection not just for the insurer or the government but for the wrongdoer as well; also limits on non-economic damage awards--either a cap on non-economi c damages, or the elimination of joint liability for non-economic damages, or both. Punitive damages are very rarely awarded. They are reserved for those cases where a defendants misconduct is not merely negligent or careless, but willfully reckless. For example, if a security firm protecting a gas pipeline knowingly hired an illegal alien it knew had a criminal record, that conduct would be protected under this proposal. Non-economic damages are REAL damages. The loss of a limb, eyesight, or the ability to have children and the loss of a loved one are real, life-altering losses. Limiting them would discriminate against children, the elderly and homemaking moms. And capping them would harm the most severely injured.

* Limits on attorneys' fees. This may be the most cynical proposal of all. For one thing, this is a proposa l to limit only plaintiffs' attorneys fees; there are no limits on what defendants would be allowed to pay their attorneys. This is nothing more than a political agenda that would have the effect of penalizing families who seek legal representation. The likely proposal is a limit on contingent fees. The tort reformers know that the contingent fee system is the key to the court house for average Americans. The contingent fee system is the only way for average Americans to take on large corporations and powerful interests, and compete on a level playing field. And remember, under the contingent fee system, the plaintif f pays his or her attorney absolutely nothing unless he o r she prevails in the courtroom. What has any of this to do with preserving the market for terrorism risk insurance?

This is only a sampling of what we hear may be in the Manager's Amendment. Congress needs to focus on the real issue, which is a responsible role for the federal government in working with insurers to extend terrorism risk protection beyond December 31st. Congress should turn its back on this unrelated tort reform agenda.

Oppose the Manager's Amendment; support genuine terrrorism risk protection.

As we learn more about the Manager's Amendment, and the possibl e development of an alternative (perhaps an alternative offered as a substitute), we will be in touch with you. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to get in touch with us at 202-944-2818.

On Wednesday, the House Rules Committee will be considering the Terrorism
Risk
Protection (i.e., insurance) Bill reported by the Financial Services

As reported, the bill is H.R. 3210, however, we have learned that a

What has any of this to do with preserving the market for terrorism risk insurance?

This is only a sampling of what we hear may be in the Manager's Amendment. Congress needs to focus on the real issue, which is a responsible role for the federal government in working with insurers to extend terrorism risk protection beyond December 31st. Congress should turn its back on this unrelated tort reform agenda.

Oppose the Manager's Amendment; support genuine terrrorism risk protection.

As we learn more about the Manager's Amendment, and the possibl e development of an alternative (perhaps an alternative offered as a substitute), we will be in touch with you. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to get in touch with us at 202-944-2818.

Summary

The Terrorism Risk Protection Act is the most pro-taxpayer, pro-consumer proposal to ensure terrorism coverage for consumers, with a significant commercial industry/policyholder stake, and relatively little regulation required (most of which would only kick in if an event occurred). This proposal is relatively low-maintenance for the government and will sunset without a private sector addiction to Federal subsidies.

For commercial insurers, the bill protects individual companies more than any other proposal. For policyholders, since insurers will have an incentive to write terrorism coverage, it greatly increases the affordability and availability of coverage. Taxpayers and the Federal treasury are protected from unlimited financial risk because they are not on the hook for the ultimate costs. Every dollar of Federal assistance will be repaid. If no event occurs, no bureaucracy is created, and the legislation sunsets after a brief period of time.

Key Elements

- Requires all Federal taxpayer costs/assistance to be paid back.
- Models risk-sharing plan on existing State insurance programs.
- Sets trigger at $100 million for small commercial insurers and $1 billion as an industry wide aggregate.
- Provides 90% Federal share with 10% individual company retention.
- Assesses first $20 billion in losses back to commercial insurers over time.
- Recoups subsequent losses through commercial policyholder surcharges.
- Provides the Treasury Secretary limited flexibility in determining assessments and surcharges based on economic conditions and the impact on urban, rural, and small commercial centers.
- Establishes uniform definition of terrorism.
- Authorizes one-year program with optional extension for up to two additional years.
- Includes limited liability reforms to protect taxpayer funds.

Advantages

- No taxpayer bailout — any Federal funds used to boost liquidity are paid back by commercial industry/policyholders (the primary beneficiaries of any proposal) over time.
- Greatly increases capacity of insurers to offer terrorism coverage.
- Companies get first dollar protection. Without this early protection, few companies can afford their individual risk and won't offer significant or affordable coverage.
- Protects small and large policyholders, and small and large insurers, while retaining incentives for risk management and efficient claims processing.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF H.R. 3210 – FLOOR VERSION

Section 1. Short Title and Table of Contents

This section sets forth the short title of the bill, the "Terrorism Risk Protection Act," and provides a table of contents.

Section 2. Congressional Findings

This section provides Congressional findings about the damage from the September 11, 2001 terrorist attack, the resulting market disruption and potential unavailability of future terrorism insurance coverage, and the need for a temporary industry risk sharing program to facilitate transition back to a viable private insurance and reinsurance market.

Section 3. Authority of Secretary of the Treasury

This section provides that the Secretary of the Treasury will be responsible for carrying out the temporary risk sharing program for the commercial property and casualty insurance industry.

Section 4. Submission of Premium Information to Secretary

This section recognizes that insurance premium information is already provided to State insurance commissioners and the NAIC, but allows the Secretary, to the extent that such information is not otherwise available, to require insurers to submit their net U.S. commercial property and casualty insurance premium data to the NAIC or the Secretary.

Section 5. Initial and Subsequent Triggering Determinations

This section directs the Secretary to determine whether insured losses from acts of terrorism over a 12 month period exceed the triggering thresholds. The section provides for an industry-wide trigger and an individual insurer trigger. The Secretary will make a triggering determination for the entire commercial property and casualty insurance industry if industry-wide losses exceed $1 billion. The Secretary will make a company specific triggering determination if industry-wide losses exceed $100 million and the portion of those losses for any one commercial insurer exceed both 10 percent of the company's capital surplus and net premiums. The lower $100 million threshold does not apply to any commercial insurer that was not providing commercial property and casualty coverage prior to September 11, 2001, except for certain terrorism risk pools.

Subsection (b) gives the Secretary, after consultation with the Attorney General and Secretary of State, sole authority to determine whether a loss was caused by an act of terrorism and whether the terrorist attack occurred during the period of time covered by this legislation. The ability of the Secretary to make such determinations under this subsection is not limited to commercial property and casualty insurance, but rather is intended to apply for all lines of insurance.

Section 6. Federal Cost-Sharing for Commercial Insurers

Once the Secretary makes an industry-wide triggering determination in section 5, then financial cost-sharing is provided to each insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90% of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of the triggering event and $5 million. If the industry-wide triggering determination is not reached, but the Secretary makes a company specific triggering determination, then financial cost-sharing is provided to that insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90 percent of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of such triggering event and 10 percent of the net commercial property and casualty premiums written by such commercial insurer (as a deductible). Federal assistance is capped at $100 billion. A sense of the Congress provides that terrorist events causing in excess of that amount would necessitate further Congressional action. Any Federal assistance provided will be repaid through the assessments and surcharges provided for in section 7 and 8, and may be designated by the President as emergency budget authority and outlays. Federal assistance received by an insurer should not be treated as a loan for balance sheet purposes. Furthermore, Federal assistance will be available for all property and casualty terrorism risk insurance policies in force during the coverage period of this legislation as long as the insurer was providing such coverage(or not excluding terrorism risk coverage) on or before September 11, 2001.

Section 7. Assessments

This section is modeled after the State insurance guarantee funds that exist in almost every State to address the possibility of insurer insolvencies, as well as numerous State catastrophic insurance funds. After the Secretary makes a triggering determination in section 5, every commercial insurer is subject to an assessment based on an insurer's net commercial insurance premiums to repay any Federal cost-sharing assistance provided under section 6. The aggregate amount assessed will be equal to the lesser of $20 billion or the amount of financial assistance paid.

The aggregate assessment amount shall be assessed to commercial insurers through an industry obligation assessment and, if necessary, the remainder through one or more future financing assessments. Industry obligation assessments are imposed immediately following a triggering determination in an amount up to $5 billion, and if the program is extended pursuant to section 20 for a second or third year, up to $10 billion in each additional year. Financing assessments (any losses above the $5 or $10 billion) shall begin 12 months after the last obligation assessment, and shall not exceed 3 percent of an insurer's net commercial premiums for that year. If the amount assessed through financing assessments in any given year is insufficient to cover Federal assistance, then the Secretary will make a new assessment in each following year until the amount is recouped. The Secretary may delay the assessment of an insurer to avoid an insolvency and may adjust or delay assessments generally as provided in section 9.

Section 8. Terrorism Loss Repayment Surcharge

This section applies only to terrorist losses that exceed $20 billion, and is modeled after several State catastrophic insurance programs. To recoup Federal assistance provided in section 6 for amounts above the Federal share of the $20 billion, the Secretary will impose a commercial policyholder surcharge to the extent that economic and market conditions permit. The factors to be weighed in determining the extent of the surcharge are the ultimate costs to taxpayers if a surcharge is not established, the economic conditions in the commercial marketplace, the affordability of commercial insurance for small and medium-sized business, and such other factors the Secretary considers appropriate. The terrorism repayment surcharge will be on all commercial insurance premiums based on a percentage of any coverage amounts but in any given year may not exceed the amount equal to 3 percent of the premium charged for such coverage. For purposes of this section, commercial property and casualty insurance does not include any reinsurance provided to primary insurance companies, so as to avoid a double surcharge.

Section 9. Administration of Assessments and Surcharges

This section provides the Secretary with significant flexibility in establishing the manner and method of carrying out any assessments or surcharges, in particular as necessary to protect the national interest, avoid unreasonable economic disruption and market instability, and avoid undue burdens on small businesses. The Secretary must also take into consideration the economic impact of any of these assessments and surcharges on urban and smaller commercial and rural areas and different lines of insurance. The Secretary may also make special adjustments to provide for commercial insurers and policies that are not based on a calendar year. The Secretary is also given the authority to assess civil monetary penalties for insurers that submit false data, fail to pay assessed amounts, or fail to collect appropriate surcharges.

Section 10. Application to Self-Insurance Arrangements and Offshore Insurers and Reinsurers

In consultation with the NAIC, the Secretary may apply the provisions of this bill to self-insurance arrangements by municipalities and other entities, but only if that determination is made before the occurrence of a triggering event and all of the provisions of this legislation are applied uniformly to such entities. The Committee expects that many types of self-insuring entities may desire or need risk-sharing coverage for terrorism attacks, while for others participation may be inappropriate. The Secretary is given authority to determine which of these entities should be participating, so long as application of the benefits and costs are applied equally. The Secretary must also ensure that the provisions of this bill are applied as appropriate to any offshore or non-admitted entities that provide commercial property and casualty insurance. Both provisions of this section are intended in part to prevent evasion of assessments.

Section 11. Reserve for Terrorism Coverage Under Commercial Lines of Business

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 12. State Preemption

This section preempts certain State laws to ensure uniform compliance with the bill. Subsection (a) preempts State laws that would conflict with the provision of coverage for acts of terror under the definitions of this legislation. Subsection (b) establishes a narrow preemption to allow insurers to adjust premiums only as necessary to recover the amounts of any assessments under section 7. Subsection (c) preempts State pre-filing approval requirements for commercial property and casualty insurance policies covering acts of terrorism due to the insufficient time between enactment of this legislation and January 1, 2002, but expressly preserves the ability of the States to undertake any subsequent review or action on those policies.

Section 13. Consistent State Guidelines for Coverage for Acts of Terrorism

This section establishes the sense of Congress that the NAIC and the Secretary should consult with each other and develop appropriate definitions for acts of terrorism and standards for determining the number of terrorist events or occurrences. Each State and the Secretary should then adopt such definitions and standards. A further sense of the Congress is provided that the NAIC should develop appropriate guidelines governing insurers' terrorism reserves, including any pooling of those reserves. The Secretary is directed to promulgate those guidelines on a nationwide basis if the States have not adopted guidelines in a uniform manner. A sense of the Congress is also provided that the States should establish regulations requiring separate disclosure to consumers of the costs of any terrorism related coverage. If the States have not adequately adopted such disclosures within a reasonable period of time, the Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC and adopt national guidelines requiring such disclosure.

Section 14. Consultation with State Insurance Regulators and the NAIC

The Secretary is directed to consult with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC in carrying out this bill, and may enter into agreements with the States and the NAIC to provide for the distribution of financial assistance, or the collection of any assessments or surcharges. The Secretary, may, in consultation with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC, investigate and audit claims of insured losses by commercial insurers.

Section 15. Sovereign Immunity Protections

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 16. Study of Potential Effects of Terrorism on Life Insurance Industry

This section directs the President to establish a commission to study and report within 120 days after the enactment of the bill on the potential effects of acts of terrorism on the life insurance industry in the U.S. and markets served by such industry. The membership of this commission shall include: the Secretary of the Treasury; the Chairman of the Federal Reserve System; the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security; and four members appointed by the President from the insurance community.

Section 17. Railroad and Trucking Insurance Study

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury to conduct a study to determine the availability of commercially reasonable railroad and trucking insurance for acts of terrorism. The Secretary must submit a report to Congress within 120 days after enactment of this legislation.

Section 18. Study of Reinsurance Pool System for Future Acts of Terrorism

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, and the Comptroller General to jointly conduct a study on the advisability and effectiveness of establishing a terrorism reinsurance pool system in lieu of the program created by this bill. The study must utilize a variety of informational sources and be jointly submitted to Congress not later than 6 months after enactment.

Section 19. Definitions

This section establishes various definitions. The term "Act of terrorism" is defined as an act that is unlawful, causes harm to persons or property in the United States or to any U.S. air carrier or U.S. flag vessel outside the United States committed by persons who are recognized (prior or subsequently) by the Department of State or the Secretary as a terrorist group, or who conspire with the surrogates of a recognized terrorist group, and has the purpose of destabilizing any country or to influence the United States by coercion. As defined, an act of terrorism is not an act of war. The Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC to further refine this definition. This section further provides that the bill only applies to commercial property and casualty insurance.

Section 20. Extension of Program

This section grants the Secretary authority to extend the coverage period of the bill through the 2004 calendar year, if the extension is necessary to ensure the adequate availability in the United States of commercial property and casualty insurance coverage for acts of terror. Extensions are to be made on a year-by-year basis and the Secretary is required to report to Congress on the reasons for any extensions beyond the 2002 calendar year.

Section 21. Regulations

This section grants the Secretary authority to issue regulations as necessary to implement this legislation.

This section directs the Secretary to determine whether insured losses from acts of terrorism over a 12 month period exceed the triggering thresholds. The section provides for an industry-wide trigger and an individual insurer trigger. The Secretary will make a triggering determination for the entire commercial property and casualty insurance industry if industry-wide losses exceed $1 billion. The Secretary will make a company specific triggering determination if industry-wide losses exceed $100 million and the portion of those losses for any one commercial insurer exceed both 10 percent of the company's capital surplus and net premiums. The lower $100 million threshold does not apply to any commercial insurer that was not providing commercial property and casualty coverage prior to September 11, 2001, except for certain terrorism risk pools.

Subsection (b) gives the Secretary, after consultation with the Attorney General and Secretary of State, sole authority to determine whether a loss was caused by an act of terrorism and whether the terrorist attack occurred during the period of time covered by this legislation. The ability of the Secretary to make such determinations under this subsection is not limited to commercial property and casualty insurance, but rather is intended to apply for all lines of insurance.

Section 6. Federal Cost-Sharing for Commercial Insurers

Once the Secretary makes an industry-wide triggering determination in section 5, then financial cost-sharing is provided to each insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90% of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of the triggering event and $5 million. If the industry-wide triggering determination is not reached, but the Secretary makes a company specific triggering determination, then financial cost-sharing is provided to that insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90 percent of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of such triggering event and 10 percent of the net commercial property and casualty premiums written by such commercial insurer (as a deductible). Federal assistance is capped at $100 billion. A sense of the Congress provides that terrorist events causing in excess of that amount would necessitate further Congressional action. Any Federal assistance provided will be repaid through the assessments and surcharges provided for in section 7 and 8, and may be designated by the President as emergency budget authority and outlays. Federal assistance received by an insurer should not be treated as a loan for balance sheet purposes. Furthermore, Federal assistance will be available for all property and casualty terrorism risk insurance policies in force during the coverage period of this legislation as long as the insurer was providing such coverage(or not excluding terrorism risk coverage) on or before September 11, 2001.

Section 7. Assessments

This section is modeled after the State insurance guarantee funds that exist in almost every State to address the possibility of insurer insolvencies, as well as numerous State catastrophic insurance funds. After the Secretary makes a triggering determination in section 5, every commercial insurer is subject to an assessment based on an insurer's net commercial insurance premiums to repay any Federal cost-sharing assistance provided under section 6. The aggregate amount assessed will be equal to the lesser of $20 billion or the amount of financial assistance paid.

The aggregate assessment amount shall be assessed to commercial insurers through an industry obligation assessment and, if necessary, the remainder through one or more future financing assessments. Industry obligation assessments are imposed immediately following a triggering determination in an amount up to $5 billion, and if the program is extended pursuant to section 20 for a second or third year, up to $10 billion in each additional year. Financing assessments (any losses above the $5 or $10 billion) shall begin 12 months after the last obligation assessment, and shall not exceed 3 percent of an insurer's net commercial premiums for that year. If the amount assessed through financing assessments in any given year is insufficient to cover Federal assistance, then the Secretary will make a new assessment in each following year until the amount is recouped. The Secretary may delay the assessment of an insurer to avoid an insolvency and may adjust or delay assessments generally as provided in section 9.

Section 8. Terrorism Loss Repayment Surcharge

This section applies only to terrorist losses that exceed $20 billion, and is modeled after several State catastrophic insurance programs. To recoup Federal assistance provided in section 6 for amounts above the Federal share of the $20 billion, the Secretary will impose a commercial policyholder surcharge to the extent that economic and market conditions permit. The factors to be weighed in determining the extent of the surcharge are the ultimate costs to taxpayers if a surcharge is not established, the economic conditions in the commercial marketplace, the affordability of commercial insurance for small and medium-sized business, and such other factors the Secretary considers appropriate. The terrorism repayment surcharge will be on all commercial insurance premiums based on a percentage of any coverage amounts but in any given year may not exceed the amount equal to 3 percent of the premium charged for such coverage. For purposes of this section, commercial property and casualty insurance does not include any reinsurance provided to primary insurance companies, so as to avoid a double surcharge.

Section 9. Administration of Assessments and Surcharges

This section provides the Secretary with significant flexibility in establishing the manner and method of carrying out any assessments or surcharges, in particular as necessary to protect the national interest, avoid unreasonable economic disruption and market instability, and avoid undue burdens on small businesses. The Secretary must also take into consideration the economic impact of any of these assessments and surcharges on urban and smaller commercial and rural areas and different lines of insurance. The Secretary may also make special adjustments to provide for commercial insurers and policies that are not based on a calendar year. The Secretary is also given the authority to assess civil monetary penalties for insurers that submit false data, fail to pay assessed amounts, or fail to collect appropriate surcharges.

Section 10. Application to Self-Insurance Arrangements and Offshore Insurers and Reinsurers

In consultation with the NAIC, the Secretary may apply the provisions of this bill to self-insurance arrangements by municipalities and other entities, but only if that determination is made before the occurrence of a triggering event and all of the provisions of this legislation are applied uniformly to such entities. The Committee expects that many types of self-insuring entities may desire or need risk-sharing coverage for terrorism attacks, while for others participation may be inappropriate. The Secretary is given authority to determine which of these entities should be participating, so long as application of the benefits and costs are applied equally. The Secretary must also ensure that the provisions of this bill are applied as appropriate to any offshore or non-admitted entities that provide commercial property and casualty insurance. Both provisions of this section are intended in part to prevent evasion of assessments.

Section 11. Reserve for Terrorism Coverage Under Commercial Lines of Business

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 12. State Preemption

This section preempts certain State laws to ensure uniform compliance with the bill. Subsection (a) preempts State laws that would conflict with the provision of coverage for acts of terror under the definitions of this legislation. Subsection (b) establishes a narrow preemption to allow insurers to adjust premiums only as necessary to recover the amounts of any assessments under section 7. Subsection (c) preempts State pre-filing approval requirements for commercial property and casualty insurance policies covering acts of terrorism due to the insufficient time between enactment of this legislation and January 1, 2002, but expressly preserves the ability of the States to undertake any subsequent review or action on those policies.

Section 13. Consistent State Guidelines for Coverage for Acts of Terrorism

This section establishes the sense of Congress that the NAIC and the Secretary should consult with each other and develop appropriate definitions for acts of terrorism and standards for determining the number of terrorist events or occurrences. Each State and the Secretary should then adopt such definitions and standards. A further sense of the Congress is provided that the NAIC should develop appropriate guidelines governing insurers' terrorism reserves, including any pooling of those reserves. The Secretary is directed to promulgate those guidelines on a nationwide basis if the States have not adopted guidelines in a uniform manner. A sense of the Congress is also provided that the States should establish regulations requiring separate disclosure to consumers of the costs of any terrorism related coverage. If the States have not adequately adopted such disclosures within a reasonable period of time, the Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC and adopt national guidelines requiring such disclosure.

Section 14. Consultation with State Insurance Regulators and the NAIC

The Secretary is directed to consult with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC in carrying out this bill, and may enter into agreements with the States and the NAIC to provide for the distribution of financial assistance, or the collection of any assessments or surcharges. The Secretary, may, in consultation with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC, investigate and audit claims of insured losses by commercial insurers.

Section 15. Sovereign Immunity Protections

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 16. Study of Potential Effects of Terrorism on Life Insurance Industry

This section directs the President to establish a commission to study and report within 120 days after the enactment of the bill on the potential effects of acts of terrorism on the life insurance industry in the U.S. and markets served by such industry. The membership of this commission shall include: the Secretary of the Treasury; the Chairman of the Federal Reserve System; the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security; and four members appointed by the President from the insurance community.

Section 17. Railroad and Trucking Insurance Study

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury to conduct a study to determine the availability of commercially reasonable railroad and trucking insurance for acts of terrorism. The Secretary must submit a report to Congress within 120 days after enactment of this legislation.

Section 18. Study of Reinsurance Pool System for Future Acts of Terrorism

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, and the Comptroller General to jointly conduct a study on the advisability and effectiveness of establishing a terrorism reinsurance pool system in lieu of the program created by this bill. The study must utilize a variety of informational sources and be jointly submitted to Congress not later than 6 months after enactment.

Section 19. Definitions

This section establishes various definitions. The term "Act of terrorism" is defined as an act that is unlawful, causes harm to persons or property in the United States or to any U.S. air carrier or U.S. flag vessel outside the United States committed by persons who are recognized (prior or subsequently) by the Department of State or the Secretary as a terrorist group, or who conspire with the surrogates of a recognized terrorist group, and has the purpose of destabilizing any country or to influence the United States by coercion. As defined, an act of terrorism is not an act of war. The Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC to further refine this definition. This section further provides that the bill only applies to commercial property and casualty insurance.

Section 20. Extension of Program

This section grants the Secretary authority to extend the coverage period of the bill through the 2004 calendar year, if the extension is necessary to ensure the adequate availability in the United States of commercial property and casualty insurance coverage for acts of terror. Extensions are to be made on a year-by-year basis and the Secretary is required to report to Congress on the reasons for any extensions beyond the 2002 calendar year.

Section 21. Regulations

This section grants the Secretary authority to issue regulations as necessary to implement this legislation.

Summary

The Terrorism Risk Protection Act is the most pro-taxpayer, pro-consumer proposal to ensure terrorism coverage for consumers, with a significant commercial industry/policyholder stake, and relatively little regulation required (most of which would only kick in if an event occurred). This proposal is relatively low-maintenance for the government and will sunset without a private sector addiction to Federal subsidies.

For commercial insurers, the bill protects individual companies more than any other proposal. For policyholders, since insurers will have an incentive to write terrorism coverage, it greatly increases the affordability and availability of coverage. Taxpayers and the Federal treasury are protected from unlimited financial risk because they are not on the hook for the ultimate costs. Every dollar of Federal assistance will be repaid. If no event occurs, no bureaucracy is created, and the legislation sunsets after a brief period of time.

Key Elements

- Requires all Federal taxpayer costs/assistance to be paid back.
- Models risk-sharing plan on existing State insurance programs.
- Sets trigger at $100 million for small commercial insurers and $1 billion as an industry wide aggregate.
- Provides 90% Federal share with 10% individual company retention.
- Assesses first $20 billion in losses back to commercial insurers over time.
- Recoups subsequent losses through commercial policyholder surcharges.
- Provides the Treasury Secretary limited flexibility in determining assessments and surcharges based on economic conditions and the impact on urban, rural, and small commercial centers.
- Establishes uniform definition of terrorism.
- Authorizes one-year program with optional extension for up to two additional years.
- Includes limited liability reforms to protect taxpayer funds.

Advantages

- No taxpayer bailout — any Federal funds used to boost liquidity are paid back by commercial industry/policyholders (the primary beneficiaries of any proposal) over time.
- Greatly increases capacity of insurers to offer terrorism coverage.
- Companies get first dollar protection. Without this early protection, few companies can afford their individual risk and won't offer significant or affordable coverage.
- Protects small and large policyholders, and small and large insurers, while retaining incentives for risk management and efficient claims processing.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF H.R. 3210 – FLOOR VERSION

Section 1. Short Title and Table of Contents

Section 2. Congressional Findings

This section provides Congressional findings about the damage from the September 11, 2001 terrorist attack, the resulting market disruption and potential unavailability of future terrorism insurance coverage, and the need for a temporary industry risk sharing program to facilitate transition back to a viable private insurance and reinsurance market.

Section 3. Authority of Secretary of the Treasury

This section provides that the Secretary of the Treasury will be responsible for carrying out the temporary risk sharing program for the commercial property and casualty insurance industry.

Section 4. Submission of Premium Information to Secretary

This section recognizes that insurance premium information is already provided to State insurance commissioners and the NAIC, but allows the Secretary, to the extent that such information is not otherwise available, to require insurers to submit their net U.S. commercial property and casualty insurance premium data to the NAIC or the Secretary.

Section 5. Initial and Subsequent Triggering Determinations

This section directs the Secretary to determine whether insured losses from acts of terrorism over a 12 month period exceed the triggering thresholds. The section provides for an industry-wide trigger and an individual insurer trigger. The Secretary will make a triggering determination for the entire commercial property and casualty insurance industry if industry-wide losses exceed $1 billion. The Secretary will make a company specific triggering determination if industry-wide losses exceed $100 million and the portion of those losses for any one commercial insurer exceed both 10 percent of the company's capital surplus and net premiums. The lower $100 million threshold does not apply to any commercial insurer that was not providing commercial property and casualty coverage prior to September 11, 2001, except for certain terrorism risk pools.

Subsection (b) gives the Secretary, after consultation with the Attorney General and Secretary of State, sole authority to determine whether a loss was caused by an act of terrorism and whether the terrorist attack occurred during the period of time covered by this legislation. The ability of the Secretary to make such determinations under this subsection is not limited to commercial property and casualty insurance, but rather is intended to apply for all lines of insurance.

Section 6. Federal Cost-Sharing for Commercial Insurers

Once the Secretary makes an industry-wide triggering determination in section 5, then financial cost-sharing is provided to each insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90% of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of the triggering event and $5 million. If the industry-wide triggering determination is not reached, but the Secretary makes a company specific triggering determination, then financial cost-sharing is provided to that insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90 percent of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of such triggering event and 10 percent of the net commercial property and casualty premiums written by such commercial insurer (as a deductible). Federal assistance is capped at $100 billion. A sense of the Congress provides that terrorist events causing in excess of that amount would necessitate further Congressional action. Any Federal assistance provided will be repaid through the assessments and surcharges provided for in section 7 and 8, and may be designated by the President as emergency budget authority and outlays. Federal assistance received by an insurer should not be treated as a loan for balance sheet purposes. Furthermore, Federal assistance will be available for all property and casualty terrorism risk insurance policies in force during the coverage period of this legislation as long as the insurer was providing such coverage(or not excluding terrorism risk coverage) on or before September 11, 2001.

Section 7. Assessments

This section is modeled after the State insurance guarantee funds that exist in almost every State to address the possibility of insurer insolvencies, as well as numerous State catastrophic insurance funds. After the Secretary makes a triggering determination in section 5, every commercial insurer is subject to an assessment based on an insurer's net commercial insurance premiums to repay any Federal cost-sharing assistance provided under section 6. The aggregate amount assessed will be equal to the lesser of $20 billion or the amount of financial assistance paid.

The aggregate assessment amount shall be assessed to commercial insurers through an industry obligation assessment and, if necessary, the remainder through one or more future financing assessments. Industry obligation assessments are imposed immediately following a triggering determination in an amount up to $5 billion, and if the program is extended pursuant to section 20 for a second or third year, up to $10 billion in each additional year. Financing assessments (any losses above the $5 or $10 billion) shall begin 12 months after the last obligation assessment, and shall not exceed 3 percent of an insurer's net commercial premiums for that year. If the amount assessed through financing assessments in any given year is insufficient to cover Federal assistance, then the Secretary will make a new assessment in each following year until the amount is recouped. The Secretary may delay the assessment of an insurer to avoid an insolvency and may adjust or delay assessments generally as provided in section 9.

Section 8. Terrorism Loss Repayment Surcharge

This section applies only to terrorist losses that exceed $20 billion, and is modeled after several State catastrophic insurance programs. To recoup Federal assistance provided in section 6 for amounts above the Federal share of the $20 billion, the Secretary will impose a commercial policyholder surcharge to the extent that economic and market conditions permit. The factors to be weighed in determining the extent of the surcharge are the ultimate costs to taxpayers if a surcharge is not established, the economic conditions in the commercial marketplace, the affordability of commercial insurance for small and medium-sized business, and such other factors the Secretary considers appropriate. The terrorism repayment surcharge will be on all commercial insurance premiums based on a percentage of any coverage amounts but in any given year may not exceed the amount equal to 3 percent of the premium charged for such coverage. For purposes of this section, commercial property and casualty insurance does not include any reinsurance provided to primary insurance companies, so as to avoid a double surcharge.

Section 9. Administration of Assessments and Surcharges

This section provides the Secretary with significant flexibility in establishing the manner and method of carrying out any assessments or surcharges, in particular as necessary to protect the national interest, avoid unreasonable economic disruption and market instability, and avoid undue burdens on small businesses. The Secretary must also take into consideration the economic impact of any of these assessments and surcharges on urban and smaller commercial and rural areas and different lines of insurance. The Secretary may also make special adjustments to provide for commercial insurers and policies that are not based on a calendar year. The Secretary is also given the authority to assess civil monetary penalties for insurers that submit false data, fail to pay assessed amounts, or fail to collect appropriate surcharges.

Section 10. Application to Self-Insurance Arrangements and Offshore Insurers and Reinsurers

In consultation with the NAIC, the Secretary may apply the provisions of this bill to self-insurance arrangements by municipalities and other entities, but only if that determination is made before the occurrence of a triggering event and all of the provisions of this legislation are applied uniformly to such entities. The Committee expects that many types of self-insuring entities may desire or need risk-sharing coverage for terrorism attacks, while for others participation may be inappropriate. The Secretary is given authority to determine which of these entities should be participating, so long as application of the benefits and costs are applied equally. The Secretary must also ensure that the provisions of this bill are applied as appropriate to any offshore or non-admitted entities that provide commercial property and casualty insurance. Both provisions of this section are intended in part to prevent evasion of assessments.

Section 11. Reserve for Terrorism Coverage Under Commercial Lines of Business

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 12. State Preemption

This section preempts certain State laws to ensure uniform compliance with the bill. Subsection (a) preempts State laws that would conflict with the provision of coverage for acts of terror under the definitions of this legislation. Subsection (b) establishes a narrow preemption to allow insurers to adjust premiums only as necessary to recover the amounts of any assessments under section 7. Subsection (c) preempts State pre-filing approval requirements for commercial property and casualty insurance policies covering acts of terrorism due to the insufficient time between enactment of this legislation and January 1, 2002, but expressly preserves the ability of the States to undertake any subsequent review or action on those policies.

Section 13. Consistent State Guidelines for Coverage for Acts of Terrorism

This section establishes the sense of Congress that the NAIC and the Secretary should consult with each other and develop appropriate definitions for acts of terrorism and standards for determining the number of terrorist events or occurrences. Each State and the Secretary should then adopt such definitions and standards. A further sense of the Congress is provided that the NAIC should develop appropriate guidelines governing insurers' terrorism reserves, including any pooling of those reserves. The Secretary is directed to promulgate those guidelines on a nationwide basis if the States have not adopted guidelines in a uniform manner. A sense of the Congress is also provided that the States should establish regulations requiring separate disclosure to consumers of the costs of any terrorism related coverage. If the States have not adequately adopted such disclosures within a reasonable period of time, the Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC and adopt national guidelines requiring such disclosure.

Section 14. Consultation with State Insurance Regulators and the NAIC

The Secretary is directed to consult with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC in carrying out this bill, and may enter into agreements with the States and the NAIC to provide for the distribution of financial assistance, or the collection of any assessments or surcharges. The Secretary, may, in consultation with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC, investigate and audit claims of insured losses by commercial insurers.

Section 15. Sovereign Immunity Protections

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 16. Study of Potential Effects of Terrorism on Life Insurance Industry

This section directs the President to establish a commission to study and report within 120 days after the enactment of the bill on the potential effects of acts of terrorism on the life insurance industry in the U.S. and markets served by such industry. The membership of this commission shall include: the Secretary of the Treasury; the Chairman of the Federal Reserve System; the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security; and four members appointed by the President from the insurance community.

Section 17. Railroad and Trucking Insurance Study

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury to conduct a study to determine the availability of commercially reasonable railroad and trucking insurance for acts of terrorism. The Secretary must submit a report to Congress within 120 days after enactment of this legislation.

Section 18. Study of Reinsurance Pool System for Future Acts of Terrorism

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, and the Comptroller General to jointly conduct a study on the advisability and effectiveness of establishing a terrorism reinsurance pool system in lieu of the program created by this bill. The study must utilize a variety of informational sources and be jointly submitted to Congress not later than 6 months after enactment.

Section 19. Definitions

This section establishes various definitions. The term "Act of terrorism" is defined as an act that is unlawful, causes harm to persons or property in the United States or to any U.S. air carrier or U.S. flag vessel outside the United States committed by persons who are recognized (prior or subsequently) by the Department of State or the Secretary as a terrorist group, or who conspire with the surrogates of a recognized terrorist group, and has the purpose of destabilizing any country or to influence the United States by coercion. As defined, an act of terrorism is not an act of war. The Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC to further refine this definition. This section further provides that the bill only applies to commercial property and casualty insurance.

Section 20. Extension of Program

This section grants the Secretary authority to extend the coverage period of the bill through the 2004 calendar year, if the extension is necessary to ensure the adequate availability in the United States of commercial property and casualty insurance coverage for acts of terror. Extensions are to be made on a year-by-year basis and the Secretary is required to report to Congress on the reasons for any extensions beyond the 2002 calendar year.

Section 21. Regulations

This section grants the Secretary authority to issue regulations as necessary to implement this legislation.

Summary

The Terrorism Risk Protection Act is the most pro-taxpayer, pro-consumer proposal to ensure terrorism coverage for consumers, with a significant commercial industry/policyholder stake, and relatively little regulation required (most of which would only kick in if an event occurred). This proposal is relatively low-maintenance for the government and will sunset without a private sector addiction to Federal subsidies.

For commercial insurers, the bill protects individual companies more than any other proposal. For policyholders, since insurers will have an incentive to write terrorism coverage, it greatly increases the affordability and availability of coverage. Taxpayers and the Federal treasury are protected from unlimited financial risk because they are not on the hook for the ultimate costs. Every dollar of Federal assistance will be repaid. If no event occurs, no bureaucracy is created, and the legislation sunsets after a brief period of time.

Key Elements

- Requires all Federal taxpayer costs/assistance to be paid back.
- Models risk-sharing plan on existing State insurance programs.
- Sets trigger at $100 million for small commercial insurers and $1 billion as an industry wide aggregate.
- Provides 90% Federal share with 10% individual company retention.
- Assesses first $20 billion in losses back to commercial insurers over time.
- Recoups subsequent losses through commercial policyholder surcharges.
- Provides the Treasury Secretary limited flexibility in determining assessments and surcharges based on economic conditions and the impact on urban, rural, and small commercial centers.
- Establishes uniform definition of terrorism.
- Authorizes one-year program with optional extension for up to two additional years.
- Includes limited liability reforms to protect taxpayer funds.

Advantages

- No taxpayer bailout — any Federal funds used to boost liquidity are paid back by commercial industry/policyholders (the primary beneficiaries of any proposal) over time.
- Greatly increases capacity of insurers to offer terrorism coverage.
- Companies get first dollar protection. Without this early protection, few companies can afford their individual risk and won't offer significant or affordable coverage.
- Protects small and large policyholders, and small and large insurers, while retaining incentives for risk management and efficient claims processing.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF H.R. 3210 – FLOOR VERSION

Section 1. Short Title and Table of Contents

Section 2. Congressional Findings

This section provides Congressional findings about the damage from the September 11, 2001 terrorist attack, the resulting market disruption and potential unavailability of future terrorism insurance coverage, and the need for a temporary industry risk sharing program to facilitate transition back to a viable private insurance and reinsurance market.

Section 3. Authority of Secretary of the Treasury

This section provides that the Secretary of the Treasury will be responsible for carrying out the temporary risk sharing program for the commercial property and casualty insurance industry.

Section 4. Submission of Premium Information to Secretary

This section recognizes that insurance premium information is already provided to State insurance commissioners and the NAIC, but allows the Secretary, to the extent that such information is not otherwise available, to require insurers to submit their net U.S. commercial property and casualty insurance premium data to the NAIC or the Secretary.

Section 5. Initial and Subsequent Triggering Determinations

This section directs the Secretary to determine whether insured losses from acts of terrorism over a 12 month period exceed the triggering thresholds. The section provides for an industry-wide trigger and an individual insurer trigger. The Secretary will make a triggering determination for the entire commercial property and casualty insurance industry if industry-wide losses exceed $1 billion. The Secretary will make a company specific triggering determination if industry-wide losses exceed $100 million and the portion of those losses for any one commercial insurer exceed both 10 percent of the company's capital surplus and net premiums. The lower $100 million threshold does not apply to any commercial insurer that was not providing commercial property and casualty coverage prior to September 11, 2001, except for certain terrorism risk pools.

Subsection (b) gives the Secretary, after consultation with the Attorney General and Secretary of State, sole authority to determine whether a loss was caused by an act of terrorism and whether the terrorist attack occurred during the period of time covered by this legislation. The ability of the Secretary to make such determinations under this subsection is not limited to commercial property and casualty insurance, but rather is intended to apply for all lines of insurance.

Section 6. Federal Cost-Sharing for Commercial Insurers

Once the Secretary makes an industry-wide triggering determination in section 5, then financial cost-sharing is provided to each insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90% of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of the triggering event and $5 million. If the industry-wide triggering determination is not reached, but the Secretary makes a company specific triggering determination, then financial cost-sharing is provided to that insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90 percent of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of such triggering event and 10 percent of the net commercial property and casualty premiums written by such commercial insurer (as a deductible). Federal assistance is capped at $100 billion. A sense of the Congress provides that terrorist events causing in excess of that amount would necessitate further Congressional action. Any Federal assistance provided will be repaid through the assessments and surcharges provided for in section 7 and 8, and may be designated by the President as emergency budget authority and outlays. Federal assistance received by an insurer should not be treated as a loan for balance sheet purposes. Furthermore, Federal assistance will be available for all property and casualty terrorism risk insurance policies in force during the coverage period of this legislation as long as the insurer was providing such coverage(or not excluding terrorism risk coverage) on or before September 11, 2001.

Section 7. Assessments

This section is modeled after the State insurance guarantee funds that exist in almost every State to address the possibility of insurer insolvencies, as well as numerous State catastrophic insurance funds. After the Secretary makes a triggering determination in section 5, every commercial insurer is subject to an assessment based on an insurer's net commercial insurance premiums to repay any Federal cost-sharing assistance provided under section 6. The aggregate amount assessed will be equal to the lesser of $20 billion or the amount of financial assistance paid.

The aggregate assessment amount shall be assessed to commercial insurers through an industry obligation assessment and, if necessary, the remainder through one or more future financing assessments. Industry obligation assessments are imposed immediately following a triggering determination in an amount up to $5 billion, and if the program is extended pursuant to section 20 for a second or third year, up to $10 billion in each additional year. Financing assessments (any losses above the $5 or $10 billion) shall begin 12 months after the last obligation assessment, and shall not exceed 3 percent of an insurer's net commercial premiums for that year. If the amount assessed through financing assessments in any given year is insufficient to cover Federal assistance, then the Secretary will make a new assessment in each following year until the amount is recouped. The Secretary may delay the assessment of an insurer to avoid an insolvency and may adjust or delay assessments generally as provided in section 9.

Section 8. Terrorism Loss Repayment Surcharge

This section applies only to terrorist losses that exceed $20 billion, and is modeled after several State catastrophic insurance programs. To recoup Federal assistance provided in section 6 for amounts above the Federal share of the $20 billion, the Secretary will impose a commercial policyholder surcharge to the extent that economic and market conditions permit. The factors to be weighed in determining the extent of the surcharge are the ultimate costs to taxpayers if a surcharge is not established, the economic conditions in the commercial marketplace, the affordability of commercial insurance for small and medium-sized business, and such other factors the Secretary considers appropriate. The terrorism repayment surcharge will be on all commercial insurance premiums based on a percentage of any coverage amounts but in any given year may not exceed the amount equal to 3 percent of the premium charged for such coverage. For purposes of this section, commercial property and casualty insurance does not include any reinsurance provided to primary insurance companies, so as to avoid a double surcharge.

Section 9. Administration of Assessments and Surcharges

This section provides the Secretary with significant flexibility in establishing the manner and method of carrying out any assessments or surcharges, in particular as necessary to protect the national interest, avoid unreasonable economic disruption and market instability, and avoid undue burdens on small businesses. The Secretary must also take into consideration the economic impact of any of these assessments and surcharges on urban and smaller commercial and rural areas and different lines of insurance. The Secretary may also make special adjustments to provide for commercial insurers and policies that are not based on a calendar year. The Secretary is also given the authority to assess civil monetary penalties for insurers that submit false data, fail to pay assessed amounts, or fail to collect appropriate surcharges.

Section 10. Application to Self-Insurance Arrangements and Offshore Insurers and Reinsurers

In consultation with the NAIC, the Secretary may apply the provisions of this bill to self-insurance arrangements by municipalities and other entities, but only if that determination is made before the occurrence of a triggering event and all of the provisions of this legislation are applied uniformly to such entities. The Committee expects that many types of self-insuring entities may desire or need risk-sharing coverage for terrorism attacks, while for others participation may be inappropriate. The Secretary is given authority to determine which of these entities should be participating, so long as application of the benefits and costs are applied equally. The Secretary must also ensure that the provisions of this bill are applied as appropriate to any offshore or non-admitted entities that provide commercial property and casualty insurance. Both provisions of this section are intended in part to prevent evasion of assessments.

Section 11. Reserve for Terrorism Coverage Under Commercial Lines of Business

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 12. State Preemption

This section preempts certain State laws to ensure uniform compliance with the bill. Subsection (a) preempts State laws that would conflict with the provision of coverage for acts of terror under the definitions of this legislation. Subsection (b) establishes a narrow preemption to allow insurers to adjust premiums only as necessary to recover the amounts of any assessments under section 7. Subsection (c) preempts State pre-filing approval requirements for commercial property and casualty insurance policies covering acts of terrorism due to the insufficient time between enactment of this legislation and January 1, 2002, but expressly preserves the ability of the States to undertake any subsequent review or action on those policies.

Section 13. Consistent State Guidelines for Coverage for Acts of Terrorism

This section establishes the sense of Congress that the NAIC and the Secretary should consult with each other and develop appropriate definitions for acts of terrorism and standards for determining the number of terrorist events or occurrences. Each State and the Secretary should then adopt such definitions and standards. A further sense of the Congress is provided that the NAIC should develop appropriate guidelines governing insurers' terrorism reserves, including any pooling of those reserves. The Secretary is directed to promulgate those guidelines on a nationwide basis if the States have not adopted guidelines in a uniform manner. A sense of the Congress is also provided that the States should establish regulations requiring separate disclosure to consumers of the costs of any terrorism related coverage. If the States have not adequately adopted such disclosures within a reasonable period of time, the Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC and adopt national guidelines requiring such disclosure.

Section 14. Consultation with State Insurance Regulators and the NAIC

The Secretary is directed to consult with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC in carrying out this bill, and may enter into agreements with the States and the NAIC to provide for the distribution of financial assistance, or the collection of any assessments or surcharges. The Secretary, may, in consultation with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC, investigate and audit claims of insured losses by commercial insurers.

Section 15. Sovereign Immunity Protections

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 16. Study of Potential Effects of Terrorism on Life Insurance Industry

This section directs the President to establish a commission to study and report within 120 days after the enactment of the bill on the potential effects of acts of terrorism on the life insurance industry in the U.S. and markets served by such industry. The membership of this commission shall include: the Secretary of the Treasury; the Chairman of the Federal Reserve System; the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security; and four members appointed by the President from the insurance community.

Section 17. Railroad and Trucking Insurance Study

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury to conduct a study to determine the availability of commercially reasonable railroad and trucking insurance for acts of terrorism. The Secretary must submit a report to Congress within 120 days after enactment of this legislation.

Section 18. Study of Reinsurance Pool System for Future Acts of Terrorism

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, and the Comptroller General to jointly conduct a study on the advisability and effectiveness of establishing a terrorism reinsurance pool system in lieu of the program created by this bill. The study must utilize a variety of informational sources and be jointly submitted to Congress not later than 6 months after enactment.

Section 19. Definitions

This section establishes various definitions. The term "Act of terrorism" is defined as an act that is unlawful, causes harm to persons or property in the United States or to any U.S. air carrier or U.S. flag vessel outside the United States committed by persons who are recognized (prior or subsequently) by the Department of State or the Secretary as a terrorist group, or who conspire with the surrogates of a recognized terrorist group, and has the purpose of destabilizing any country or to influence the United States by coercion. As defined, an act of terrorism is not an act of war. The Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC to further refine this definition. This section further provides that the bill only applies to commercial property and casualty insurance.

Section 20. Extension of Program

This section grants the Secretary authority to extend the coverage period of the bill through the 2004 calendar year, if the extension is necessary to ensure the adequate availability in the United States of commercial property and casualty insurance coverage for acts of terror. Extensions are to be made on a year-by-year basis and the Secretary is required to report to Congress on the reasons for any extensions beyond the 2002 calendar year.

Section 21. Regulations

This section grants the Secretary authority to issue regulations as necessary to implement this legislation.

Facts of the Day

- According to new figures, since October 1 the U.S. government has provided $164,381,033 in humanitarian assistance to the people of Afghanistan.

- Since September 11, the U.N. World Food Program – with U.S. assistance -- has delivered 70,000 tons of food into Afghanistan.

- In November, so far, the World Food Program – with U.S. assistance -- has delivered enough food commodities to cover the needs of 4.3 million people.

AL QAEDA & THE TALIBAN: THE MAKING OF A HUMANITARIAN DISASTER

The humanitarian situation in Afghanistan is dire. Years of civil war -- compounded by the cruel and selfish rule of the Taliban and the worst drought in living memory – have made matters worse.

Al Qaeda and the Taliban have not only failed to provide security, food, and shelter for the Afghan people, but they have disrupted the efforts of international relief agencies to deliver desperately needed food and medical supplies to the Afghan people. Among other things, the Taliban have seized and looted humanitarian supplies for themselves and have harassed and beaten Afghan and international aid workers.

The U.S. has long been the largest humanitarian aid donor to the people of Afghanistan.

The Taliban are clearly more interested in protecting Al Qaeda than feeding the starving innocent people of Afghanistan.

AFGHANISTAN BEFORE SEPTEMBER 11

Afghanistan has suffered two decades of war, the worst drought in living memory, and the collapse of government infrastructure and access to basic social services. As Al Qaeda and the Taliban directed national resources toward war and imposed severe restrictions on its people, including a restriction on women working outside the home, the situation of the Afghan people worsened. The statistics are alarming:

- Millions face the threat of starvation.
- 70% of the Afghan people are malnourished.
- Only 13% of the Afghan people have access to clean water.
- One in four Afghan children will not make it to their fifth birthday.
- One in three Afghan children is an orphan.
- One in two Afghan children is malnourished.
- Afghanistan has the world's fourth worst child mortality rate.
- Afghanistan ranks number one worldwide in maternal mortality.
- According to U.N. estimates, there were over a million displaced people in Afghanistan prior to September 11.
- Before September 11 there were over 3.5 million Afghan refugees
- Six million people in Afghanistan and 1.5 million Afghan refugees depend on international relief programs for food.
- As many as 50,000 widows lost husbands and other male relatives in the course of Afghanistan's long civil war.
- The average life expectancy in Afghanistan is 46 years.

THE HARSH AFGHAN WINTER

Afghanistan is a mountainous country in a dry part of the world which experiences extremes of climate and weather. Afghanistan experiences extreme winter weather, with heavy snow in the mountains and the high plateaus. Even low-lying areas like Kabul can have up to 25 inches of snow on the ground in late winter.

The Afghan winters are harsh. Whole families of refugees live in tents no more than 3.5 feet square. They sleep on the ground with no blankets or protection from the brutal winters. Last winter, desperate parents dug holes in the ground, placed their children in the holes, and laid on top of them to give their children a slight respite from frigid temperatures.

Countless Afghans find themselves with no protection whatsoever against the harsh Afghan winter. For example, the U.N. Coordinator for Afghanistan reported that over 110 displaced persons taking shelter in camps in Herat died from extreme cold on the night of January 29, 2001. Children, the elderly, and women were among the main victims of the cold snap, which saw temperatures as low as –25 degrees centigrade.

THE TERRORIST CONTRIBUTION TO THE SUFFERING AFGHAN PEOPLE

The U.S. and its coalition partners work around the clock to help get food and other aid to the Afghan people.

The Al Qaeda and Taliban contribution to the Afghan people has been a deliberate and systematic campaign to disrupt the efforts of international relief agencies to deliver desperately needed food and medical supplies to the Afghan people.

Among other things, the Taliban have seized and looted humanitarian supplies for themselves and have harassed and beaten Afghan and international aid workers.

The Taliban and Al Qaeda are clearly more interested in protecting Al Qaeda than feeding the starving people of Afghanistan.

The following specific examples of Taliban disruptions are contained in the November 6 State Department Fact Sheet: The Taliban's Betrayal of the Afghan People:

- October 16: The Taliban seized control of two U.N. World Food Program (WFP) warehouses, one in Kabul, and one in Kandahar, containing more than half the World Food Program's wheat supply for Afghanistan. The WFP in Kandahar had been feeding 150,000 Afghans a month before the Taliban seizure. The WFP reports that 1,600 tons of food and several vehicles have since disappeared from the Kandahar WFP warehouse. (Source: World Food Program)

- The Taliban are actually hijacking humanitarian convoys for military purposes. The November 6 Washington Post reports, "A truck in a convoy purportedly on a humanitarian mission to deliver food tipped over, and crates of tank and mortar shells could be seen spilling to the ground underneath a thin layer of flour."

- "UNICEF lost all its properties and had its offices looted when the Taliban took control in north Afghanistan in 1997, and U.N. operations were suspended." (Source: UNICEF)

- November 6: The UN refugee agency (UNHCR) says the Taliban is hindering humanitarian efforts inside Afghanistan… Speaking on behalf of the UNHCR, Peter Kessler said the Taliban was failing to cooperate: "The UNHCR and our partner agencies have had our vehicles stolen, our offices taken over and our staff beaten." (Source: BBC)

- October 31: The UN Refugee Agency (UNHCR) offices in Spin Boldak were taken over by Taliban soldiers. (Source: UNHCR)

- October 18: Taliban soldiers seized the Mercy Corps International Office in Kandahar, and remain in possession of the office and MCI vehicles. (Source: Mercy Corps)

- October 17: The Taliban occupied the Kunduz office and warehouse of the International Organization for Migration (IOM). The warehouse had been stocked with winter clothing, shoes and blankets to be distributed to internally displaced persons in the region. (Source: IOM)

- October 16: The Swedish Committee for Afghanistan reported that its compound in Taliban-controlled Mazar-I-Sharif was seized on October 16, with fuel stores set ablaze by the Taliban. (Source: Human Rights Watch)

- October 16: The UN Security Council demanded that the Taliban cease obstructing aid destined for the Afghan people.

- October 8: Armed Taliban entered the compound of a demining NGO in Kandahar and demanded vehicles. Staff who resisted were beaten. The Taliban left with several ambulances, seven pick-up trucks, and six cargo trucks from the compound. (Source: Human Rights Watch)

THE U.S. COMMITMENT TO FEEDING & PROTECTING THE AFGHAN PEOPLE

The United States has long been the leading donor of humanitarian assistance to Afghanistan:

- The U.S. has supplied more than 80 percent of all food aid to vulnerable Afghans through the United Nations' World Food Program (WFP). Since September 11th, WFP has delivered about 70,000 tons of food into Afghanistan. In November so far, WFP has delivered enough food commodities to cover the needs of 4.3 million people.

- Last year, the U.S. Government provided over $178 million in humanitarian aid to the Afghan people.

- The U.S. Government has provided over $164 million in aid to Afghanistan thus far since October 1.

- With U.S. support, WFP delivered over 30,000 metric tons of food into Afghanistan in the first half of November, exceeding records for food delivery into the country. The more than 29,000 metric tons that WFP moved in October had been the most food ever moved in a whole month in Afghanistan.

- The U.S. airlifted 20,000 wool blankets, 100 rolls of plastic sheeting, 200 metric tons of High Energy Biscuits, and one metric ton of sugar to Turkmenistan for distribution in Afghanistan.

- The U.S. purchased 15,000 metric tons of wheat in Kazakstan, which is moving by railway to Turkmenabad. The first rail car of wheat arrived on November 23 carrying 1,500 metric tons of wheat.

- The U.S. Department of Defense has airdropped nearly 2 million Humanitarian Daily Rations into Afghanistan. Each ration is enough to sustain a person with a day's worth of calories.

- On November 20, a ship departed Port Lake Charles, Louisiana with 10,000 metric tons of U.S.-donated food for the people of Afghanistan.

- A shipment of five large USAID-funded medical shipments arrived in Turkmenistan on November 12 for distribution by UNICEF. Each shipment provides basic medical supplies and medicines for 10,000 people for three months. USAID has provided a total of 10 kits for Afghanistan.

- On November 21, 65,000 metric tons of food provided by USAID arrived in Iran for transfer to WFP regional hubs in Uzbekistan, Turkmenistan, Iran, Tajikistan, and Kyrgyzstan for delivery into Afghanistan.

- On November 24, USAID airlifted 350,000 wheat bags to Turkmenabad for WFP to use to package and distribute WFP wheat supplies.

- USAID airlifted 1,000 rolls of plastic sheeting to Turkmenistan for emergency shelter use in Afghanistan.

- USAID transported 20,400 blankets from its stockpiles on October 23, and an additional 15,000 blankets on October 25, to Pakistan for the UN High Commissioner for Refugees to use in the event of a refugee influx.

Summary

The Terrorism Risk Protection Act is the most pro-taxpayer, pro-consumer proposal to ensure terrorism coverage for consumers, with a significant commercial industry/policyholder stake, and relatively little regulation required (most of which would only kick in if an event occurred). This proposal is relatively low-maintenance for the government and will sunset without a private sector addiction to Federal subsidies.

For commercial insurers, the bill protects individual companies more than any other proposal. For policyholders, since insurers will have an incentive to write terrorism coverage, it greatly increases the affordability and availability of coverage. Taxpayers and the Federal treasury are protected from unlimited financial risk because they are not on the hook for the ultimate costs. Every dollar of Federal assistance will be repaid. If no event occurs, no bureaucracy is created, and the legislation sunsets after a brief period of time.

Key Elements

- Requires all Federal taxpayer costs/assistance to be paid back.
- Models risk-sharing plan on existing State insurance programs.
- Sets trigger at $100 million for small commercial insurers and $1 billion as an industry wide aggregate.
- Provides 90% Federal share with 10% individual company retention.
- Assesses first $20 billion in losses back to commercial insurers over time.
- Recoups subsequent losses through commercial policyholder surcharges.
- Provides the Treasury Secretary limited flexibility in determining assessments and surcharges based on economic conditions and the impact on urban, rural, and small commercial centers.
- Establishes uniform definition of terrorism.
- Authorizes one-year program with optional extension for up to two additional years.
- Includes limited liability reforms to protect taxpayer funds.

Advantages

- No taxpayer bailout — any Federal funds used to boost liquidity are paid back by commercial industry/policyholders (the primary beneficiaries of any proposal) over time.
- Greatly increases capacity of insurers to offer terrorism coverage.
- Companies get first dollar protection. Without this early protection, few companies can afford their individual risk and won't offer significant or affordable coverage.
- Protects small and large policyholders, and small and large insurers, while retaining incentives for risk management and efficient claims processing.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF H.R. 3210 – FLOOR VERSION

Section 1. Short Title and Table of Contents

Section 2. Congressional Findings

This section provides Congressional findings about the damage from the September 11, 2001 terrorist attack, the resulting market disruption and potential unavailability of future terrorism insurance coverage, and the need for a temporary industry risk sharing program to facilitate transition back to a viable private insurance and reinsurance market.

Section 3. Authority of Secretary of the Treasury

This section provides that the Secretary of the Treasury will be responsible for carrying out the temporary risk sharing program for the commercial property and casualty insurance industry.

Section 4. Submission of Premium Information to Secretary

This section recognizes that insurance premium information is already provided to State insurance commissioners and the NAIC, but allows the Secretary, to the extent that such information is not otherwise available, to require insurers to submit their net U.S. commercial property and casualty insurance premium data to the NAIC or the Secretary.

Section 5. Initial and Subsequent Triggering Determinations

This section directs the Secretary to determine whether insured losses from acts of terrorism over a 12 month period exceed the triggering thresholds. The section provides for an industry-wide trigger and an individual insurer trigger. The Secretary will make a triggering determination for the entire commercial property and casualty insurance industry if industry-wide losses exceed $1 billion. The Secretary will make a company specific triggering determination if industry-wide losses exceed $100 million and the portion of those losses for any one commercial insurer exceed both 10 percent of the company's capital surplus and net premiums. The lower $100 million threshold does not apply to any commercial insurer that was not providing commercial property and casualty coverage prior to September 11, 2001, except for certain terrorism risk pools.

Subsection (b) gives the Secretary, after consultation with the Attorney General and Secretary of State, sole authority to determine whether a loss was caused by an act of terrorism and whether the terrorist attack occurred during the period of time covered by this legislation. The ability of the Secretary to make such determinations under this subsection is not limited to commercial property and casualty insurance, but rather is intended to apply for all lines of insurance.

Section 6. Federal Cost-Sharing for Commercial Insurers

Once the Secretary makes an industry-wide triggering determination in section 5, then financial cost-sharing is provided to each insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90% of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of the triggering event and $5 million. If the industry-wide triggering determination is not reached, but the Secretary makes a company specific triggering determination, then financial cost-sharing is provided to that insurer in an amount equal to the difference of 90 percent of the amount of the insured terrorism losses of the insurer as a result of such triggering event and 10 percent of the net commercial property and casualty premiums written by such commercial insurer (as a deductible). Federal assistance is capped at $100 billion. A sense of the Congress provides that terrorist events causing in excess of that amount would necessitate further Congressional action. Any Federal assistance provided will be repaid through the assessments and surcharges provided for in section 7 and 8, and may be designated by the President as emergency budget authority and outlays. Federal assistance received by an insurer should not be treated as a loan for balance sheet purposes. Furthermore, Federal assistance will be available for all property and casualty terrorism risk insurance policies in force during the coverage period of this legislation as long as the insurer was providing such coverage(or not excluding terrorism risk coverage) on or before September 11, 2001.

Section 7. Assessments

This section is modeled after the State insurance guarantee funds that exist in almost every State to address the possibility of insurer insolvencies, as well as numerous State catastrophic insurance funds. After the Secretary makes a triggering determination in section 5, every commercial insurer is subject to an assessment based on an insurer's net commercial insurance premiums to repay any Federal cost-sharing assistance provided under section 6. The aggregate amount assessed will be equal to the lesser of $20 billion or the amount of financial assistance paid.

The aggregate assessment amount shall be assessed to commercial insurers through an industry obligation assessment and, if necessary, the remainder through one or more future financing assessments. Industry obligation assessments are imposed immediately following a triggering determination in an amount up to $5 billion, and if the program is extended pursuant to section 20 for a second or third year, up to $10 billion in each additional year. Financing assessments (any losses above the $5 or $10 billion) shall begin 12 months after the last obligation assessment, and shall not exceed 3 percent of an insurer's net commercial premiums for that year. If the amount assessed through financing assessments in any given year is insufficient to cover Federal assistance, then the Secretary will make a new assessment in each following year until the amount is recouped. The Secretary may delay the assessment of an insurer to avoid an insolvency and may adjust or delay assessments generally as provided in section 9.

Section 8. Terrorism Loss Repayment Surcharge

This section applies only to terrorist losses that exceed $20 billion, and is modeled after several State catastrophic insurance programs. To recoup Federal assistance provided in section 6 for amounts above the Federal share of the $20 billion, the Secretary will impose a commercial policyholder surcharge to the extent that economic and market conditions permit. The factors to be weighed in determining the extent of the surcharge are the ultimate costs to taxpayers if a surcharge is not established, the economic conditions in the commercial marketplace, the affordability of commercial insurance for small and medium-sized business, and such other factors the Secretary considers appropriate. The terrorism repayment surcharge will be on all commercial insurance premiums based on a percentage of any coverage amounts but in any given year may not exceed the amount equal to 3 percent of the premium charged for such coverage. For purposes of this section, commercial property and casualty insurance does not include any reinsurance provided to primary insurance companies, so as to avoid a double surcharge.

Section 9. Administration of Assessments and Surcharges

This section provides the Secretary with significant flexibility in establishing the manner and method of carrying out any assessments or surcharges, in particular as necessary to protect the national interest, avoid unreasonable economic disruption and market instability, and avoid undue burdens on small businesses. The Secretary must also take into consideration the economic impact of any of these assessments and surcharges on urban and smaller commercial and rural areas and different lines of insurance. The Secretary may also make special adjustments to provide for commercial insurers and policies that are not based on a calendar year. The Secretary is also given the authority to assess civil monetary penalties for insurers that submit false data, fail to pay assessed amounts, or fail to collect appropriate surcharges.

Section 10. Application to Self-Insurance Arrangements and Offshore Insurers and Reinsurers

In consultation with the NAIC, the Secretary may apply the provisions of this bill to self-insurance arrangements by municipalities and other entities, but only if that determination is made before the occurrence of a triggering event and all of the provisions of this legislation are applied uniformly to such entities. The Committee expects that many types of self-insuring entities may desire or need risk-sharing coverage for terrorism attacks, while for others participation may be inappropriate. The Secretary is given authority to determine which of these entities should be participating, so long as application of the benefits and costs are applied equally. The Secretary must also ensure that the provisions of this bill are applied as appropriate to any offshore or non-admitted entities that provide commercial property and casualty insurance. Both provisions of this section are intended in part to prevent evasion of assessments.

Section 11. Reserve for Terrorism Coverage Under Commercial Lines of Business

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 12. State Preemption

This section preempts certain State laws to ensure uniform compliance with the bill. Subsection (a) preempts State laws that would conflict with the provision of coverage for acts of terror under the definitions of this legislation. Subsection (b) establishes a narrow preemption to allow insurers to adjust premiums only as necessary to recover the amounts of any assessments under section 7. Subsection (c) preempts State pre-filing approval requirements for commercial property and casualty insurance policies covering acts of terrorism due to the insufficient time between enactment of this legislation and January 1, 2002, but expressly preserves the ability of the States to undertake any subsequent review or action on those policies.

Section 13. Consistent State Guidelines for Coverage for Acts of Terrorism

This section establishes the sense of Congress that the NAIC and the Secretary should consult with each other and develop appropriate definitions for acts of terrorism and standards for determining the number of terrorist events or occurrences. Each State and the Secretary should then adopt such definitions and standards. A further sense of the Congress is provided that the NAIC should develop appropriate guidelines governing insurers' terrorism reserves, including any pooling of those reserves. The Secretary is directed to promulgate those guidelines on a nationwide basis if the States have not adopted guidelines in a uniform manner. A sense of the Congress is also provided that the States should establish regulations requiring separate disclosure to consumers of the costs of any terrorism related coverage. If the States have not adequately adopted such disclosures within a reasonable period of time, the Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC and adopt national guidelines requiring such disclosure.

Section 14. Consultation with State Insurance Regulators and the NAIC

The Secretary is directed to consult with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC in carrying out this bill, and may enter into agreements with the States and the NAIC to provide for the distribution of financial assistance, or the collection of any assessments or surcharges. The Secretary, may, in consultation with the State insurance regulators and the NAIC, investigate and audit claims of insured losses by commercial insurers.

Section 15. Sovereign Immunity Protections

To be determined by Rules Committee.

Section 16. Study of Potential Effects of Terrorism on Life Insurance Industry

This section directs the President to establish a commission to study and report within 120 days after the enactment of the bill on the potential effects of acts of terrorism on the life insurance industry in the U.S. and markets served by such industry. The membership of this commission shall include: the Secretary of the Treasury; the Chairman of the Federal Reserve System; the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security; and four members appointed by the President from the insurance community.

Section 17. Railroad and Trucking Insurance Study

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury to conduct a study to determine the availability of commercially reasonable railroad and trucking insurance for acts of terrorism. The Secretary must submit a report to Congress within 120 days after enactment of this legislation.

Section 18. Study of Reinsurance Pool System for Future Acts of Terrorism

This section directs the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, and the Comptroller General to jointly conduct a study on the advisability and effectiveness of establishing a terrorism reinsurance pool system in lieu of the program created by this bill. The study must utilize a variety of informational sources and be jointly submitted to Congress not later than 6 months after enactment.

Section 19. Definitions

This section establishes various definitions. The term "Act of terrorism" is defined as an act that is unlawful, causes harm to persons or property in the United States or to any U.S. air carrier or U.S. flag vessel outside the United States committed by persons who are recognized (prior or subsequently) by the Department of State or the Secretary as a terrorist group, or who conspire with the surrogates of a recognized terrorist group, and has the purpose of destabilizing any country or to influence the United States by coercion. As defined, an act of terrorism is not an act of war. The Secretary is directed to consult with the NAIC to further refine this definition. This section further provides that the bill only applies to commercial property and casualty insurance.

Section 20. Extension of Program

This section grants the Secretary authority to extend the coverage period of the bill through the 2004 calendar year, if the extension is necessary to ensure the adequate availability in the United States of commercial property and casualty insurance coverage for acts of terror. Extensions are to be made on a year-by-year basis and the Secretary is required to report to Congress on the reasons for any extensions beyond the 2002 calendar year.

Section 21. Regulations

This section grants the Secretary authority to issue regulations as necessary to implement this legislation.

Correct on the DOJ folks
Q. 20 was sent to all pending DOJ nominees yesterday. Responses from the two Parole Commission nominees hsve been returned (both negative) and will go to the Committee today.
I provided the questionnaire to EOUSA yesterday with guidance on Q. 20 and who should receive the new questionnaire. There are 8 USA nominees who need to respond to Q. 20. I asked that EOUSA get those responses to me today so that we can get them to the Committee. There are 2 USA nominees who have not provided a questionnaire who will have to do the new one. Additionally, I provided the questionnaire to Martin Gillespie who will send it to all the US Marshal candidates who are now in clearance (40+ are at the BI stage, most of whom have done a draft of the old questionnaire).

Subject: Update on nominee responses to Senate questionnaires

All:

Here is an update:

1. This morning we faxed to the committee answers to question 20 (all negative) for 9 of the 10 nominees who have already had a hearing. The one outstanding is Pickering, who we are still trying to reach. Thus, as of today the Committee has received answers to question 20 for the following:

Bates
Englehart
Johnson
Reeves
Heaton
Robinson
Land
Martone
Hartz

2. We will send a letter today to all pending nominees who have NOT had a hearing, but who have already submitted the old questionnaire to the committee, asking them to send us the answer to question 20 ONLY. There are 37 nominees in this category as follows:

Boyle, Shedd, Owen, Sutton, Cook, McConnell, Roberts, Estrada, Smith (Lavenski), Tymkovitch, Kuhl, Clifton, Melloy, Howard, O'Brien, Smith (Brooks), Gibbons, Steele, McKeague, Cassell, Gritzner, Bunning, Granade, Mahan, Blackburn, Bury, Jorgenson, Leon, Krieger, Crane, Royal, Martinez, Zainey, Williams, Horn, Lettow and Block.

3. Three current nominees whose questionnaires have not yet been sent to the committee (due to mail delivery problems) will have to complete the new questionnaire in full. We have already contacted them to expedite this process. These are:

Saad, Nielsen, Beistline

4. Finally, it is my understanding from Sheila that Nancy Scottfinan is providing the "new" questionnaire to EOUSA with instructions to get the US Attorney nominees who have not yet been confirmed to answer question 20 and for them to provide the new questionnaire to anyone who has NOT been nominated yet. Also, we understand that Nancy will make the same contact for pending DOJ nominees.

Sheila or I will circulate periodic updates when more information is submitted to the committee.

Happy Thanksgiving to all

Jen

Subject: Terrorism insurance

As you can see from the enclosed coalition letter that was sent to the President, there is a very broad and deep coalition that is concerned about this issue that is working hard to get it enacted.

The Chamber and the Coalition have been extremely active in our efforts to pass the terrorism insurance legislation with reasonable liability provisions that treat all businesses equally, with more activity planned right up to the House vote and for the Senate.

Along with a substantial number of House and Senate visits, CEO calls and grass-roots activity, the Chamber and the Coalition have also:

sent the enclosed coalition letter to the White House;
sent the enclosed letter to House GOP leadership and relevant Committee Chairs; undertaken a heavy print, TV and radio ad buy (copies available on the enclosed link: http://www.litigationfairness.org/);
sent the enclosed GAIN piece to more than 45,000 Chamber activists across the country; sent the enclosed Action Alert to almost 4000 Chambers and Associations; and will send up the enclosed Key Vote letter to the House tomorrow.

In addition, we are circulating another Coalition letter for Thursday, and we are collecting all of the letters sent up by other companies and trade associations, which will be compiled into a packet for distribution to the House.

If you have any questions, or if there are other activities that could be helpful, please don't hesitate to give me a call.

October 25, 2001

The Honorable George W. Bush
President of the United States
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President:

The terrorists who attacked our nation September 11 deliberately struck at the center of U.S. finance and commerce. While the attacks were devastating in many ways, we have absolutely no doubt that our nation will recover and move forward, unbowed and ever-stronger. We have great faith in our national leaders, our economic system, and in the millions of individual workers who comprise American business.

However, the attacks have left an important mark on an industry that underpins all sectors of the U.S. economy: insurance. In short, the possibility of additional terrorist attacks has made insurance against such risks virtually unobtainable.

Our market-driven economy is predicated on risk. Insurers provide much-needed security. Without insurance, financiers cannot lend, and companies are reluctant to invest. Without insurance, new construction would cease. All types of cargo would be stuck in place. Some businesses may choose to cease operations after determining that the risks of continuing to operate in the current environment without the ability to share potential losses is too great. In addition, the potential benefits of the Administration's economic stimulus package could be greatly muted.

Fortunately, the insurance market failure can be averted through federal action. To that end, we urge you to consider immediate enactment of legislation to stabilize the insurance market by creating a federal backstop for terrorism insurance coverage. Other countries that live with the constant threat of terrorism have successfully established such mechanisms.

The terrorists who attacked America on September 11 cannot be allowed to hobble the U.S. economy. We strongly urge the Administration and Congress to quickly enact the insurance legislation needed to keep the wheels of American commerce turning without interruption.

To [Members of the House Republican Leadership as well as Chairmen Sensenbrenner, Thomas, Oxley & Dreier – Personalized]:

I am writing on behalf of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the world's largest business federation, representing more than three million businesses and organizations of every size, sector, and region, to urge you to pass legislation that will provide an appropriate federal financial backstop to ensure that insurance coverage is available to cover future financial losses associated with terrorism. It is vital that such legislation be enacted into law before the end of this Congressional session.

In addition to the unfathomable personal impact on families and individuals, the tragic events of September 11th have had a substantially negative economic effect. As our nation continues with its recovery and war efforts, it is critical that American businesses be certain that the economic consequences of any future terrorist attacks will not cripple them beyond the point of recovery. Because of the unprecedented scope and nature of the losses sustained in September, terrorism has now become virtually uninsurable in the private marketplace. If terrorism insurance becomes unavailable, our entire economy stands to experience deep, widespread and negative ripple effects. The Chamber also recognizes that there are a number of ways in which this issue can be addressed, including H.R. 3210, the "Terrorism Risk Protection Act."

In addition, personal injury lawyers who seek to exploit the events of September 11th or any future terrorist attacks will likely hamper our nation's economic recovery, enriching themselves at our nation's expense. Acts of terrorism must not become a bonus for personal injury lawyers. Those who are truly injured or damaged by an act of terrorism should receive fair and fast compensation—but not a windfall. Accordingly, we support reasonable limits on the liability of non-terrorists for damages caused by an act of terrorism.

We are concerned, however, that the version of H.R. 3210, reported out of the Financial Services Committee would not treat all potential business litigants equally in the area of liability rules. The U.S. Chamber believes that any solution to the problem of liability resulting from acts of terrorism should subject all parties (other than terrorists) to the same liability rules, and not favor one group of litigants over another.

It is critical that Congress quickly pass a terrorism insurance plan that will facilitate the availability of appropriate insurance mechanisms to cover terrorism-related events. If such a backstop is not created soon, our nation's economic recovery will be severely jeopardized. Because of the importance of making sure that insurance coverage for future acts of terrorism is available, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce strongly urges you to quickly pass legislation that would provide an appropriate federal backstop for terrorism insurance and treats all businesses equally in the area of liability.

Sincerely,

R. Bruce Josten

ACTION CALL!

November 28, 2001

GAIN GRASSROOTS ACTION INFORMATION NETWORK
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

U.S. HOUSE TO VOTE ON TERRORISM INSURANCE

CALL YOUR REPRESENTATIVE TO ASK FOR THEIR SUPPORT

The U.S. House of Representatives will vote on terrorism insurance legislation this Thursday, November 29th. H.R. 3210, the "Terrorism Risk Protection Act," will limit liability and discourage trial lawyers from cashing in on future terrorist acts by blaming and suing businesses for acts they have no control over.

Thousands of companies across the nation are already beginning to receive notices indicating that insurance coverage for future acts will be cancelled. Without this important legislation, by the end of the year, the majority of American businesses will lose their insurance protection against acts of terrorism, putting them in jeopardy and millions of jobs at risk.

IMMEDIATE ACTION NEEDED: Call or write your representative today and ask them to support H.R. 3210, the "Terrorism Risk Protection Act."

- To call, use the GAIN Legislative Hotline at 1-888-832-GAIN (4246)
- To fax, go to GAIN Online at www.uschamber.policy.net

Background: Without adequate terrorism insurance, businesses and industries will face significantly higher financial & transportation costs. For example:

- Banks cannot lend money for new construction or the purchase of real estate unless borrowers have adequate insurance;
- Borrowers may be considered in default on their existing loans, since lenders often require insurance as a condition of the loan;
- Stadiums and arenas may be forced to no longer feature sporting or entertainment events;
- Shopping malls, factories, power plants, pipelines and skyscrapers could be put out of business;
- Trucking firms, railroads, airlines and ships may be unable to transport many types of cargo or required to limit their destinations.

Any legislation must also include reasonable limits on liability for non-terrorist victims. Liability limits are needed so that businesses won't be sued for terrorist attacks and so that taxpayers won't be subsidizing trial lawyers excesses. Terrorism legislation should provide reasonable legal procedures that would:

- Ensure that victims can quickly recover real losses;
- Protect the taxpayer from spurious claims;
- Prevent unnecessary bankruptcies; and
- Reduce the likelihood that future terrorist attacks will significantly burden the U.S. economy.

A federal backstop for terrorism insurance is not just about helping insurance companies; it's about preventing a widespread credit crunch that jeopardizes thousands of diverse industries of all sizes and millions of workers.

If you would prefer to receive future alerts and updates via e-mail, please visit www.uschamber.policy.net to register.

Immediate Action Needed: Terrorism Reinsurance Availability

The underlying weakness of the U.S. economy, now in a recession, will only deteriorate if Congress doesn't act immediately to head off a collapse of insurance markets insuring against risk, notably from acts of terrorism.

We are requesting that you contact your member companies immediately to alert them to the urgent need for Congress to act.

In the aftermath of the September 11th terrorist attacks, commercial property / casualty insurance disruptions, cancellations and significantly increased premium costs on business will result, unless Congress acts as President Bush has requested.

What's at issue: Reinsurance companies cover the excess of risk for insurance companies helping to spread the risk of losses beyond a single company. Reinsurance companies, the majority of which renew reinsurance contracts in January have notified Property & Casualty Insurers that policies will no longer provide coverage for acts of terrorism. That means your member companies' primary insurers will be forced to exclude acts of terrorism from coverage or raise insurance premiums dramatically.

Why Important: Unless Congress acts, all companies will confront drastically higher insurance premiums, and will face a lack of complete insurance coverage. This, in turn, will result in a potential credit shortage as lenders who require insurance coverage for commercial loans will see their collateral inadequately covered and will raise rates to compensate for that additional risk. Additionally, since similar insurance requirements exist on all major modes of transportation, much higher shipping costs will be imposed on business as well.

Action Needed: President Bush has called on Congress to enact legislation that will allow the Federal government to provide a temporary backstop until the private insurance market develops the ability and capacity to insure against terrorist acts. Such legislation must also provide reasonable legal protections for businesses from lawsuits resulting from harms any future terrorist attacks may cause. These legal protections include: having cases heard in neutral federal courts (keep cases out of trial-lawyer friendly state courts); no punitive damages; no joint liability ("deep pockets") for non-economic damages ("pain and suffering"); and no double recoveries. These legal remedies for injured parties exist for fault-based acts. Acts of terrorism are not the fault of insurers anymore than they are the fault of your member companies.

What YOU need to do: Immediately notify your member companies of this urgent situation and strongly encourage them to contact their members of Congress to call on the Congressional leadership to quickly move terrorism insurance legislation, with appropriate legal protections, to the floor for a vote immediately. The House of Representatives is voting Thursday (Nov.29th) so immediate action is needed. Lack of insurance for terrorist acts will jeopardize economic recovery.

Enclosed is a copy of the U.S. Chamber's "Key Vote" alert sent to members of the House of Representatives.

November 28, 2001

~~Terrorism insurance key vote letter to full house~~TO MEMBERS OF THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

I am writing on behalf of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the world's largest business federation, representing more than three million businesses of every size, sector and region, to strongly urge you to support H.R. 3210, the terrorism insurance legislation. It is ~~IMPERATIVE~~ imperative that Congress, before going out of session this year, pass legislation that provides for ~~this~~ an appropriate federal financial backstop for terrorism insurance~~legislation before going out of session this year~~. If Congress does not pass this vital legislation, the vast majority of businesses will lose the opportunity to obtain insurance against terrorist attacks before Ceongress returns next year.

If businesses are unable to obtain insurance to cover losses caused by future acts of terror~~for terrorist acts~~, they ~~would~~ will not only potentially be directly liable for the ~~possibly billions of dollars of~~significant damages that terrorists may cause, but they will also face significantly higher financing and other costs~~,~~. This could potentially ~~wiping~~ wipe out the beneficial impact of ~~the~~ any economic stimulus legislation. It is important to note that H.R. 3210 ~~This is NOT~~is not a "bailout" for the insurance industry, ~~but represents the~~ but stands as an appropriate federal financial backstop to help ensure that insurance coverage is available to cover future financial losses associated with terrorist attacks.~~ONLY way that small businesses will be able to obtain insurance for future terrorist acts.~~ If appropriate ~~this legislation~~terrorism insurance legislation is not enacted, ~~insurance companies will simply stop selling insurance for terrorist acts. The ones who suffer as a result will be~~ businesses will be~~that are~~ faced with the Hobson's Choice of either having to ~~forced to~~ pay exorbitant rates for terrorism insurance that will be difficult or even impossible to locate, or ~~are~~ forced to do without ~~insurance~~, resulting in higher costs for financing, potential loan defaults and extreme risk to their employees.

It is also important to include in H.R. 3210 reasonable limits on the liability of non-terrorists for damages caused by an act of terrorism and that treat all businesses equally. Those trial lawyers who seek to exploit the events of September 11th or any future terrorist attacks will likely hamper our nation's economic recovery, enriching themselves at our nation's expense. Acts of terrorism must not become a bonus for personal injury lawyers, especially at a significant cost to the U.S. Treasury. Those who are truly injured or damaged by an act of terrorism should receive fair and fast compensation—but not a windfall. Without appropriate liability limits, future victims of terrorist attacks will be forced into a race to the courthouse in order to make sure that they are one of the lucky plaintiffs that happens to receive a damage award made at the expense of the other victims and subsidized by the government.

~~Finally, it is important, for fairness reasons, that this legislation include limits on liability for acts of terrorism. First of all, it is unfair to the victims of intentional, criminal, terrorist acts, including the business victims, that they could actually be sued for unlimited punitive damages, and that they could find themselves liable for 100% of the damages, even if they were only .001% responsible and the terrorists were 99.99%~~

~~responsible. Second, without limits on punitive damages, for example, a terrorist act could generate a "race to the court-house" as plaintiffs lawyers seek to obtain massive punitive damages before many victims even have a chance to file their claim. Such awards would not only wipe out significant portions of the backstop, forcing the federal government to in effect pay a wind-fall to a few lucky plaintiffs, but would award some plaintiffs at the expense of all of the rest of the victims. Victims should have the ability to recover compensation quickly and fairly, but exorbitant recoveries should not preclude other victims from receiving compensation, either.~~

Therefore, we strongly urge you to support the rule governing debate on ~~this legislation~~H.R. 3210, support final passage and to oppose any ~~weakening amendments~~motions to recommit, instruct or otherwise weaken the bill. The Chamber will strongly consider including votes on or in relation to H.R. 3210 as a key vote in its annual "How They Voted" ratings for 2001.

~~The U.S. Chamber may use this vote and any related votes in our annual "How They Voted" guide to Congress.~~

Sincerely,

R. Bruce Josten ~~(TOM?)~~

Thank you for providing me with the cases, Brett. I have been reading them. I am on my way back to Washington after participating in a conference on the

What I have tried to do for the meeting is get together people who represent organizations with a special interest in presidential records. I am a presidency scholar and serve as the representative to the National Archives for the American Political Science Association. It is just something I do on an unpaid basis in addition to teaching at Towson University and running
the

Robert Jervis - past President of the American Political Science

Terry Sullivan - the James Baker Institute. Terry talked to Judge Gonzales when the Counsel spoke a couple of months ago at Rice University. He too

A representative for the Organization of American Historians and the American

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Later this week, the House of Representatives is expected to consider H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act. Passage of H.R. 3210 is necessary to ensure the availability of terrorism insurance coverage. The National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts (NAREIT), representing REITs and publicly traded real estate companies, urges you to support this essential legislation.

It is estimated that over 70 percent of businesses and owners of commercial and residential properties renew their insurance coverage on January 1 each year. Many of these owners have been advised that their policies will not be renewed or that their new policies will exclude risks associated with terrorist acts. Unless Congress acts now to ensure the availability of affordable terrorism coverage in the marketplace, the real estate industry's ability to finance, construct, sell or buy properties across the country will be at risk and significant economic dislocation will likely occur.

H.R.3210 addresses the availability and affordability of terrorism insurance coverage while protecting taxpayers, policyholders and insurers. Moreover, the legislation contains reasonable liability reform provisions designed to benefit the victims of a terrorist attack so that all affected parties will receive appropriate damages.

Thank you in advance for your support of H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act.

Sincerely,

The Honorable xxx
United States House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

RE: Insurance Coverage for Terrorism

Dear Representative xxx:

The International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC) urges you to quickly pass legislation that would provide a mechanism for property owners, including those who own malls and shopping centers, to obtain affordable and comprehensive insurance against future terrorist activities.

ICSC is the global trade association of the shopping center industry. Its 40,000 members in the United States, Canada and more than 75 other countries around the world include shopping center owners, developers, managers, investors, lenders, retailers and other professionals.

As a result of the events of September 11, the reinsurance industry has decided, on a prospective basis, to exclude acts of terrorism from coverage. Most primary insurers, therefore, will not provide terrorism insurance to their policyholders since they are unable to reduce their risk through reinsurance.

This, in turn, will cause shopping center owners to bear the full risk of damages resulting from any future terrorist activities. In addition, the lack of terrorism insurance will cause banks and other lenders to cease financing new construction projects or refinancing existing centers since their collateral would be exposed to terrorist acts.

It is imperative that Congress takes immediate action to avoid further disruption to our economy. As you consider the various pending legislation, we urge you to address the following concerns of the shopping center industry:

- Any federally assisted insurance program must be of sufficient duration to provide stability to the real estate and financial markets.
- All business and commercial properties must be covered for terrorism to guard against "cherry-picking" low-risk properties and excluding high-risk, high-visibility locations.

- The definition of "terrorism" in policies must be broad enough to include all acts of "terror", even if they are classified for political purposes as "acts of war".
- Appropriate legal safeguards should be included to protect all of the victims of a terrorist attack.

We look forward to working with you in the next couple of weeks to enact terrorism insurance legislation. If you have any questions, please contact Wayne Mehlman, ICSC's Director of Economic Issues and Government Relations, at (703) 549-7404.

Sincerely,

John M. Ingram

NAMIC

November 28, 2001

Dear Member of Congress:

Later this week, the House of Representatives will consider, H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act. On behalf of the more than 1,300 member companies of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies (NAMIC), I encourage you to vote for its passage.

The Terrorism Risk Protection Act would establish a program within the Department of the Treasury that would provide a financial backstop for property and casualty insurance companies in the event of another catastrophic terrorist attack on our country. The events of September 11 have resulted in the largest loss for our industry in its history. While the total amount of those losses will not be known for sometime, estimates from reliable sources suggest the losses could be as high as $70 billion. The industry will pay all substantiated claims from those events.

The terrorism risk, however, is not a coverage for which companies can plan and measure their exposure. International reinsurers (those companies who insure insurers) are in the process of excluding coverage for terrorism losses from reinsurance contracts for the coming year. This means that primary companies will have to exclude the coverage from their policies or risk exposing their companies to insolvency should another event occur.

H.R. 3210 would provide for federal financial assistance to the industry and individual companies if losses exceed significant amounts. Any assistance the industry and individual companies receive from the federal government would be repaid to the U.S. Treasury.

Without the enactment of legislation before year-end, nearly all property and casualty insurance companies will seek to exclude terrorism coverage from their policies. This applies to personal lines carriers as well as commercial lines carriers.

Please vote "for" H.R. 3210.

Sincerely,

Pamela J. Allen
Vice President – Federal Affairs

IDENTICAL LETTER SENT TO
ALL MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

Dear :

I write on behalf of the National Association of Wholesaler-Distributors (NAW) and our 45,000 affiliated companies, to express support for terrorism insurance legislation now being developed in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. Time is of the essence in this matter; it is vital to the operation of the wholesale distribution industry and the health of our economy that such legislation be enacted this year.

As you may know, the downturn in the economy which has been reflected in the financial markets contributed mightily to a "hardening" of the property-casualty insurance marketplace which began to be felt in the wholesale distribution and other insured industries well before the tragic events of September 11th. In the aftermath of those atrocities, the reinsurance industry has made clear that it will no longer provide coverage for losses due to "acts of terrorism" in contracts that renew on the first of the year. As a consequence, NAW member companies are learning that their insurers plan to similarly exclude coverage for losses due to terrorist acts. Where such an exclusion is not permitted, it has been suggested to NAW members that they should expect additional premium increases, lower policy limits and higher deductibles.

The financial pressure this places on industry firms is considerable in an already sluggish economy, and is not limited to that which is exerted on companies' bottom lines due to the higher cost of obtaining necessary insurance coverage. It also comes from the higher cost of obtaining services critical to the smooth operation of distribution channels; transportation for example, where insurance costs are similarly skyrocketing. The pressure is also felt in the financial markets for companies no longer able to obtain adequate commercial financing.

Absent a solution implemented in a timely fashion, the threat to our economy is clear. The importance to property-casualty insurance policy holders of the enactment of terrorism insurance legislation, enabling the Federal government to temporarily fill the void, cannot be overstated. To be effective, NAW members believe that the legislation must also provide reasonable legal procedures to protect taxpayers and all potential defendants in lawsuits that arise out of future terrorist attacks.

Again, timely action is essential. NAW respectfully urges that both Chambers of Congress act as quickly as possible, and present to the President for his signature terrorism insurance legislation with balanced, evenly-applied legal procedures. Thank you for your consideration of NAW's views.

Sincerely,

Dirk Van Dongen
President

RE: Insurance Coverage for Terrorism

Dear Representative xxx:

The International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC) urges you to quickly pass legislation that would provide a mechanism for property owners, including those who own malls and shopping centers, to obtain affordable and comprehensive insurance against future terrorist activities.

ICSC is the global trade association of the shopping center industry. Its 40,000 members in the United States, Canada and more than 75 other countries around the world include shopping center owners, developers, managers, investors, lenders, retailers and other professionals.

As a result of the events of September 11, the reinsurance industry has decided, on a prospective basis, to exclude acts of terrorism from coverage. Most primary insurers, therefore, will not provide terrorism insurance to their policyholders since they are unable to reduce their risk through reinsurance.

This, in turn, will cause shopping center owners to bear the full risk of damages resulting from any future terrorist activities. In addition, the lack of terrorism insurance will cause banks and other lenders to cease financing new construction projects or refinancing existing centers since their collateral would be exposed to terrorist acts.

It is imperative that Congress takes immediate action to avoid further disruption to our economy. As you consider the various pending legislation, we urge you to address the following concerns of the shopping center industry:

- Any federally assisted insurance program must be of sufficient duration to provide stability to the real estate and financial markets.
- All business and commercial properties must be covered for terrorism to guard against "cherry-picking" low-risk properties and excluding high-risk, high-visibility locations.

- The definition of "terrorism" in policies must be broad enough to include all acts of "terror", even if they are classified for political purposes as "acts of war".
- Appropriate legal safeguards should be included to protect all of the victims of a terrorist attack.

We look forward to working with you in the next couple of weeks to enact terrorism insurance legislation. If you have any questions, please contact Wayne Mehlman, ICSC's Director of Economic Issues and Government Relations, at (703) 549-7404.

Sincerely,

John M. Ingram

NAMIC

November 28, 2001

Dear Member of Congress:

Later this week, the House of Representatives will consider, H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act. On behalf of the more than 1,300 member companies of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies (NAMIC), I encourage you to vote for its passage.

The Terrorism Risk Protection Act would establish a program within the Department of the Treasury that would provide a financial backstop for property and casualty insurance companies in the event of another catastrophic terrorist attack on our country. The events of September 11 have resulted in the largest loss for our industry in its history. While the total amount of those losses will not be known for sometime, estimates from reliable sources suggest the losses could be as high as $70 billion. The industry will pay all substantiated claims from those events.

The terrorism risk, however, is not a coverage for which companies can plan and measure their exposure. International reinsurers (those companies who insure insurers) are in the process of excluding coverage for terrorism losses from reinsurance contracts for the coming year. This means that primary companies will have to exclude the coverage from their policies or risk exposing their companies to insolvency should another event occur.

H.R. 3210 would provide for federal financial assistance to the industry and individual companies if losses exceed significant amounts. Any assistance the industry and individual companies receive from the federal government would be repaid to the U.S. Treasury.

Without the enactment of legislation before year-end, nearly all property and casualty insurance companies will seek to exclude terrorism coverage from their policies. This applies to personal lines carriers as well as commercial lines carriers.

Please vote "for" H.R. 3210.

Sincerely,

Pamela J. Allen
Vice President – Federal Affairs

IDENTICAL LETTER SENT TO
ALL MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

Dear :

I write on behalf of the National Association of Wholesaler-Distributors (NAW) and our 45,000 affiliated companies, to express support for terrorism insurance legislation now being developed in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. Time is of the essence in this matter; it is vital to the operation of the wholesale distribution industry and the health of our economy that such legislation be enacted this year.

As you may know, the downturn in the economy which has been reflected in the financial markets contributed mightily to a "hardening" of the property-casualty insurance marketplace which began to be felt in the wholesale distribution and other insured industries well before the tragic events of September 11th. In the aftermath of those atrocities, the reinsurance industry has made clear that it will no longer provide coverage for losses due to "acts of terrorism" in contracts that renew on the first of the year. As a consequence, NAW member companies are learning that their insurers plan to similarly exclude coverage for losses due to terrorist acts. Where such an exclusion is not permitted, it has been suggested to NAW members that they should expect additional premium increases, lower policy limits and higher deductibles.

The financial pressure this places on industry firms is considerable in an already sluggish economy, and is not limited to that which is exerted on companies' bottom lines due to the higher cost of obtaining necessary insurance coverage. It also comes from the higher cost of obtaining services critical to the smooth operation of distribution channels; transportation for example, where insurance costs are similarly skyrocketing. The pressure is also felt in the financial markets for companies no longer able to obtain adequate commercial financing.

Absent a solution implemented in a timely fashion, the threat to our economy is clear. The importance to property-casualty insurance policy holders of the enactment of terrorism insurance legislation, enabling the Federal government to temporarily fill the void, cannot be overstated. To be effective, NAW members believe that the legislation must also provide reasonable legal procedures to protect taxpayers and all potential defendants in lawsuits that arise out of future terrorist attacks.

Again, timely action is essential. NAW respectfully urges that both Chambers of Congress act as quickly as possible, and present to the President for his signature terrorism insurance legislation with balanced, evenly-applied legal procedures. Thank you for your consideration of NAW's views.

Sincerely,

Dirk Van Dongen
President

November 28, 2001 – ONLY TO BE SENT AFTER THE RULE ON H.R. 3210 HAS BEEN MADE AVAILABLE AND REVIEWED

TO MEMBERS OF THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

On behalf of the undersigned business associations, representing businesses of every size, sector, and region, we are writing to urge you to vote in favor of H.R. 3210, and to vote against any weakening amendments to that bill. This critically needed legislation is not an insurance industry "bail-out" but stands as an appropriate federal financial backstop to help ensure that insurance coverage is available to cover future financial losses associated with terrorist attacks. Without such legislation, businesses throughout the nation will find it increasingly difficult, if not impossible, to obtain cost-effective terrorism insurance. It is vital that such legislation be enacted into law before the end of this Congressional session.

As our nation continues with its September 11th-related recovery and war efforts, it is critical that American businesses be certain that the economic consequences of any future terrorist attacks will not cripple them beyond the point of recovery. Because of the unprecedented scope and nature of the losses sustained in September, terrorism has now become virtually uninsurable in the private marketplace. If terrorism insurance becomes unavailable, our entire economy stands to experience deep, widespread and negative ripple effects.

In addition, we support reasonable limits on the liability of non-terrorists for damages caused by an act of terrorism, so long as all businesses are treated equally. Our economy could experience even more damage if future terrorist attacks result in a litigation bonanza. Those who are truly injured or damaged by an act of terrorism should receive fair and fast compensation—but not a windfall, especially at a cost to the U.S. Treasury.

It is critical that Congress quickly pass a terrorism insurance plan that will facilitate the availability of appropriate insurance mechanisms to cover terrorism-related events. If such a backstop is not created soon, our nation's economic recovery will be severely jeopardized. Because of the importance of making sure that insurance coverage for future acts of terrorism is available, we urge you to support H.R. 3210 and oppose any weakening amendments.

Respectfully,

Business Community Meeting on Terrorism Insurance

INVESTMENT
TRUSTS®

November 28, 2001

The Honorable Dennis Hastert
2369 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Later this week, the House of Representatives is expected to consider H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act. Passage of H.R. 3210 is necessary to ensure the availability of terrorism insurance coverage. The National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts (NAREIT), representing REITs and publicly traded real estate companies, urges you to support this essential legislation.

It is estimated that over 70 percent of businesses and owners of commercial and residential properties renew their insurance coverage on January 1 each year. Many of these owners have been advised that their policies will not be renewed or that their new policies will exclude risks associated with terrorist acts. Unless Congress acts now to ensure the availability of affordable terrorism coverage in the marketplace, the real estate industry's ability to finance, construct, sell or buy properties across the country will be at risk and significant economic dislocation will likely occur.

H.R.3210 addresses the availability and affordability of terrorism insurance coverage while protecting taxpayers, policyholders and insurers. Moreover, the legislation contains reasonable liability reform provisions designed to benefit the victims of a terrorist attack so that all affected parties will receive appropriate damages.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Later this week, the House of Representatives is expected to consider H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act. Passage of H.R. 3210 is necessary to ensure the availability of terrorism insurance coverage. The National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts (NAREIT), representing REITs and publicly traded real estate companies, urges you to support this essential legislation.

It is estimated that over 70 percent of businesses and owners of commercial and residential properties renew their insurance coverage on January 1 each year. Many of these owners have been advised that their policies will not be renewed or that their new policies will exclude risks associated with terrorist acts. Unless Congress acts now to ensure the availability of affordable terrorism coverage in the marketplace, the real estate industry's ability to finance, construct, sell or buy properties across the country will be at risk and significant economic dislocation will likely occur.

H.R.3210 addresses the availability and affordability of terrorism insurance coverage while protecting taxpayers, policyholders and insurers. Moreover, the legislation contains reasonable liability reform provisions designed to benefit the victims of a terrorist attack so that all affected parties will receive appropriate damages.

Thank you in advance for your support of H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act.

November 28, 2001 – ONLY TO BE SENT AFTER THE RULE ON H.R. 3210 HAS BEEN MADE AVAILABLE AND REVIEWED

TO MEMBERS OF THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

On behalf of the undersigned business associations, representing businesses of every size, sector, and region, we are writing to urge you to vote in favor of H.R. 3210, and to vote against any weakening amendments to that bill. This critically needed legislation is not an insurance industry "bail-out" but stands as an appropriate federal financial backstop to help ensure that insurance coverage is available to cover future financial losses associated with terrorist attacks. Without such legislation, businesses throughout the nation will find it increasingly difficult, if not impossible, to obtain cost-effective terrorism insurance. It is vital that such legislation be enacted into law before the end of this Congressional session.

As our nation continues with its September 11th-related recovery and war efforts, it is critical that American businesses be certain that the economic consequences of any future terrorist attacks will not cripple them beyond the point of recovery. Because of the unprecedented scope and nature of the losses sustained in September, terrorism has now become virtually uninsurable in the private marketplace. If terrorism insurance becomes unavailable, our entire economy stands to experience deep, widespread and negative ripple effects.

In addition, we support reasonable limits on the liability of non-terrorists for damages caused by an act of terrorism, so long as all businesses are treated equally. Our economy could experience even more damage if future terrorist attacks result in a litigation bonanza. Those who are truly injured or damaged by an act of terrorism should receive fair and fast compensation—but not a windfall, especially at a cost to the U.S. Treasury.

It is critical that Congress quickly pass a terrorism insurance plan that will facilitate the availability of appropriate insurance mechanisms to cover terrorism-related events. If such a backstop is not created soon, our nation's economic recovery will be severely jeopardized. Because of the importance of making sure that insurance coverage for future acts of terrorism is available, we urge you to support H.R. 3210 and oppose any weakening amendments.

Respectfully,

Business Community Meeting on Terrorism Insurance

This NAM Key Vote Card was faxed to all members of the House of Representatives this afternoon.

November 28, 2001
Dear Representative:

On behalf of the 14,000 member companies of the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), including more than 10,000 small and mid-sized manufacturers, I urge you to vote for the Terrorism Risk Protection Act (H.R. 3210).
The NAM supports H.R. 3210 that would provide federal loans to cover 90 percent of terrorism-loss claims totaling more than $1 billion. If aggregate claims exceed $20 billion, it would impose a special assessment on insurance policyholders to help defray costs. Beginning several weeks ago, insurance companies are contractually bound to notify calendar-year policyholders of any change in coverage. Because of the lack of reinsurance
and the inability to assess potential losses, insurance carriers are no longer able to provide coverage for risk of loss from terrorist acts, meaning that claims arising from property, casualty or worker's comp losses that may result from a terrorist act will not be covered. It is also important that balanced liability protection for insurers and the insured be provided to avoid having taxpayers shoulder unnecessary expense. The NAM believes that the inability of U.S. businesses to obtain insurance coverage for losses from acts of terrorism poses a serious threat to the economy. Votes for H.R. 3210 will be considered for designation as a Key Manufacturing Vote in the NAM voting record for the 107th Congress.

Sincerely,

Jerry Jasinowski

President

* Votes considered for designation as NAM Key Manufacturing Votes are approved in advance by our members who serve on the Key Vote Advisory Committee. Eligibility for the NAM's Award for Manufacturing Legislative Excellence for the 107th Congress will be based on a member's record on Key Manufacturing Votes.

The Real Estate Roundtable

RE: H.R. 3210, Terrorism Risk Protection Act

To Members of the U.S. House of Representatives:

We are writing to urge you to vote in favor of H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act, which is expected to come to the House floor for a vote this week.

The events of September 11th dislocated reinsurance markets and eliminated the availability of primary terrorist insurance coverage at virtually any price. As a result, the real estate and construction industries, which account for over a quarter of the nation's gross domestic product, could face severe economic dislocation in the coming months if the Federal government does not immediately address insurance-related issues tied to terrorism.

Without Federal action, the ability to finance, construct, buy or sell commercial properties across the nation will be at risk – affecting not only real estate owners and lenders but the tenants who lease facilities, their employees and customers, as well as anyone who rents an apartment. While many commercial property owners are already affected, a significant percentage of properties, including shopping centers, offices and hotels are scheduled to renew their insurance coverage on January 1st. Many of these owners have already been advised that their policies will not be renewed or that their new policies will exclude exposures currently insured including terrorism.

As the current policies expire, there is tremendous uncertainty about the status of real estate debt, with some $700 billion in commercial bank debt, $350 billion of commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS) loans, and $220 billion of loans held by life insurance companies that run the risk of being in non-monetary default without the availability of terrorism coverage. This lack of coverage raises profound liquidity concerns not only on existing loans and the institutions that hold them but on the ability of borrowers to secure any type of financing going forward.

Any characterization of this legislation as a ''bail out'' for the insurance industry is inaccurate. The Federal government needs to help ensure that commercial property owners and other businesses can continue to obtain insurance coverage for losses related to terrorism in the future. It is important to act as soon as possible because there are policies expiring every day, and new transactions pending which are being impacted by the lack of resolution of this issue.

As the organization that represents the nation's principal public and privately held commercial property owners, we would like to thank the House for its leadership in attempting to provide a mechanism to ensure that our nation's properties are able to maintain terrorism insurance coverage. Again, we urge you to vote "yes" for H.R. 3210 and look forward to working with the Congress in the days ahead to reach a solution to this very significant issue prior to its adjournment this year.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey D. DeBoer
President & Chief Operating Officer

Dear New Democrat Coalition Colleague:

Today the House is scheduled to consider H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act. While the process has been deeply flawed, it is essential for our nation's economic security that Congress enact legislation to provide a federal government backstop for insured property and casualty losses caused by acts of terrorism.

Damages resulting from the events of September 11 have already topped $50 billion. The insurance industry is paying all claims from these events, but does not have the capacity to pay new claims should additional catastrophic acts of terrorism occur. The legislation would allow insurers to recharge their capacity to pay claims and ensure that the insurance industry can continue to write policies that provide coverage for terrorism risk.

Adequate insurance coverage is an essential component of a growing economy. The reinsurance industry is unable to provide coverage against further terrorist attacks so it is essential that the federal government provide a temporary backstop. At a time of economic weakness, we simply cannot afford to risk another disruption to the economy.

While we acknowledge that the process has been far from ideal, we urge you to support final passage of H.R. 3210, move the process forward, and provide an opportunity for the Conference Committee to develop a consensus package that will address this serious need.

Dear New Democrat Coalition Colleague:

Today the House is scheduled to consider H.R. 3210, the Terrorism Risk Protection Act. While the process has been deeply flawed, it is essential for our nation's economic security that Congress enact legislation to provide a federal government backstop for insured property and casualty losses caused by acts of terrorism.

Damages resulting from the events of September 11 have already topped $50 billion. The insurance industry is paying all claims from these events, but does not have the capacity to pay new claims should additional catastrophic acts of terrorism occur. The legislation would allow insurers to recharge their capacity to pay claims and ensure that the insurance industry can continue to write policies that provide coverage for terrorism risk.

Adequate insurance coverage is an essential component of a growing economy. The reinsurance industry is unable to provide coverage against further terrorist attacks so it is essential that the federal government provide a temporary backstop. At a time of economic weakness, we simply cannot afford to risk another disruption to the economy.

While we acknowledge that the process has been far from ideal, we urge you to support final passage of H.R. 3210, move the process forward, and provide an opportunity for the Conference Committee to develop a consensus package that will address this serious need.

Sincerely,

Subject: Happy Hour for Toner

Please join us this Friday at District Chophouse for a happy hour celebrating the nomination of Michael Toner to be a member of the Federal Election Commission. (Chophouse is at 509 Seventh Street) We are trying to make this is a SURPRISE, so try not to let him in on the plans. We'll be getting to the bar between 7 and 7:30 and are planning on having him arrive between 7:30 and 8. I know he would appreciate having his friends stop by to congratulate him on this well-deserved honor.

As always, please forward this to anyone that was inadvertently left off. Hope to see everyone there.

The Reagan reps have now reviewed the full 68,000 pages (over the last year) and do NOT intend to claim executive privilege as to any documents. A set of these documents is being copied at NARA now for our review, but we do not yet have the set. We will have our decision by January. Recall that the EO states we will concur in the former President's privilege decisions (either way) absent "compelling circumstances."
Note that the information in this e-mail is confidential, but likely will leak from NARA.

WHERE THIS INTERVIEW FITS IN

The Baker Institute's Washington Forum on the Role of the White House Chief of Staff produced the first-ever assessment of the lessons former Chiefs have learned running the White House. These lessons cover all aspects of the Chief's relationship with the President, Cabinet, and White House Staff, the White House operations, personnel, process, politics, and policy. I have attached a copy of the table of contents.

Your comments on planning and operations would form the basis of a summary essay on organizing the Bush White House transition as an example of how closely it matched up with these lessons.

Given the wide circulation this book will enjoy and its likely use by others in future administrations, your participation would become an important addition. And it would be the first historical record of this extraordinary White House operation.

INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

The interview will cover three central topics: the transition planning process, the mix of White House personnel, and the nature of Bush White House operations. The questions emphasize process.

Transition Planning

1. After the convention, you took a leave of absence from GM and disappeared taking an office across the hall from Chris Hicks. Clay Johnson says that the Governor did not ask you officially to consider being Chief until late in October.
    - What were you doing from the time you took your leave until the end of October?
    - When did Governor Bush first mention the Chief's job?
    - When did he ask you to consider taking the position?
2. What kind of commitments did you understand the Governor had made to you about the transition?
3. What kinds of commitments from Governor Bush did you think you needed to properly serve him as Chief of Staff?
4. What advice about being a Chief of Staff did you get from the other Chiefs that surprised you?

5. What advice did you give the President-elect about the White House decision process that he seemed surprised to know about?
6. What element(s) of Governor Sununu's system as Chief of Staff did you want to include as part of your own system?
7. What element(s) of Governor Sununu's system as Chief of Staff did you want to avoid?
8. Some would say that George H. W. Bush was a "clean desk" person. Knowing that about him, his staff managed the paper flow into the Oval Office making sure that they didn't let something in until its author had "honed" it so as not to waste the President's time.
    - What kinds of things did you learn about George W. Bush and his decision style that helped you structure what goes into the Oval Office?
    - To whom did you go to get that information about his style?
    - Some have said Governor Sununu would go running down the hall in the morning because President Bush would have read something in the morning papers that set him off. Is there something that has sent you running down the hall?
9. A prominent part of every new administration's first few days is the signing of executive orders and issuing of regulations.
    - Did you participate in planning the roll-out of the first day's executive orders?
    - In his interview for this book, Mr. Podesta told me that President Clinton had wanted very much to generate a range of executive actions near the end of his term, executive orders and regulations, designed to shape policy into the new administration, primarily to get around the congressional majority. In planning for the first few months, did you have the sense that these regulatory decisions were out there waiting for you or that there was a range of executive orders you would have to reverse publicly when you first arrived?
10. What do you think are the five or six most important decisions the President has to make during a transition?
11. What do you think are the five or six most important decisions that a Chief of Staff has to make during the transition?
12. Some would say that you have to have a team in place that has started working on the budget message and identifying the top policy positions you want to fill first day. Did you have time to do that and if so who led those teams?

Personnel in Transitions

13. Many transitions (e.g., Reagan, Bush '41) divide the transition in half separating the White House out from the rest of the government. Governor Sununu taking the White House staffing and operation, for example, and Chase Untermeyer taking the rest of the Executive Branch. Some (e.g., Clinton) mix the two: Mack McLarty taking a central responsibility for the Cabinet before he turned to the White House staff.
    - Which model did you use or did you have something else in mind?
    - Was there a sense of competition for people with the Clay Johnson operation like there had been in the earlier Bush administration over White House vs. Assistant Secretary type appointments?

14. Some would say that what you want in a White House staff are people who work well with other people. Good people skills rather than hermits, "open-door people." Others would say, you want people in a White House who know their way around Washington or who know their way around the President-elect. What did you think were the characteristics you were after in this White House?
15. Many White Houses seem to look for a balance between Washington operatives and campaigners. Looking at this Bush White House, you see a lot of people who have been around the candidate a very long time and not many with nothing more than Washington experience. Mr Calio and your team of Deputies represent the exceptions.
    - What kinds of advantages did this concentration on the candidate give you in organizing the White House decision process?
    - Do you worry that a lack of Washington context might spell trouble for you during White House deliberations on issues?
    - How did you come to select the Deputies you have? As Sununu's Deputy you had known President Bush very well. Did you use your own example as a good model?
    - Why does Clay Johnson carry this extraordinary rank of "Deputy to the Chief of Staff" and not Deputy Chief of Staff?
    - What critical elements did you think you had to have authority over in order to transform the Bush campaign team into a governing team?
16. When you bring in a White House team, some would say there are two things that you have to do — not give them the highest titles that they can get and not spend all of your salary money — in order to have some flexibility to "grow" in the job.
    - With all of these Counselors to the President and Senior staff, have you left enough room for title creep and salary creep or have to reached your salary caps early?
    - In the past, the responsibility for drawing the line on these "caps" has fallen on the Deputy Chief of Staff for Process. Who did that job this time around?
17. On November 29, 2000, Vice-President elect Cheney announced a transition team including Ari Fliesher as Press Spokesman, Michael Toner from Fred Fielding's law firm as counsel, and David Gribbon III as congressional relations. Mr. Fliesher had not worked for Cheney nor had Toner but Mr. Gribbon had.
    - Why did one stay on and the others get replaced?

White House Operations

18. Some would say the Chief of Staff has an audience of two — the President and the First Lady. What is the difference for the Chief of Staff between working with Barbara Bush and Laura Bush?
19. Some would say that the character of the administration is a reflection of the President but the character of the White House is a reflection of the Chief of Staff. How would you characterize your White House staff?
20. Most Chiefs of Staff agree that the Chief or his representative has to attend every senior staff meeting with the President, in particular with the National Security Advisor. What are your rules about Oval Office meetings?

REV_00206972

21. Do you have a system in place for a Cabinet officer to get direct access to the President and by-passing the White House staff? Say on a 24-hour notice basis through a post office box?
22. The former Chiefs of Staff universally complained about the tendency of presidents to become enmeshed in what they call "Oh, by the way…" decisions. What precautions have you instituted to avoid these kinds of backdoor arrangements?
23. Can you recall when during the transition you started holding regular, senior "White House" staff meetings?
24. Meeting Schedules vary from one White House to the next.
    - What is your standard daily schedule?
    - Like a James Baker, do you have a "mini-staff" meeting before the morning Senior Staff meeting?
    - When do your meetings start and who is included?
    - Some observe that the staff meetings shrink in size over time. Have they changed over the year?
    - On the scale between Mr. Sununu's "vigorous policy debate society" to Mr. Regan's "information exchange" where would you put your Senior Staff meeting?
    - Did you make a decision to not work on Sundays and/or to make people go home at a decent hour so that you would have some slack in the system for handling crises?
25. Mr. Bowles and Congressman Panetta said that a major function of the Chief of Staff was to "orchestrate" presidential decisions — decide when a decision was ripe for presentation and manage the president's decision so that he got the maximum use of his time.
    - Do you agree that that is a good characterization of some part of your job?
    - What are the elements that you look for in orchestrating President Bush's decision meetings?
26. You were a legislator in a "major" State like Texas. What kinds of experiences do you think have surprised the Texas people (like Clay Johnson or Karen Hughes)? What do you hear in the early morning senior staff meeting that gets the Bush people saying "You've got to be kidding!"?
27. Early on in the administration, one puzzling thing was you saw Mr. Rove up negotiating on Capitol Hill. Some would conclude that this kind of activity was bound to confuse the congressional leadership about the status of the Chief of Staff as the President's "negotiator general." How did you build a balance of responsibilities into the White House between these senior staff and yourself?
28. Some Chiefs of Staff, especially those who previously have held elected office, don't like the part of the Chief's job where they have to say "No" to people. So, they delegate the saying-no job to their Deputy. Senator Baker's Deputies seemed to have had that role. Some say that job was left to you during Governor Sununu's tenure. Others, like Secretary Baker seem to prefer to take that bit in their own teeth.
    - How do you see the Chief's responsibilities in this area?
    - Which of the three of you (you and your Deputies) have primary responsibility for:
        - Long-term scheduling and planning?

REV_00206973

- Decision implementation?
- Staff budgets? Salary caps, title creep….
- "Have you really thought that through or are you saying that just because you think that's what the President wants to hear?"
- White House process "Cattle prod" in the process at the White House — a cabinet affairs meetings has to be held; what's happening?
- "Protecting the President" on paper flow: "Is this something the President has to know?" "That sentence is 32 words long. It will have him searching for the period on the Teleprompter?"
- Tells the President, "No, you can't take the dog on this trip."
- Tells the President, "Though he just had a meeting with you in the Oval office and never mentioned it, Secretary O'Neill really doesn't want you to take this action."

29. Many of those associated with the Chief of Staff responsibilities have lamented the need for a long-term planning function.

- Have you been able to put in place a time, say once a month, when the President and the senior staff stops and "looks back" and says, "Let's turn around and see what happened for the last month. We did all that or we came through all that…"?
- In such moments of reflection, do you think that some of your transition plans had avoided situations in which you didn't have treat the situation as a 'fire drill'?"

12/4/2001

Today's Schedule

11:00a EST	President Bush to make remarks in the Rose Garden about terrorist finances.
12:30p EST	State Department daily press briefing with spokesman Richard Boucher.
1:00p EST	Defense Department daily press briefing with Secretary Rumsfeld and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, Gen. Meyers.

In Case You Missed It

- "The U.N. has employed 2,424 Afghan women desperate for work after years of harsh Taliban rule to carry out an urgent food distribution campaign for more than one million people in Kabul. The women and 1,200 men will go door-to-door across the Afghan capital from Sunday in a week-long campaign distributing food coupons to be exchanged for emergency supplies at WFP food depots around the city." (AFP, 12/1/01)

Recent Key Quotes & Developments

- A total of 80,000 metric tons of food aid donated by the U.S. government is in the region around Afghanistan and in route to intended beneficiaries. This includes 15,000 metric tons of wheat purchased by USAID/OFDA in Kazakhstan, valued at $6 million, that is currently arriving in warehouses in Turkmenabad. USAID's Office of Food for Peace (USAID/FFP) has provided 65,000 metric tons of wheat, which is being unloaded at Bandar Abbas port in Rian for various World Food Program warehouses in the region.

- "'We [Human Rights Watch] have fairly strong testimony that the Taliban have resorted to human shielding in the last month. That is moving men and equipment to civilian areas, in clear violation of international law,' said [HRW's Sam] Zarifi. An entire village of around 300 Afghans was forced to flee from their homes close to Kandahar city when the Taliban towed their planes to the edge of their village, said Zarifi. They left just in time as U.S. jets promptly moved in to destroy the jets." (AFP, 12/3/01)

Message

- We are pressing the war against terror on every front -- from the mountains of Afghanistan to the bank accounts of terrorist organizations.

- Today we take another important step in the financial fight against terror. From the beginning of the war against terrorism, the President has said that our enemy is every terrorist organization of global reach and all who harbor and support them.

- We began with Al Qaeda. We identified some of its backers – and we moved against their finances. In November, we advanced further, and identified even more global terrorist organizations. And we are moving against their financing as well. The net is closing. And it will close tighter.

- Those who do business with terror will not do business with the United States – or anywhere the United States can reach.

- By shutting these financial networks down, we disrupt the murderers' work.

Facts of the Day

- USAID is providing a $3.5 million grant to International Medical Corps (IMC) for primary health care activities in Bamiyan, Wardak, and Parwan provinces in central Afghanistan. Activities will include emergency primary health care, maternal and child health care, obstetric care, supplementary feeding, and micro-nutrient supplementation.

- To date, the Department of Defense has airdropped 2,160,000 Humanitarian Daily Rations in Afghanistan.

WHERE THIS INTERVIEW FITS IN

The Baker Institute's Washington Forum on the Role of the White House Chief of Staff produced the first-ever assessment of the lessons former Chiefs have learned running the White House. These lessons cover all aspects of the Chief's relationship with the President, Cabinet, and White House Staff, the White House operations, personnel, process, politics, and policy. I have attached a copy of the table of contents.

Your comments on planning and operations would form the basis of a summary essay on organizing the Bush White House transition as an example of how closely it matched up with these lessons.

Given the wide circulation this book will enjoy and its likely use by others in future administrations, your participation would become an important addition. And it would be the first historical record of this extraordinary White House operation.

INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

The interview will cover three central topics: the transition planning process, the mix of White House personnel, and the nature of Bush White House operations. The questions emphasize process.

Transition Planning

1. After the convention, you took a leave of absence from GM and disappeared taking an office across the hall from Chris Hicks. Clay Johnson says that the Governor did not ask you officially to consider being Chief until late in October.
    - What were you doing from the time you took your leave until the end of October?
    - When did Governor Bush first mention the Chief's job?
    - When did he ask you to consider taking the position?
2. What kind of commitments did you understand the Governor had made to you about the transition?
3. What kinds of commitments from Governor Bush did you think you needed to properly serve him as Chief of Staff?
4. What advice about being a Chief of Staff did you get from the other Chiefs that surprised you?

REV_00206991

5. What advice did you give the President-elect about the White House decision process that he seemed surprised to know about?
6. What element(s) of Governor Sununu's system as Chief of Staff did you want to include as part of your own system?
7. What element(s) of Governor Sununu's system as Chief of Staff did you want to avoid?
8. Some would say that George H. W. Bush was a "clean desk" person. Knowing that about him, his staff managed the paper flow into the Oval Office making sure that they didn't let something in until its author had "honed" it so as not to waste the President's time.
    - What kinds of things did you learn about George W. Bush and his decision style that helped you structure what goes into the Oval Office?
    - To whom did you go to get that information about his style?
    - Some have said Governor Sununu would go running down the hall in the morning because President Bush would have read something in the morning papers that set him off. Is there something that has sent you running down the hall?
9. A prominent part of every new administration's first few days is the signing of executive orders and issuing of regulations.
    - Did you participate in planning the roll-out of the first day's executive orders?
    - In his interview for this book, Mr. Podesta told me that President Clinton had wanted very much to generate a range of executive actions near the end of his term, executive orders and regulations, designed to shape policy into the new administration, primarily to get around the congressional majority. In planning for the first few months, did you have the sense that these regulatory decisions were out there waiting for you or that there was a range of executive orders you would have to reverse publicly when you first arrived?
10. What do you think are the five or six most important decisions the President has to make during a transition?
11. What do you think are the five or six most important decisions that a Chief of Staff has to make during the transition?
12. Some would say that you have to have a team in place that has started working on the budget message and identifying the top policy positions you want to fill first day. Did you have time to do that and if so who led those teams?

Personnel in Transitions

13. Many transitions (e.g., Reagan, Bush '41) divide the transition in half separating the White House out from the rest of the government. Governor Sununu taking the White House staffing and operation, for example, and Chase Untermeyer taking the rest of the Executive Branch. Some (e.g., Clinton) mix the two: Mack McLarty taking a central responsibility for the Cabinet before he turned to the White House staff.
    - Which model did you use or did you have something else in mind?
    - Was there a sense of competition for people with the Clay Johnson operation like there had been in the earlier Bush administration over White House vs. Assistant Secretary type appointments?

14. Some would say that what you want in a White House staff are people who work well with other people. Good people skills rather than hermits, "open-door people." Others would say, you want people in a White House who know their way around Washington or who know their way around the President-elect. What did you think were the characteristics you were after in this White House?
15. Many White Houses seem to look for a balance between Washington operatives and campaigners. Looking at this Bush White House, you see a lot of people who have been around the candidate a very long time and not many with nothing more than Washington experience. Mr Calio and your team of Deputies represent the exceptions.
    - What kinds of advantages did this concentration on the candidate give you in organizing the White House decision process?
    - Do you worry that a lack of Washington context might spell trouble for you during White House deliberations on issues?
    - How did you come to select the Deputies you have? As Sununu's Deputy you had known President Bush very well. Did you use your own example as a good model?
    - Why does Clay Johnson carry this extraordinary rank of "Deputy to the Chief of Staff" and not Deputy Chief of Staff?
    - What critical elements did you think you had to have authority over in order to transform the Bush campaign team into a governing team?
16. When you bring in a White House team, some would say there are two things that you have to do — not give them the highest titles that they can get and not spend all of your salary money — in order to have some flexibility to "grow" in the job.
    - With all of these Counselors to the President and Senior staff, have you left enough room for title creep and salary creep or have to reached your salary caps early?
    - In the past, the responsibility for drawing the line on these "caps" has fallen on the Deputy Chief of Staff for Process. Who did that job this time around?
17. On November 29, 2000, Vice-President elect Cheney announced a transition team including Ari Fliesher as Press Spokesman, Michael Toner from Fred Fielding's law firm as counsel, and David Gribbon III as congressional relations. Mr. Fliesher had not worked for Cheney nor had Toner but Mr. Gribbon had.
    - Why did one stay on and the others get replaced?

White House Operations

18. Some would say the Chief of Staff has an audience of two — the President and the First Lady. What is the difference for the Chief of Staff between working with Barbara Bush and Laura Bush?
19. Some would say that the character of the administration is a reflection of the President but the character of the White House is a reflection of the Chief of Staff. How would you characterize your White House staff?
20. Most Chiefs of Staff agree that the Chief or his representative has to attend every senior staff meeting with the President, in particular with the National Security Advisor. What are your rules about Oval Office meetings?

REV_00206993

21. Do you have a system in place for a Cabinet officer to get direct access to the President and by-passing the White House staff? Say on a 24-hour notice basis through a post office box?
22. The former Chiefs of Staff universally complained about the tendency of presidents to become enmeshed in what they call "Oh, by the way…" decisions. What precautions have you instituted to avoid these kinds of backdoor arrangements?
23. Can you recall when during the transition you started holding regular, senior "White House" staff meetings?
24. Meeting Schedules vary from one White House to the next.
    - What is your standard daily schedule?
    - Like a James Baker, do you have a "mini-staff" meeting before the morning Senior Staff meeting?
    - When do your meetings start and who is included?
    - Some observe that the staff meetings shrink in size over time. Have they changed over the year?
    - On the scale between Mr. Sununu's "vigorous policy debate society" to Mr. Regan's "information exchange" where would you put your Senior Staff meeting?
    - Did you make a decision to not work on Sundays and/or to make people go home at a decent hour so that you would have some slack in the system for handling crises?
25. Mr. Bowles and Congressman Panetta said that a major function of the Chief of Staff was to "orchestrate" presidential decisions — decide when a decision was ripe for presentation and manage the president's decision so that he got the maximum use of his time.
    - Do you agree that that is a good characterization of some part of your job?
    - What are the elements that you look for in orchestrating President Bush's decision meetings?
26. You were a legislator in a "major" State like Texas. What kinds of experiences do you think have surprised the Texas people (like Clay Johnson or Karen Hughes)? What do you hear in the early morning senior staff meeting that gets the Bush people saying "You've got to be kidding!"?
27. Early on in the administration, one puzzling thing was you saw Mr. Rove up negotiating on Capitol Hill. Some would conclude that this kind of activity was bound to confuse the congressional leadership about the status of the Chief of Staff as the President's "negotiator general." How did you build a balance of responsibilities into the White House between these senior staff and yourself?
28. Some Chiefs of Staff, especially those who previously have held elected office, don't like the part of the Chief's job where they have to say "No" to people. So, they delegate the saying-no job to their Deputy. Senator Baker's Deputies seemed to have had that role. Some say that job was left to you during Governor Sununu's tenure. Others, like Secretary Baker seem to prefer to take that bit in their own teeth.
    - How do you see the Chief's responsibilities in this area?
    - Which of the three of you (you and your Deputies) have primary responsibility for:
        - Long-term scheduling and planning?

REV_00206994

- Decision implementation?
- Staff budgets? Salary caps, title creep….
- "Have you really thought that through or are you saying that just because you think that's what the President wants to hear?"
- White House process "Cattle prod" in the process at the White House — a cabinet affairs meetings has to be held; what's happening?
- "Protecting the President" on paper flow: "Is this something the President has to know?" "That sentence is 32 words long. It will have him searching for the period on the Teleprompter?"
- Tells the President, "No, you can't take the dog on this trip."
- Tells the President, "Though he just had a meeting with you in the Oval office and never mentioned it, Secretary O'Neill really doesn't want you to take this action."

29. Many of those associated with the Chief of Staff responsibilities have lamented the need for a long-term planning function.

- Have you been able to put in place a time, say once a month, when the President and the senior staff stops and "looks back" and says, "Let's turn around and see what happened for the last month. We did all that or we came through all that…"?
